

Pay For Knowledge Plans

- Pay is determined by the kinds and levels of knowledge acquired by employee --- not the skills mastered
- This plan is better for jobs where work of team members is more general, and cannot be specifically defined

Computer Vision -- ACCV 2009 Hongbin Zha,Rin-ichiro Taniguchi,Stephen Maybank,2010-05-09 It gives us great pleasure to present the proceedings of the 9th Asian Conference on Computer Vision ACCV 2009 held in Xi'an, China in September 2009. This was the first ACCV conference to take place in mainland China. We received a total of 670 full submissions, which is a new record in the ACCV series. Overall, 35 papers were selected for oral presentation and 131 as posters, yielding acceptance rates of 5.2% for oral, 19.6% for poster, and 24.8% in total. In the paper reviewing, we continued the tradition of previous ACCVs by conducting the process in a double-blind manner. Each of the 33 Area Chairs received a pool of about 20 papers and nominated a number of potential reviewers for each paper. Then Program Committee Chairs allocated at least three reviewers to each paper, taking into consideration any conflicts of interest and the balance of loads. Once the reviews were finished, the Area Chairs made summary reports for the papers in their pools based on the reviewers' comments and on their own assessments of the papers.

They allow the practice of prevention, containment, treatment, and procedure in a risk-free setting. This book is a practical guide and reference to the latest technology, operations, and opportunities presented by clinical simulation. It shows how to develop and make efficient use of resources and provides hands-on information to those tasked with setting up and delivering simulation facilities for medical, clinical, and related purposes and the development and delivery of simulation-based education programs. A step-by-step manual to developing successful simulation programs. Shows how to design, construct, outfit, and run simulation facilities for clinical education and research. The Residency Review Committee of the US Accreditation Council on Graduate Medical Education has begun requiring residency programs to have simulation as an integral part of their training programs.

Matthew Hamilton, Dara Hanke Schmidt, 2014-12-04. This is an ideal resource for joining the maker movement, no matter the size of your public library or resource level. Libraries of all sizes and resource levels are finding ways to support community innovation and creativity through maker programming, and successful programs don't require dedicating an entire area of the library to makerspace activities or sophisticated technologies such as 3D printers. Make It Here: Inciting Creativity and Innovation in Your Library provides a complete step-by-step guide for starting a makerspace program at your library and follows through with instructions for operation and building on your success. This book takes you step by step through starting your maker program, from finding the right makerspace, mix, making a plan, and working with staff to establishing funding and support, launching your makerspace, and evaluating and refining your programs. The authors provide guidance based on their personal experiences in creating and developing maker programs in their libraries, as well as feedback and lessons learned from library makers across the country. You'll see how easy it can be to bring their ideas to life in ways that will empower your community and be encouraged to be bold and think outside of the box when imagining the possibilities.
