National Aeronautics and Space Administration,1961     NASA Technical Translation ,1975     The Industrial Arts Index ,1927     Technical Automation in Classical Antiquity Maria Gerolemou,2022-12-15 Technical automation the ability of man made or god made objects to move and act autonomously is not just the province of engineering or science fiction In this book Maria Gerolemou by taking as her starting point the close semantic and linguistic relevance of technical automation to natural automatism demonstrates how ancient literature performance and engineering were often concerned with the way nature and artifice interacted Moving across epic didactic tragedy comedy philosophy and ancient science this is a brilliant assembly of evidence for the power of automatic theatre in ancient literature Gerolemou starts with the earliest Greek literature of Homer and Hesiod where Hephaestus self moving artefacts in the Iliad reflect natural forces of motion and the manufactured Pandora becomes an autonomous woman Her second chapter looks at Greek drama where technical automation is used to augment and undermine nature not only through staging and costume but also in plot devices where statues come to life and humans behave as automatic devices In the third chapter Gerolemou considers how the philosophers of the 4th century BCE and the engineers of the Hellenistic period with their mechanical devices contributed to a growing dialogue around technical automation and how it could help its audience glance and marvel at the hidden mechanisms of self motion Finally the book explores the ways technical automation is employed as an ekphrastic technique in late antiquity and early Byzantium
