Teaching One Child:

One Child at a Time Pat Johnson, 2023-10-10 Every elementary teacher deals with students who struggle as readers on a daily basis. Each struggling child is complex and each has a unique history as a learner. In One Child at a Time, experienced literacy specialist and consultant Pat Johnson provides a framework she has used in numerous K-6 classrooms to help teachers understand and assist individual children. The four-step process outlined in the book enables teachers to focus carefully on specific strategies and behaviors, analyze them with theoretical and practical lenses, design targeted instruction in keeping with current research on reading process, and then assess and refine the teaching in conferences with the child. The framework is by no means an easy answer to a difficult problem, but through its use, teachers learn how the reading process works for proficient readers and how to support struggling readers as they construct their own reading process. The text is packed with examples of actual conferences with students, detailing how and when Pat and her colleagues intervene to instruct and assess. The examples of follow-up assessment and analysis of struggling readers over days and weeks provide an indispensable model for teachers. Pat shows how to use this framework successfully with a range of learners, including young children, English language learners, and students in the upper elementary grades who are stalled in their literacy progress. She builds upon her decades of work as a classroom teacher, literacy specialist, and consultant in schools with high poverty and diversity to demonstrate how this framework can be useful in any setting.

One Child, Many Worlds Eve Gregory, 2017-07-20 Originally published in 1997. By drawing on the experiences of children aged 3 to 8 attending schools in Britain, Germany, Iceland, Australia, and the USA, the authors of these eleven case studies provide insights into what it means for young children to enter a new language and culture in school. They look at the scope of out-of-school language and learning practices, the role of caregivers, siblings, and community language classes, and go on to look at the ways in which the teacher can act as mediator of a new language and culture in school. This book helps teachers develop culturally responsive teaching programmes based on an awareness of the knowledge children bring from home and the community. The book will be of interest to early years and primary school teachers working in multilingual classrooms and students

Teaching Language and Communication to the Mentally Handicapped Ken Leeming, Will Swann, Judith Coupe, Peter Mittler, 2018-09-03 First published in 1979, this report offers a working model for the teaching of language and communication to the mentally handicapped, which derives from both theory and practice and tries to build a bridge between them. It provides detailed examples of teachers putting principles into action and illustrates how teachers and children work together. The report will be of interest to all those concerned with the welfare of the handicapped child, including the parents. It provides both a working text for teachers and a basis for critical discussion about curriculum development and content in special needs schools.

Responsive Teaching for Sustainable Learning Jeanette Berman, Lorraine Graham, Anne Bellert, Lisa McKay-Brown, 2023-09-25 Drawing on Australian and international research, this book presents teaching and support strategies for educators to be responsive to the particular learning needs of each of their students and deliver quality inclusive education in a sustainable way. Based on the Responsive Teaching Framework, an instructionally focused approach for teaching that is evidence-based, purposeful, and responsive to students' learning needs, this book assists teachers to build on their current capabilities and strengthen their expertise to ensure that every student in their classrooms can be an effective learner. Part I of the book explains the theoretical and practical basis of Sustainable Learning as a way of thinking about inclusive education through a focus on responsive teaching. Part II unpacks each of the eight steps of the Responsive Teaching Framework. These chapters focus on the reflective questions that guide responsive practice from whole-class and individual student perspectives, outlining practical strategies that can be used as well as the assessment practices and evidence gathering needed to support each step of the responsive teaching process Part III examines the influences that school leaders have on inclusive practice and proposes a Responsive Leadership Framework RLF The RLF aligns with the Responsive Teaching Framework to provide a shared language and deepen understanding of Responsive Teaching for Sustainable Learning Written for practising educators school leaders and postgraduate students Responsive Teaching for Sustainable Learning delivers models for inclusive sustainable teaching practice in an easily accessible format
