African American Literature in Transition 1980 1990 tracks Black expressive culture in the 1980s as novelists poets dramatists filmmakers and performers grappled with the contradictory legacies of the civil rights era and the start of culture wars and policy machinations that would come to characterize the 1990s The volume is necessarily interdisciplinary and critically promiscuous in its methodologies and objects of study as it reconsiders conventional temporal spatial and moral understandings of how African American letters emerged immediately after the movement James Baldwin describes as the latest slave rebellion As such the question of the state of America s democratic project as refracted through the literature of the shaping presence of African Americans is one of the guiding concerns of this volume preoccupied with a moment in American literary history still burdened by the legacies of the 1960s while imagining the contours of an African Americanist future in the new millennium

Afrocentric Traditions Jr. Conyers, 2017-07-12 Ever since the first contacts between Europe and Africa African people have operated from the fringes of Eurocentric experience in the Western mind. Much of what we have studied in African history and culture or literature and linguistics or politics and economics has been orchestrated from the standpoint of Europe's interests. Whether it is a matter of economics, history, politics, geographical concepts, or art, Africans have been seen as peripheral. This volume reviews the past in order to evaluate the present and move ahead with appropriate policies for the future. The articles in this volume, the first in a new serial publication in African studies, cover a broad range of subject matter and methodology. Topics range from the W. E. B. DuBois-Booker T. Washington schism that led to the formation of the Niagara movement to the popular dissemination of black hip hop culture. It opens with a description of Afrocentricity by Molefi K. Asante. Kobi K. Kambon and Reginald Rackley discuss the construct that produces European cultural misidentification among Africans. Nell Irvin Painter, in discussing the Shoah and Southern history, parallels the rhetoric of hate that permeated the late nineteenth and early twentieth century German diatribes against Jews with that of the Southern white supremacists against blacks. Anthony B. Pinn notes similarities that tie together slavery and colonialism in a bond of existential and ontological destruction. Anthony J. Lemelle Jr. examines critical issues about black masculinity. James B. Stewart elaborates on the development of African studies. Julius E. Thompson explores the historical importance of the African American writer in Mississippi history. Cary DeCordova Wintz, the basis of the conflict between W. E. B. DuBois and Booker T. Washington, in an effort to expose its underlying causes. James L. Conyers Jr. summarizes social and cultural movements, in particular the popular black hip hop culture. Rounding out the press.

Black Life in Mississippi Julius Eric Thompson, 2001. Black Life in Mississippi is a collection of essays which explore the underexposed life and culture of black Mississippians between the 1860s and the 1980s.

The first work of its kind, this encyclopedia approaches African American literature from a Women's Studies perspective.
