Space in the Tropics Peter Redfield, 2000-12-19 This title compares the current space programme in French Guiana to the earlier penal colony of Devil s Island highlighting cultural realignments in nature behind the evolution of global technology in a tropical rainforest

A Global History of Convicts and Penal Colonies Clare Anderson, 2018-05-17 Between 1415 when the Portuguese first used convicts for colonization purposes in the North African enclave of Ceuta to the 1960s and the dissolution of Stalin s gulags global powers including the Spanish Dutch Portuguese British Russians Chinese and Japanese transported millions of convicts to forts penal settlements and penal colonies all over the world A Global History of Convicts and Penal Colonies builds on specific regional archives and literatures to write the first global history of penal transportation The essays explore the idea of penal transportation as an engine of global change in which political repression and forced labour combined to produce long term impacts on economy society and identity They investigate the varied and interconnected routes convicts took to penal sites across the world and the relationship of these convict flows to other forms of punishment unfree labour military service and indigenous incarceration They also explore the lived worlds of convicts including work culture religion and intimacy and convict experience and agency

Convict Labor in the Portuguese Empire, 1740-1932 Timothy J. Coates, 2013-11-14 Forced convict labor provided the Portuguese with solutions to the growing criminal population at home and the lack of infrastructure in Angola and Mozambique In Convict Labor in the Portuguese Empire Timothy J Coates examines the role of large numbers of convicts in Portuguese Africa from 1800 until 1932 This work examines the numbers rationale and realities of convict labor largely in Angola during this period but Mozambique is a secondary area as well as late colonial times in Brazil This is a unique first study of an experiment in convict labor in Africa directed by a European power it will be welcomed by scholars of Africa and New Imperialism as well as those interested in law and labor

Life Writing in the Posthuman Anthropocene Ina Batzke, Lea Espinoza Garrido, Linda M. Hess, 2022-01-01 Life Writing in the Posthuman Anthropocene is a timely collection of insightful contributions that negotiate how the genre of life writing traditionally tied to the human perspective and thus anthropocentric qua definition can provide adequate perspectives for an age of ecological disasters and global climate change The volume s eight chapters illustrate the aptness of life writing and life writing studies to critically reevaluate the role of the human vis vis non human others while remaining mindful of persisting inequalities between humans regarding who causes and who suffers damage in the Anthropocene age The authors in this collection not only expand the toolbox of life writing studies by engaging with critical insights from the fields of posthumanism and ecocriticism but in turn also enrich those fields by offering unique approaches to contemplate the responsibility of humans for as well as their relational existence in the posthuman Anthropocene Space Race Television Sven Grampp, 2024-05-23 This volume offers a media theoretically oriented perspective on the Space Race It analyzes feature films documentaries live television coverage magazines stamps posters ticker tape parades They visualized the Space Race in a specific way and circulated it transnationally from East to West and from West to East across the Iron Curtain It will be shown how reporting on the Space Race between 1955 and 1975 can be explained as a globalizing history of the intertwining of images during the Cold War

Framing the Penal Colony Sophie Fuggle, Charles Forsdick, Katharina Massing, 2023-02-20 This book examines the representation of penal colonies both historically and in contemporary culture across an array of media Exploring a range of geographies and historical instances of the penal colony it seeks to identify how the penal colony as a widespread phenomenon is as much imagined and creatively instrumentalized as it pertains to real sites and populations It concentrates on the range of media produced in and around penal colonies both during their operation and following their closures This approach emphasizes the role of cross disciplinary methods and approaches to examining the history and legacy of convict transportation prison islands and other sites of exile It develops a range of methodological tools for engaging with cultures and representations of incarceration detention and transportation The chapters draw on media discourse analysis critical cartography museum and heritage studies ethnography architectural history visual culture including film and comics studies and gaming studies It aims to disrupt the idea of adopting linear histories or isolated geographies in order to understand the impact and legacy of penal colonies The overall claim made by the collection is that understanding the cultural production associated with this global phenomenon is a necessary part of a wider examination of carceral imaginaries or penal spectatorship Brown 2009 past present and future It brings together historiography criminology media and cultural studies
