Tertiary Language Teacher-Researchers Between Ethics and Politics Chantal Crozet, Adriana R. Díaz, 2020-02-05 Bringing together a range of perspectives from tertiary language and culture teachers and researchers this volume highlights the need for greater critical engagement with the question of language teacher identity agency and responsibility in light of an ever changing global socio political and cultural landscape. The book examines the ways in which various moral ethical and ideological dimensions increasingly inform language teaching practice for tertiary modern foreign language teachers both collectively as a profession but also at the individual level in everyday classroom situations. Employing a narrative inquiry research approach which combines brief autobiographical reflections with semi structured interview data the volume provides a comprehensive portrait of the processes ten teacher researchers in Australia working across five different languages engage in as they seek to position themselves more purposefully within a critical political and ethical framework of teaching practice. The book will serve as a springboard from which to promote greater understanding and discussion of the impact of globalisation and social justice corollaries within the field as well as to mediate the gap between language teaching theory and practice making this key reading for graduate students and researchers in intercultural communication language teaching and language teacher education.

How Schools Make Race Laura C. Chávez-Moreno, 2024-08-28 An investigation into how schooling can enhance and hinder critical racial consciousness through the making of the Latinx racialized group.

English as a Lingua Franca in Latin American Education Sonia Morán Panero, Maritza M.

Martínez-Sánchez, Gloria J. Ronzón-Montiel, 2024-10-21 ELF researchers have been describing the dynamic and fluid ways in which multilingual speakers shape English in transcultural communication for more than two decades now. While this work seriously challenges traditional static and prejudiced views of English, the diverse and variable nature of its uses and users continues to be undermined in many EFL programs around the world. This is also the case in many Latin American contexts which have been described as fertile ground for native speaker ideology but where the body of ELF literature is still scarce when compared to Asian and European settings. This book is the first to bring together a series of empirical studies on the implications of ELF perspectives for communicative educational and policy making practices across different Latin American countries. It not only explores how ELF perspectives can inform students and educators in these settings but also how locally emerging voices, experiences and research traditions can help expand ELF theorising as well. The volume generates new opportunities for dialogue and global collaboration between researchers and practitioners interested in ELF studies as a critical approach to English language use and education.
