Repression in Marx, Weber and Freud Dewan S Arefin, 2016-06-16 Sigmund Freud is widely known for his extraordinary contribution to the world of psychology especially to the domain of psychoanalysis But he is less known as a social theorist His contribution in this area is quite extensive important and relevant for understanding of many social facts including the delicate process of social change His utterings are worthwhile reasonable and scientific to a great extent Freud is not valuable only for his theoretical activities but he is also inevitable for locating a better profile of human behavior society culture and civilization By exhibiting the fact that neither the unconscious was absolute eternal or unalterable nor the conscious he emphasized the idea that the reality and psyche were interdependent Social circumstances and psyche shaped and conditioned each other neither could grow in isolation Freud pointed out that there was a conflict within each individual and that was the fundamental feature of socialization into every society an unavoidable Repression characterizing human life Repression occupies a major area in Freudian literature so does the idea of social distance Social distance according to Freud is not only a biological entity but also is a functional entity Social distance as is adhered to by the Marxian dialectical materialists as being the creation of private property and its disproportionate ownership identified as a symbol of superiority

American Political Ideologies Brian R. Farmer, 2014-11-01 For many people the world of politics is defined by ideologies The average voter rarely takes time to research a policy issue thoroughly relying instead on a set of beliefs set forth by his or her chosen political organization to make important decisions These publicly promoted ideologies play an important role in international as well as domestic political development yet many adherents to a particular belief may have a poor understanding of competing ideologies From right wing to the far left this text dissects eight prominent political ideologies traditional conservatism classic liberalism libertarianism conservative extremism contemporary liberalism communism dependency theory and Islamism In plain terms it describes the basic doctrine and inherent contradictions of each creed along with its particular relevance to today's political landscape An in depth discussion of the political socialization processes that form and perpetuate ideologies is also included Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here

The Political Economy of Development Berch Berberoglu, 1992-01-01 This book focuses on the role of the state in economic development in a variety of Third World settings through an in depth analysis of the past several decades Berberoglu examines three major alternative development theories developmentalism dependency and neo Marxist He then critically analyzes these theories and their variants to set the stage for a detailed examination of various development paths Two paths of capitalist development are contrasted the export oriented neo colonial model and the import substituting state capitalist model The role of the state in each of these alternatives is discussed in the context of the balance of class forces Berberoglu also provides case studies of Turkey Tanzania Peru and India countries in which the state played a significant role in the development process In each case he demonstrates that the process of state capitalist development inevitably leads to neo colonialism This export oriented path ties Third World countries to centers of world capitalism with all the consequent contradictions that such a linkage entails The book outlines the class nature of these contradictions on a global scale and maps out the balance of class forces and struggles the role of the state and the resultant revolutionary developments that are part of the process of social change and transformation now under way in many Third World countries Also included is an appendix highlighting the need for a class centered approach in development studies
