Space Architecture Neil Leach, 2015-01-12 Forty years on from the first moon landing architecture in Space is entering a new era Over the last decade there has been a fundamental shift in the Space industry from short term pioneering expeditions to long term planning for colonisation and new ventures such as Space tourism Architects are now involved in designing the interiors of long term habitable structures in Space such as the International Space Station researching advanced robotic fabrication technologies for building structures on the Moon and Mars envisioning new space yachts for the super rich and building new facilities such as the Virgin Galactic Spaceport America in New Mexico designed by Foster Partners Meanwhile the mystique of Space remains as alluring as ever as high profile designers and educators such as Greg Lynn are running designs studios drawing upon ever more inventive computational design techniques This issue of AD features the most significant current projects underway and highlights key areas of research in Space such as energy materials manufacture and robotics It also looks at how this research and investment in new technologies might transfer to terrestrial design and construction Space architects Constance Adams Marc Cohen Ondrej Doule Sandra Huplik Meusbürger Scott Howe Brent Sherwood Madhu Thangavelu Andreas Vogler Robert Zubrin Architects Bevk Perovic Arhitekti Dekleva Gregoric Arhitekti Foster Partners Neil Leach Greg Lynn OFIS architects SADAR VUGA

Travel, Space, Architecture Miodrag Mitrasinovic, 2016-02-17 Travel Space Architecture defines a new theoretical territory in architectural and urban scholarship that frames the processes of spatial production through the notion of travel By aligning architectural thinking with current critical theory debates this book explores whether dissociating culture from place and identity and detaching the idea of architecture from both can reframe our understanding of spatial and architectural practices The book presents seventeen key case studies from a diverse range of perspectives including historical theoretical and praxis based and range from interrogations of architectural travel and notions of belonging and nationhood to challenging established geopolitical hierarchies Gender Space Architecture Iain Borden, Barbara Penner, Jane Rendell, 2002-09-11 This significant reader brings together for the first time the most important essays concerning the intersecting subjects of gender space and architecture Carefully structured and with numerous introductory essays it guides the reader through theoretical and multi disciplinary texts to direct considerations of gender in relation to particular architectural sites projects and ideas This collection marks a seminal point in gender and architecture both summarizing core debates and pointing toward new directions and discussions for the future Domestic

Architecture and the Use of Space Susan Kent, 1993-06-25 Domestic Architecture and the Use of Space investigates the relationship between the built environment and the organisation of space The contributors are classical and prehistoric archaeologists anthropologists and architects who from their different backgrounds are able to provide some important and original insights into this relationship Disability, Space, Architecture: A Reader Jos Boys, 2017-02-17 Disability Space Architecture A Reader takes a groundbreaking approach to exploring the interconnections between disability architecture and cities The contributions come from architecture geography anthropology health studies English language and literature rhetoric and composition art history disability studies and disability arts and cover personal theoretical and innovative ideas and work Richer approaches to disability beyond regulation and design guidance remain fragmented and difficult to find for architectural and built environment students educators and professionals By bringing together in one place some seminal texts and projects as well as newly commissioned writings readers can engage with disability in unexpected and exciting ways that can vibrantly inform their understandings of architecture and urban design Most crucially Disability Space Architecture A Reader opens up not just disability but also ability dis ability as a means of refusing the normalisation of only particular kinds of bodies in the design of built space It reveals how our everyday social attitudes and practices about people objects and spaces can be better understood through the lens of disability and it suggests how thinking differently about dis ability can enable innovative and new kinds of critical and creative architectural and urban design education and practice

Space Architecture Education for Engineers and Architects Sandra Häuplik-Meusburger, Olga Bannova, 2016-03-30 This book considers two key educational tools for future generations of professionals with a space architecture background in the 21st century 1 introducing the discipline of space architecture into the space system engineering curricula and 2 developing space architecture as a distinct complete training curriculum Professionals educated this way will help shift focus from solely engineering driven transportation systems and sortie missions towards permanent off world human presence The architectural training teaches young professionals to operate at all scales from the overall picture down to the smallest details to provide directive intention not just analysis to design opportunities to address the relationship between human behavior and the built environment and to interact with many diverse fields and disciplines throughout the project lifecycle This book will benefit individuals and organizations responsible for planning transportation and habitat systems in space while also providing detailed information on work and design processes for architects and engineers Space

Architecture: The Mechanics of Intergalactic Homes Pasquale De Marco, 2025-04-13 In the annals of human endeavor the exploration of space stands as a testament to our insatiable curiosity and unyielding desire to push the boundaries of our knowledge and capabilities As we venture beyond the confines of our home planet the creation of habitable environments in the vast expanse of space emerges as a formidable challenge one that demands a profound understanding of engineering architecture and the intricate workings of the cosmos Space Architecture The Mechanics of Intergalactic Homes embarks on a comprehensive journey into the realm of space architecture delving into the complexities of designing and constructing human habitats in extraterrestrial environments With meticulous precision this guide unravels the intricate web of factors that influence the design of space habitats from the physiological and psychological needs of their inhabitants to the harsh realities of radiation microgravity and extreme temperatures Beyond the technical considerations this book explores the aesthetic and artistic dimensions of space architecture recognizing the profound impact that design can have on the well being and morale of those who call these habitats home It delves into the legal and ethical implications of space colonization contemplating issues of ownership governance and the preservation of our cosmic environment Furthermore the economic viability and sustainability of space habitats are subjected to rigorous analysis examining the costs associated with construction and maintenance the potential for private investment and the long term economic benefits of establishing a presence beyond Earth Drawing inspiration from terrestrial architecture this book investigates how the principles of sustainability resilience and adaptability can be applied to the unique context of space Finally Space Architecture The Mechanics of Intergalactic Homes casts its gaze towards the future envisioning interstellar habitats self sustaining space colonies and the architectural legacy that humanity will leave in its cosmic journey It contemplates the profound implications of our expansion into space pondering the potential for new technologies the transformation of human civilization and the ultimate goal of establishing a thriving and sustainable interplanetary society As we stand at the precipice of a new era in space exploration this book serves as an indispensable guide for architects engineers scientists and anyone fascinated by the challenges and possibilities of creating habitable environments beyond Earth With its comprehensive approach and engaging narrative Space Architecture The Mechanics of Intergalactic Homes illuminates the path towards our cosmic destiny inspiring us to dream big and reach for the stars If you like this book write a review on google books Space

Architecture Olga Bannova, 2021 For many the idea of Space Architecture as a discipline lies in the domain of science fiction where everything is possible simply because it happens very far in the future Is Space Architecture a fiction or reality This book explores if and how architectural principles and strategies need to be transformed when applied to the extreme conditions of outer space It presents concepts developed by great minds in the fields of space exploration and science fiction ones which can inspire new ways into the future The book also presents the philosophy of Space Architecture arguing for example that the design of space habitats needs to be human centred while defining ways for humans to co exist in new environments These views are complemented by examples of architectures from current and planned space missions organised by private companies as well as government agencies
