Continentalizing Canadian Telecommunications Vanda Rideout, 2003-01-30 Rideout focuses on the protection of the public interest a crucial element neglected by most recent studies and shows that although alliances have been formed between labour consumers and public interest activists significant disagreements over issues such as free trade long distance and local competition and a targeted subsidy program for very low income Canadians have meant that this united front has not been able to counter the forces of the new neo liberal telecommunication policy regime Continentalizing Canadian Telecommunications details the complex relationships between the various corporate and government interests shows how the changes they brought about have locked Canada s telecommunications system into the orbit of the US system and discusses the implications this has for Canadians Canadian Education Wilfred B. Racisms in a Multicultural Canada Augie Fleras,2014-04-29 In acknowledging the possibility that as the world changes so too does racism this book argues that racism is not disappearing despite claims of living in a post racial and multicultural world To the contrary racisms persist by transforming into different forms whose intent or effects remain the same to deny and disallow as well as to exclude and exploit Racisms in a Multicultural Canada is organized around the assumption that race is not simply a set of categories and that racism is not just a collection of individuals with bad attitudes Rather racism is as much a matter of interests as of attitudes of property as of prejudice of structural advantage as of personal failing of whiteness as of the other of discourse as of discrimination and of unequal power relations as of bigotry This multi dimensionality of racism complicates the challenge of formulating anti racism and anti colonialist strategies capable of addressing it Employing a critical framework that puts politics and power at the centre of analysis this book focuses on why racisms proliferate how they work in contemporary societies and how the way we think and talk about racism changes over time Specifically it examines the working of contemporary racisms in a multicultural Canada that claims to abide by principles of multiculturalism and a commitment to a post racial society
