The Evolution of Contemporary Arts Markets Andrés Solimano, 2021-09-30 The Evolution of Contemporary Arts Markets looks at the historical evolution of the art market from the 15th century to the present day Art is both an expression of human creativity and an object of economic value and financial refuge at times of economic turbulence Historically the art market evolved with the development of capitalism finance and technical change and art schools responded to social events such as wars revolutions and waves of democratization The author discusses the main features of modern art markets such as complexity in art valuation globalism segmentation financialization indivisibility liquidity and provenance issues The book studies the impact of wealth inequality and economic cycles and crises on the art market and features a chapter focusing specifically on the art market in China This accessible publication is ideal for a broad interdisciplinary audience including those involved in the economic and financial fields as well as art lovers art market participants and social and cultural scholars

Surviving the French Revolution Bette W. Oliver, 2013-06-10 The unleashing of the French Revolution in 1789 resulted in the acceleration of time coupled with an inability to predict what might happen next As unprecedented events outpaced the days those caught up in the whirlwind had little time to make judicious decisions about which course of action to follow The lack of reliable information and delays in communication between Paris and the provinces only exacerbated the situation Consequently some fled into exile in Europe and the United States while others remained to take advantage of new opportunities provided by the revolutionary government Between 1789 and 1794 the government moved from a position of hopeful cooperation to one of desperate measures instigated during the Terror of 1793-1794 As a result those French citizens who had fled early in the revolution including many aristocrats and the king's brothers as well as the artist Elisabeth Vigée LeBrun could not return until many years later while those who had remained such as Vigée LeBrun's husband the art dealer Jean Baptiste Pierre LeBrun as well as the artist Jacques Louis David the writers Stasien Chamfort and André Chénier and expelled Girondin deputies chose survival strategies that they hoped would be successful For all those concerned timing was key to survival and those who lived found that they had crossed a bridge between the Ancien Régime and the beginning of the modern world It would not be possible to grasp the full import of the period between 1789 and 1795 until time had decelerated to a more reasonable level after the fall of Robespierre in 1794 Yet few could have then imagined that almost one hundred years would pass before a stable French republic would be established

Researching Art Markets Elisabetta Lazzaro, Nathalie Moureau, Adriana Turpin, 2021-05-25 Researching Art Markets brings together a scholars from several various disciplinary perspectives In doing so this collection offers a unique multi disciplinary contribution that disentangles some of the key aspects and trends in art market practices from the past to nowadays namely art collectors the artist as an entrepreneur and career paths and the formation and development of new markets In understanding the global art market as an ecosystem the book also examines how research and perceptions have evolved over time Within the frameworks of contemporary social economic and political contexts issues such as business practices the roles of market participants and the importance of networks are analysed by scholars of different disciplines With insights from across the humanities and social sciences the book explores how different methods can coexist to create an interdisciplinary international community of knowledge and research on art markets Moreover by providing historical as well as contemporary examples this book explores the continuum and diversity of the art market Overall this book provides a valuable tool for understanding art markets within their wider context The volume is of interest to scholars researching into the cultural and creative industries from a wider perspective

Auction House Power Logan Rodriguez, AI, 2025-02-21 Auction House Power unveils the inner workings of major art auction houses institutions wielding significant influence over the art market Delving into the intricacies of multimillion dollar sales the book explores how these houses actively shape artistic reputations and market trends rather than simply acting as transactional platforms One intriguing aspect is the detailed examination of authentication and provenance research processes that can dramatically impact an artwork's valuation The book progresses from introducing key players and concepts to analyzing marketing strategies and the psychology of bidding By combining rigorous data analysis with insights from industry professionals Auction House Power provides a comprehensive understanding of art auctions This approach demystifies the often opaque world of art investment and art sales offering readers a unique glimpse behind the scenes and empowering them to navigate the art market more effectively

Money in the Air Gail Feigenbaum, Sandra van Ginhoven, Edward Sterrett, 2024-06-25 This volume explores the crucial role of art dealers in creating a transatlantic art market in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries There was money in the air ever so much money wrote Henry James in 1907 reflecting on the American appetite for art acquisitions Indeed collectors such as Henry Clay Frick and Andrew W Mellon are credited with bringing noteworthy European art to the United States with their collections forming the backbone of major American museums today But what of the dealers who possessed the expertise in art and recognized the potential of developing a new market model on both sides of the Atlantic Money in the Air investigates the often overlooked role of these dealers in creating an international art world Contributors examine the histories of well known international firms like Duveen Brothers M Knoedler Co and Goupil Cie and their relationships with American clients as well as accounts of other remarkable dealers active in the transatlantic art market Drawing on dealer archives scholars reveal compelling findings including previously unknown partnerships and systems of cooperation This volume offers new perspectives on the development of art collections that formed the core of American art museums such as the National Gallery of Art the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Frick Collection
