Teaching Sign Language To Chimpanzees:

Teaching Sign Language to Chimpanzees R. Allen Gardner, Beatrix T. Gardner, Thomas E. Van Cantfort, 1989-01-01 In this volume the Gardners and their co workers explore the continuity between human behavior and the rest of animal behavior and find no barriers to be broken no chasms to be bridged only unknown territory to be charted and fresh discoveries to be made With the beginning of Project Washoe in 1966 sign language studies of chimpanzees opened up a new field of scientific inquiry by providing a new tool for looking at the nature of language and intelligence and the relation between human and nonhuman intelligence Here the pioneers in this field review the unique procedures that they developed and the extensive body of evidence accumulated over the years This close look at what the chimpanzees have actually done and said under rigorous laboratory conditions is the best answer to the heated controversies that have been generated by this line of research among ethologists psychologists anthropologists linguists and philosophers

AS Level Psychology Through Diagrams Grahame Hill, 2001 This text uses material from the first edition of Advanced Psychology Through Diagrams combined with several new pages to meet the requirements of the new AS Level examination specifications

The Human Use of Animals F. Barbara Orlans, 1998 This volume of case studies on animal ethics deals with important social controversies involving the human use of animals and analyzes the moral issues involved An introduction to ethical theory provides a framework to the 16 original case studies which include the use of animals in research testing and education as food as companion animals and in religious rites The book is intended for bioethics courses and animal career staff

The Structure of Learning R. Allen Gardner, Beatrix Gardner, 2013-06-17 Drawing together research and theory in ethology and psychology this book offers a clear and provocative account of the ways in which living organisms learn Throughout the authors focus is on the importance of operational definition In lively prose describing experiments in enough depth to involve readers in the drama of experimental method they recount the history of scientists attempts to answer basic questions and show how one study builds on another Although they present the major traditional positions they demand that readers examine actual evidence recognize weaknesses and consider alternatives This critical process leads to the delineation of a bottom up feed forward model in contrast to the traditional top down feed backward one Recent research in robotics and fuzzy logic suggests ways in which artificial as well as living systems pursue bottom up feed forward ethological solutions to practical problems The authors extended discussion of their exciting work teaching sign language to chimpanzees vividly illustrates the application of the basic principles of learning elucidated in the book

Animal Minds Donald R. Griffin, 2024-05-31 In Animal Minds Donald R Griffin takes us on a guided tour of the recent explosion of scientific research on animal mentality Are animals consciously aware of anything or are they merely living machines incapable of conscious thoughts or emotional feelings How can we tell Such questions have long fascinated Griffin who has been a pioneer at the forefront of research in animal cognition for decades and is recognized as one of the leading behavioral ecologists of the twentieth century With this new edition of his classic book which he has completely revised and updated Griffin moves beyond considerations of animal cognition to argue that scientists can and should investigate questions of animal consciousness Using examples from studies of species ranging from chimpanzees and dolphins to birds and honeybees he demonstrates how communication among animals can serve as a window into what animals think and feel just as human speech and nonverbal communication tell us most of what we know about the thoughts and feelings of other people Even when they don't communicate about it animals respond with sometimes surprising versatility to new situations for which neither their genes nor their previous experiences have prepared them and Griffin discusses what these behaviors can tell us about animal minds He also reviews the latest research in cognitive neuroscience which has revealed startling similarities in the neural mechanisms underlying brain functioning in both humans and other animals Finally in four chapters greatly expanded for this edition Griffin considers the latest scientific research on animal consciousness pro and con and explores its profound philosophical and ethical implications

Chimpanzee Cultures Richard W. Wrangham, 1996 Compares and contrasts the ecology social relations and cognition of chimpanzees bonobos and occasionally gorillas

Interspecies Communication Gavin Steingo, 2024-04-09 A surprising study reveals a plethora of attempts to communicate with non humans in the modern era In Interspecies Communication music scholar Gavin Steingo examines significant cases of attempted communication beyond the human cases in which the dualistic relationship of human to non human is dramatically challenged From singing whales to Sun Ra to searching for alien life Steingo charts the many ways we have attempted to think about and indeed to reach beings that are very unlike ourselves Steingo focuses on the second half of the twentieth century when scientists developed new ways of listening to oceans and cosmic space two realms previously inaccessible to the senses and to empirical investigation As quintessential frontiers of the postwar period the outer space of the cosmos and the inner space of oceans were conceptualized as parallel realities laid bare by newly technologized ears Deeply engaging Interspecies Communication explores our attempts to cross the border between the human and non human to connect with non humans in the depths of the oceans the far reaches of the universe or right under our own noses

The Neglected Ape Biruté M.F. Galdikas, R.D. Nadler, N. Rosen, Lori K. Sheeran, 1996-02-29 The orangutan is the most highly endangered species of great ape Orangutans are threatened by deforestation poaching the illegal pet trade and the isolation and fragmentation of dwindling wild populations Their conservation is impeded by certain aspects of their ecology e.g. a rain forest habitat and certain features of their life history e.g. an eight to twelve year interbirth interval Added to the U.S. Endangered Species List in 1970 the orangutan is now clearly on the road to extinction The number of wild orangutans in Borneo and Sumatra is currently estimated to have decreased to between 12 300 and 20 571 individuals Only 2% of original orangutan habitat is protected and some of these areas are now being destroyed Clearly attention to ecology demography censusing rehabilitation and conservation is essential if the orangutan is to survive in the wild beyond the next century The protection of orangutans is a complex multifaceted problem involving such pressing issues as human poverty overpopulation and the economic development of Southeast Asia Although the orangutan has been placed in Appendix I of the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora CITES more orangutans were sold illegally in Taiwan between 1990 and 1993 than are housed in all the world's zoos In the past scientific and public attention has centered on the African apes For this reason the sole Asian great ape the orangutan has been called the neglected ape

Primates Face to Face Agustín Fuentes, Linda D. Wolfe, 2002-01-17 As our closest evolutionary relatives nonhuman primates are integral elements in our mythologies diets and scientific paradigms yet most species now face an uncertain future through exploitation for the pet and bushmeat trades as well as progressive habitat loss New information about disease transmission dietary and economic linkage and the continuing international focus on conservation and primate research have created a surge of interest in primates and focus on the diverse interaction of human and nonhuman primates has become an important component in primatological and ethnographic studies By examining the diverse and fascinating range of relationships between humans and other primates and how this plays a critical role in conservation practice and programs Primates Face to Face disseminates the information gained from the anthropological study of nonhuman primates to the wider academic and non academic world

A Language and Power Reader Robert Eddy, Victor Villanueva, 2014-09-15 A Language and Power Reader organizes reading and writing activities for undergraduate students guiding them in the exploration of racism and cross racial rhetorics Introducing texts written from and about versions of English often disrespected by mainstream Americans A Language and Power Reader highlights English dialects and discourses to provoke discussions of racialized relations in contemporary America Thirty selected readings in a range of genres and from writers who work in alternative voices e.g. Pidgin African American Language discourse of international and transnational English speakers focus on disparate power relations based on varieties of racism in America and how those relations might be displayed imposed or resisted across multiple rhetorics The book also directs student participation and discourse Each reading is followed by comments and guides to help focus conversation Research has long shown that increasing a student's metalinguistic awareness improves a student's writing No other reader available at this time explores the idea of multiple rhetorics or encourages their use making A Language and Power Reader a welcome addition to writing classrooms

Rattling The Cage Steven Wise, 2000 This demonstrates that based on the latest scientific findings the cognitive emotional and social capacities of at least chimps and bonobos entitle them to freedom from imprisonment and abuse

Law Relating to Animals Deborah Legge, 2000-10-17 This book looks at animal law in a wide context and considers policy issues moral and ethical debates political ideas and economic influences It concentrates on public forms of control as these make up the bulk of legal protection in this area but it also looks briefly at common law controls The book also examines European law and International law and it takes a comparative look at Australian law which has taken a different stance to the UK in relation to the protection of animals      Biocommunication of Animals Guenther Witzany,2013-11-08 Every coordination within or between animals depends on communication processes Although the signaling molecules vocal and tactile signs gestures and its combinations differ throughout all species according their evolutionary origins and variety of adaptation processes certain levels of biocommunication can be found in all animal species a Abiotic environmental indices such as temperature light water etc that affect the local ecosphere of an organism and are sensed interpreted b Trans specific communication with non related organisms c Species specific communication between same or related species d Intraorganismic communication i e sign mediated coordination within the body of the organism This book gives an overview of the manifold levels of animal communication exemplified by a variety of species and thereby broadens the understanding of these organisms

Encyclopedia of Animal Rights and Animal Welfare Marc Bekoff,2009-11-25 A landmark publishing achievement on the subject the new edition of this acclaimed encyclopedia is expanded to two volumes covering the full range of issues related to animal protection Expanded to two volumes the comprehensively updated new edition Encyclopedia of Animal Rights and Animal Welfare Second Edition is an extraordinary publishing event It remains the only reference to cover the entire scope of animal rights and welfare from a global interdisciplinary perspective with an international team of contributors assembled by Marc Bekoff covering animal treatment issues in the United States China India Kenya Australia and many other nations With a focused emphasis on fairness and justice for animals evident on every page Encyclopedia of Animal Rights and Animal Welfare Second Edition offers clear explanations of hot button topics like puppy mills endangered species in zoos no kill shelters dog fighting factory farming and disease veganism conservation ethics wildlife contraception and more The encyclopedia also explores a range of religious ethical and philosophical views on using animals as well as the latest research on animal cognition and sentience The work helps readers understand the different viewpoints of animal welfare advocates who want to improve conditions for animals and animal rights activists who don t want animals used at all      The Gestural Communication of Apes and Monkeys Josep Call,Michael Tomasello,2020-08-18 The Gestural Communication of Apes and Monkeys is an intriguing compilation of naturalistic and experimental research conducted over the course of 20 years on gestural communication in primates as well as a comparison to what is known about the vocal communication of nonhuman primates The editors also make systematic comparisons to the gestural communication of prelinguistic and just linguistic human children An enlightening exploration unfolds into what may represent the starting point for the evolution of human communication and language This especially significant read is organized into nine chapters that discuss the gestural repertoire of chimpanzees gestures in orangutans subadult gorillas and siamangs gestural communication in Barbary macaques and a comparison of the gestures of apes and monkeys This book will appeal to psychologists anthropologists and linguists interested in the evolutionary origins of language and or gestures as well as to all primatologists A CD insert offers video of gestures for each of the species      Psycholinguistics Danny D. Steinberg,Hiroshi Nagata,David P.

Aline,2013-10-23 How do we learn to produce and comprehend speech How does language relate to thought This second edition of the successful text Psycholinguistics Language Mind and World considers the psychology of language as it relates to learning mind and brain as well as various aspects of society and culture Current issues and research topics are presented in an in depth manner although little or no specific knowledge of any topic is presupposed The book is divided into four main parts First Language Learning Second Language Learning Language Mind and Brain Mental Grammar and Language Processing These four sections include chapters covering areas such as deaf language education first language acquisition and first language reading second language acquisition language teaching and the problems of bilingualism Updated throughout this new edition also considers and proposes new theories in psycholinguistics and linguistics and introduces a new theory of grammar Natural Grammar which is the only current grammar that is based on the primacy of the psycholinguistic process of speech comprehension derives speech production from that process Written in an accessible and fluent style Psycholinguistics Language Mind and World will be of interest to students lecturers and researchers from linguistics psychology philosophy and second language teaching      Animals and Agency Sarah McFarland,Ryan Hediger,2009-06-02 While many scholars who write about animals deal with animal agency in some way this volume is the first to position the question of nonhuman agency as the primary focus of inquiry Section I presents studies of actual animals demonstrating agency Section II moves agency into new terrain while considering key representations of animal agency in literature Section III analyzes animals as mediators and as conveyances of human to human communication and Section IV investigates the agency of beings who defy conventional species categories The Envoi demonstrates how the microscopic polyp is interwoven into notions of agency and mythical superagency This volume s interdisciplinary explorations press hard on issues of agency to open up space for more questions about how we can understand relationships between the human and the nonhuman      Problem of Meaning Behavioural and Cognitive Perspectives C.
