Ramírez de Arellano,José Gabriel Rigau Pérez,2008      Negotiated Memory Julie Rak,2004 The Doukhobors Russian speaking immigrants who arrived in Canada beginning in 1899 are known primarily to the Canadian public through the sensationalist images of them as nude protestors anarchists and religious fanatics representations largely propagated by government commissions and the Canadian media In Negotiating Memory Julie Rak examines the ways in which autobiographical strategies have been employed by the Doukhobors themselves in order to retell and reclaim their own history Drawing from oral interviews court documents government reports prison diaries and media accounts Rak demonstrates how the Doukhobors employed both classic and alternative forms of autobiography to communicate their views about communal living vegetarianism activism and spiritual life as well as to pass on traditions to successive generations More than a historical work this book brings together recent theories concerning subjectivity autobiography and identity and shows how Doukhobor autobiographical discourse forms a series of ongoing negotiations for identity and collective survival that are sometimes successful and sometimes not An innovative study Negotiating Memory will appeal to those interested in autobiography studies as well as to historians literary critics and students and scholars of Canadian cultural studies      Diary in Exile, 1935 Leon Trotsky,1958 This diary of the exiled Trotsky is a powerfully evocative fragment of history and human personality Written in France and Norway it gives the day to day reflections of a fallen leader of one who has wielded power and was now in an exceptional position to observe it in the hands of others Naturally there are penetrating comments here on local and international politics often timeless in their relevance but with them comes admission to the private world of the revolutionary intellectual Here Trotsky lived with anguish was beset by loneliness and sustained himself by pride and fanaticism      Freedom's Gardener Myra B. Young Armstead,2013-06-22 Unearths an unexpected bloom of liberty in an ex slave s journal      Encyclopedia of Gothic Literature Mary Ellen Snodgrass,2014-05-14 Presents an alphabetical reference guide detailing the lives and works of authors associated with Gothic literature      Freedom's Gardener Myra Beth Young Armstead,2012 A fascinating study of freedom and slavery told through the life of an escaped slave who built a life in the Hudson Valley In 1793 James F Brown was born a slave and in 1868 he died a free man At age 34 he ran away from his native Maryland to pass the remainder of his life as a gardener to a wealthy family in the Hudson Valley Two years after his escape and manumission he began a diary which he kept until his death In Freedom s Gardener Myra B Young Armstead uses the apparently small and domestic details of Brown s diaries to construct a bigger story about the transition from slavery to freedom In this first detailed historical study of Brown s diaries Armstead utilizes Brown s life to illuminate the concept of freedom as it developed in the United States in the early national and antebellum years That Brown an African American and former slave serves as such a case study underscores the potential of American citizenship during his lifetime
