Teaching House Brighter Vision,Elizabeth McKinnon,1999-09 Through fun simple activities parents can educate their children with things at home Resources in Education ,2001-10 A Practical Guide to Early Childhood Curriculum Claudia Fuhriman Eliason,Loa Thomson Jenkins,1981 Family Involvement in Education ,1998 ENC Focus ,1994 The Consumer Information Catalog , Special Education Index to Parent Materials National Information Center for Educational Media,1980 Parents as Partners in Education Eugenia Hepworth Berger,1987 Research in Education ,1974 Developing Programs for Infants and Toddlers Monroe D. Cohen,1977 Abstract Practical applications of knowledge on infant development and good parenting are examined in a collection of 8 papers first presented at the 1975 Texas Conference on Infancy Both parents and professionals are offered guidelines for developing child care programs Group programs are intended to provide quality care for children without access to a good family enviornment or to enrich those children with a healthy family life State prevention programs alleviate many infant problems while strengthening the family Several programs describe the establishment and operation of quality care centers Topics include use of equipment and supplies staff training parent education health and safety daily learning activities infant development handicapped infants and intervention in very young high risk children An annotated bibliography reviews practical resources for infant parent and day care programs and curricula Resources in Education ,1997 Education Manitoba ,1986 Report of the National Conference on Parent/Early Childhood Education, May 4-7, 1975, Denver, Colorado United States. Office of Education,1975 Parents as Educators Keith J. Topping,2025-08-05 Modern practice in the 1980s was to involve parents increasingly in the education of their children and was supported by legislation Particularly when children had special needs parents required structured training and support to ensure they affectively sustained their vital role as educators at home Many large scale programmes to provide this had been developed throughout the world at the time for example Home Start Portage Home Visiting Projects and Paired Reading Projects However not all of these had been thoroughly evaluated and the existing literature was scattered and difficult to access Some projects demonstrated spectacular results and high cost effectiveness while others proved more disappointing Originally published in 1986 this book critically analyses over 600 international English language research reports on the effectiveness of parent training programmes In addition a detailed guide to the practicalities of planning projects is provided together with a comprehensive directory of useful resource materials After an introductory overview the evidence on the effects on child progress of parental involvement in school activities is reviewed as is research on the impact of schemes of regular structured communication between home and school Programmes designed to train parents to accelerate the development of their children at home are considered in the subsequent chapters starting with ordinary children Much of the book reviews projects targeted on children with some sort of special educational need from children whose special needs stem from a widespread difficulty such as poverty or second language learning systematically through to children whose needs stem from rarer and more severe issues Each chapter has its own summary for ease of reader use while an overall summary chapter points out best buys and directions for future developments This volume will be of major interest to teachers psychologists social workers community health personnel community educationalists researchers many others working with parents and children and to some parents themselves This book is a re issue originally published in 1986 The language used is a reflection of its era and no offence is meant by the Publishers to any reader by this re publication Language Disorders from Infancy Through Adolescence Rhea Paul,2001 LANGUAGE DISORDERS FROM INFANCY THROUGH ADOLESCENCE 2nd Edition provides readers with the information they need to properly identify and assess childhood language disorders and to provide appropriate treatment The book divided into three sections and a total of fifteen chapters covers the entire developmental period while also delving into additional concepts that are important to the practice of child language disorders including prevention syndromes associated with language disorders and multicultural practice Comprehensiveness makes it the ideal textbook for the student and an excellent reference source for the practitioner First person writing style contributes to readability and ease of comprehension making the material highly accessible Includes a comprehensive resource list useful for research and learning while in school as well as post graduation Provides cutting edge information on all topics ensuring that the student learns the most up to date material available Case studies and vignettes throughout the book demonstrate how the information presented in the chapters can be applied in clinical practice Study guides are included at the end of each chapter to make reviewing specific information easy Multicultural approach deals with considerations for working with children of all races and backgrounds Comprehensive Author index allows the reader to quickly locate information referenced within the text and in the field of speech language pathology Programs for the Handicapped ,1982 Home Education Resource Guide Cheryl Gorder,1996 A comprehensive resource guide for the parent educator If you can afford only one resource directory this is the one to buy Library Journal Parent Involvement in the Home, School, and Community George S. Morrison,1978 Abstract There are many reasons why parents are becoming more aware of school community and government efforts to establish a better environment for their children greater knowledge of good learning conditions greater need especially on the part of handicapped youngsters to adapt to a complex world social and cultural changes such as the civil rights movement and student activism federal and state legislation and a desire to feel some degree of control over the direction a child s life takes Parent involvement in development programs is seen as beneficial to the child the parent and the program Some of the programs examined are the Brookline Early Education Project the Mobile Van Library and the Home Start Program Parent involvement can be encouraged by a program home visitation specialist Parental attitudes are of great importance in molding children s outlook Exceptional Child Education Resources ,1996 Boletin Internacional de Bibliografia Sobre Educacion ,2003
