

A CALL FOR UNITY OF PURPOSE

In this time of global transition, when ethics and values, self-awareness and self-esteem are being recognized as the essence of conscious living, then we, as educators, must reappraise our responsibility in guiding the hearts and minds of our nation's youth. Our mission is not to bring music, drama, literature, or academic subjects to the children. Rather, our mission is to bring purpose to education, to life itself.

Art is the clearest, purest mirror of the nature of Humanity. Art can be the prism which translates the clear, direct light of science and the humanities into the rainbow of education.

Since the dawn of recorded time, the arts have been used to instruct, to teach or lead, to educate, to draw out the creative understanding of every individual, of every group. We must now recognize that Art is not a diversion from Reality. Art is an expression of Reality.

Artists have long been acknowledged as psychological interpreters of the times, demonstrating through their expressions the barometer of Society's moods or dependencies and frustrations, or joys and victories. Let us then, as educators, join with artists to develop creative educational systems which will find and bring out, nurture and inspire the innate creativity of every child so they may creatively respond to the world as they find it.

Let us approach our life on Earth as a level of experiential learning, a theatre of educational events; where we learn to use our intellect, guided by our heart, in alliance with will and wisdom. Let us plant seeds of giving, of sharing, of helping within the depths of our being. And let us then strive to grow into fulfillment of our highest aspirations. Let us rise above our apparent limitations and inspire the young souls who trust us to lead them.

One grows by helping others. One helps others by growing.
