Teambuilding Effectiveness Profile Facilitators Guide:

TEAMBUILDING EFFECTIVENESS PROFILE Jon Warner, 2002-01-01 Managing the Knowledge Culture Philip Robert Harris, 2005 Managing the Knowledge Culture expertly explores how to overcome one of the biggest challenges 21st century leaders and their followers face functioning effectively in a knowledge culture The thoroughly up to date book will deepen your understanding of the knowledge culture and its management and clearly detail the changing roles For human resource professionals or managers who wants to be on the leading edge of knowledge management this realistic resource is a must

Team Performance in Health Care Gloria D. Heinemann, Antonette M. Zeiss, 2012-12-06 The idea of teamwork in health care emerged at several times during the th 20 century as the result of shifts in the nature and demands of health care and societal needs Examples include medical and surgical teams serving the military in World War II primary care teams staffing Community Health Centers created by President Johnson s War On Poverty and geriatric care teams established to serve the rapidly growing number of aging citizens Collaborative teamwork surfaced as a rational solution to health care needs but political and economic consensus to support widespread implementation was lacking The increasing complexity of providing health care seemed best served by the skills and efforts of interdisciplinary teams but such care was viewed as expensive so e valuation of its effectiveness became essential There were major problems in conducting such evaluation however First no clear theory guided the concept and practice of teamwork Early attempts to employ theoretical constructs explaining the behavioral and organizational phenomena of teamwork borrowed from theories of group dynamics communication organizational development and general systems Further few reliable validated instruments existed to evaluate team process function or effectiveness The best early efforts at research and evaluation came from academic centers funded by the Office of Interdisciplinary Programs of the Bureau of Health Professions 1975 78 and from the Veterans Affairs Interprofessional Team Training Development Program

The Team Building Tool Kit Deborah Mackin, 1994 Workplace teams need rules to be effective just as professional sports teams do This problem solving ready reference lays down the guidelines for team leaders and members It covers the human factors and nitty gritty details that can hamper teamwork and discusses how to define the roles and responsibilities of team members select team members and encourage positive behavior facilitate participation at team meetings deal with the fear of losing control evaluate and reward teams determine what kind of training to offer The author uses bullet points to make tips and rules easy to grasp and end of chapter questions and answers to illuminate key issues

Diversity Awareness Profile (DAP) Karen M. Stinson, 2007-04-06 First published in 1991 the Diversity Awareness Profile commonly known as DAP is a self assessment tool that has helped millions of individuals in organizations improve working relationships among diverse co workers and customers by increasing the awareness of their behavior toward people and how it affects them and how an individual s behavior affects others The DAP is based on data gathered in a series of focus groups interviews and thousands of diversity training sessions over the past twenty years The DAP highlights the fact that most people don't mean to discriminate judge or isolate others The purpose of this 40 item instrument is to give people an opportunity to take a snapshot of their behaviors as they are interacting with others The DAP Facilitator Guide Second Edition has been written to help facilitators successfully administer the DAP as a part of a diversity education curriculum This fully revised second edition walks facilitators through the preparation administration and debrief of the DAP In addition the guide offers key discussion questions and instructions on how to best help participants create individualized action plans This package includes the Facilitator's Guide and one DAP assessment

Manual of Simulation in Healthcare Richard H. Riley, 2008 Medical simulation is a relatively new science that is achieving respectability among healthcare educators worldwide Simulation and skills centres have become established to integrate simulation into mainstream education in all medical nursing and paramedical fields Borrowing from the experience and methodologies of industries that are using simulation medical educators are grappling with the problem of rapidly acquiring the skills and techniques required to implement simulation programmes into established curricula This book assists both novice and experienced workers in the field to learn from established practitioners in medical simulation Simulation has been used to enhance the educational experience in a diverse range of fields therefore a wide variety of disciplines are represented The book begins with a section on the logistics of establishing a simulation and skills centre and the inherent problems with funding equipment staffing and course development and promotion Section two deals with simulators and related training devices that are required to equip a stand alone or institution based centre The features strengths and weaknesses of training devices are presented to help the reader find the appropriate simulator to fulfil their training requirements There is a guide to producing scenarios and medical props that can enhance the training experience The third section covers adult education and it reviews the steps required to develop courses that comply with best practice in medical education Teaching skills facilitating problem based learning groups and debriefing techniques are especially important to multidisciplinary skills centres that find themselves becoming a centre for medical education The manual concludes with guides for the major specialties that use simulation including military paediatrics CPR and medical response teams obstetrics and anaesthesia

Building Cultures and Climates for Effective Human Services Anthony L. Hemmelgarn, Charles Glisson, 2018-07-13 It is widely acknowledged that many healthcare behavioral health and social service organizations provide less than optimal services and that the challenge of improving services depends on successfully changing organizational culture and climate. However, there are almost no organizational level strategies that have been tested with randomized controlled trials. Building Cultures and Climates for Effective Human Services addresses the need for evidence-based organizational strategies for improving human service quality and outcomes by uniquely describing the authors' own case examples, nationwide studies, and randomized controlled trials to explain how organizational culture and climate can be assessed and changed. The two authors use their decades of research and practice experience in assessing and changing human service organizations to explain how organizations can improve the services they provide using the authors' ARC model, which effectively removes service barriers and supports the implementation of evidence-based practices and other innovations. The book also blends case examples with research from nationwide studies, regional experiments, and randomized controlled trials to explain the ARC model of organizational effectiveness and how it works to improve services. It provides a balance between theory, empirical research, and actual case examples to help researchers, organizational consultants, administrators, and service providers gain a practical understanding of how culture and climate affect services and how they can be improved. Furthermore, the text describes the three ARC strategies, each composed of multiple elements to: 1. embed key organizational principles, 2. implement core organizational component tools, and 3. apply mental models to alter shared reasoning and beliefs that affect success. No other organizational level strategies for improving services have been so well documented and tested.
