Spatial Practices Critical Exploration In Social Spatial Theory:

Spatial Practices Helen Liggett, David C. Perry, 1995-01-23 This is a collection of essays by leading scholars in political science geography urban studies and planning The contributors take a postmodern critical approach to representations of the city and space spatial practices and analysis Chapters address such issues as the history and strategy of planning walled cities and modern development theories of capitalist development and modes of production and urban planning Spatial Practices Helen Liggett, David C. Perry, 1995-01-23 Spatial Practices makes a timely and significant contribution to the growing literature on social spatial theory In it the notion of spacial practice takes on a rich and layered meaning for some of America s leading scholars as they critically link the theoretical practices of the space of their disciplines to the practical social space of everyday political and economic urban life Original essays provide compelling insights into the space of racial politics the unavoidability of recognizing a radical planning practice and the imagistic face of the contemporary figured city The reader will find rich conceptual tools presented in discussions that grapple with issues raised by the production of reduced public space in common interest developments and the ubiquitous mall the ideologies of economic restructuring the rhetorical politics of urban revitalization and the analytic potential of the photo text Students and scholars interested in how spatial theory has enriched and renewed urban theory will find Spatial Practices invaluable It will be useful in a wide range of classes across disciplines including urban studies urban planning architecture political science sociology geography economics and policy studies This collection explores the exciting analytical edge where investigations of urban political economy converge with cultural studies In their exploration of theory and practice as they relate to the production of space the authors cover a dazzling range of topics Yet despite their varying preoccupations the essays merge into a unified inquiry that reveals the functions and meanings of contemporary spatial forms All those who are interested in the forces shaping urban and regional development as well as in the impact of space on social relations must read this book The Routledge

Companion to Critical Approaches to Contemporary Architecture Swati Chattopadhyay, Jeremy White, 2019-08-01 The Routledge Companion to Critical Approaches to Contemporary Architecture convenes a wide array of critical voices from architecture art history urbanism geography anthropology media and performance studies computer science bio engineering environmental studies and sociology that help us understand the meaning and significance of global architecture of the twenty first century New chapters by 36 contributors illustrated with over 140 black and white images are assembled in six parts concerning both real and virtual spaces design materiality alterity technologies cityscapes and practice

Architecture and Space Re-imagined Richard Bower, 2016-06-10 As with so many facets of contemporary western life architecture and space are often experienced and understood as a commodity or product The premise of this book is to offer alternatives to the practices and values of such westernised space and Architecture with a capital A by exploring the participatory and grass roots practices used in alternative development models in the Global South This process re

contextualises the spaces values and relationships produced by such alternative methods of development and social agency It asks whether such spatial practices provide concrete realisations of some key concepts of Western spatial theory questioning whether we might challenge the space and architectures of capitalist development by learning from the places and practices of others Exploring these themes offers a critical examination of alternative development practices methods in the Global South re contextualising them as architectural engagements with socio political space The comparison of such interdisciplinary contexts and discourses reveals the political social and economic resonances inherent between these previously unconnected spatial protagonists The interdependence of spatial issues of choice value and identity are revealed through a comparative study of the discourses of Henri Lefebvre John Turner Doreen Massey and Nabeel Hamdi These key protagonists offer a critical framework of discourses from which further connections to socio spatial discourses and concepts are made including post marxist theory orientalism post structural pluralism development anthropology post colonial theory hybridity difference and subalterneity By looking to the spaces and practices of alternative development in the Global South this book offers a critical reflection upon the working practices of Westernised architecture and other spatial and political practices In exploring the methodologies implications and values of such participatory development practices this book ultimately seeks to articulate the positive potential and political of learning from the difference multiplicity and otherness of development practice in order to re imagine architecture and space

Emotions, Technology, and Design Sharon Tettegah, Safiya Noble, 2015-12-28 Emotional design explicitly addresses the emotional relationship between the objects and the subjects of design in this book the objects are technologies and the subjects are technology users The first section delves into the philosophy and theory of emotional design to provide a foundation for the rest of the book which goes on to discuss emotional design principles the design and use of emoticons and then intelligent agents in a variety of settings A conclusion chapter covers future research and directions Emotions Technology and Design provides a thorough look at how technology design affects emotions and how to use that understanding to in practical applications Discusses the role of culture trust and identity in empathetic technology Presents a framework for using sound to elicit positive emotional responses Details the emotional use of color in design Explores the use of emoticons earcons and tactons Addresses the emotional design specific to agent based environments

Whose Public Space? Ali Madanipour, 2010-01-21 Public spaces mirror the complexities of urban societies as historic social bonds have weakened and cities have become collections of individuals public open spaces have also changed from being embedded in the social fabric of the city to being a part of more impersonal and fragmented urban environments Can making public spaces help overcome this fragmentation where accessible spaces are created through inclusive processes This book offers some answers to this question through analysing the process of urban design and development in international case studies in which the changing character level of accessibility and the tensions of making public spaces are explored The book uses a coherent theoretical outlook to investigate a series of case studies crossing the cultural divides to examine the similarities and differences of public space in different urban contexts and its critical analysis of the process of development management and use of public space with all its tensions and conflicts While each case study investigates the specificities of a particular city the book outlines some general themes in global urban processes It shows how public spaces are a key theme in urban design and development everywhere how they are appreciated and used by the people of these cities but also being contested by and under pressure from different stakeholders

Diversity among Architects Craig Wilkins, 2016-03-10 Diversity among Architects presents a series of essays questioning the homogeneity of architecture practitioners who remain overwhelmingly male and Caucasian to help you create a field more representative of the population you serve The book is the collected work of author Craig L Wilkins an African American scholar and practitioner and discusses music education urban geography social justice community design centers race space identity shared landscape and many more topics

Planning Power Ambe Njoh, 2007-01-24 With a multidisciplinary perspective Planning Power examines British and French colonial town and country planning efforts in Africa Drawing out similarities in the colonial administrative and economic strategies of the two powers rather than emphasizing the differences the book offers an unusually nuanced view of African planning systems in a time of upheaval and political change In showing how the colonial authorities sought to gain political and social control in Africa it can be seen how their will to exert political power influenced every area of planning practice during this era This unique comparative analysis of British and French colonial town planning covering the entire sub Saharan African region takes theories from a wide range of disciplines including political science history urban and regional planning economics and geography to paint a comprehensive picture of the subject Written by a prolific researcher and writer in the political economy of urban and regional planning in Africa Planning Power is valuable reading for students and academics in a range of disciplines

Sounding Places Karolina Doughty, Michelle Duffy, Theresa Harada, 2019 This edited collection examines the more than representational registers of sound It asks how sound comes to be a meaningful ingredient in the microgeographies of place making through the workings of affect emotion and atmosphere how sound contributes to shaping a variety of embodied and spatially situated experiences and how such aspects can be harnessed methodologically These topics contribute to broader debates on the relations between representation and the non or more than representational that are taking place across the social sciences and humanities in the wake of the cultural turn More specifically the book contributes to the fertile theoretical intersections of sound affect emotion and atmosphere

Inside Culture Nick Couldry, 2000-05-03 Inside Culture offers a fresh and stimulating reassessment of the direction of cultural studies Nick Couldry argues without apology for cultural studies as a discipline centred around the interrelations of culture and power with a clear focus on accountable empirical research that deals with the real complexities of contemporary lives inside culture Chapters discuss the broad conceptual issues around cultures texts the self and the individual There are detailed discussions of a range of cultural studies authors which demystify the elaborate language of contemporary cultural studies with suggestions for further thinking at the end of chapters
