Space Settlements A Design Study

N. A. S. A., Gerard K. O'Neill

Space Settlements A Design Study:

Space Settlements N. A. S. A., Gerard K. O'Neill, 2004-11 This report grew out of a 10 week program in engineering systems design held at Stanford University and the Ames Research Center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration during the summer of 1975 The project brought together nineteen professors of engineering physical science social science and architecture and two co directors This group worked for ten weeks to construct a convincing picture of how people might permanently sustain life in space on a large scale The goal of the summer study was to design a system for the colonization of space This report like the design itself is intended to be as technologically complete and sound as it could be made in ten weeks but it is also meant for a readership beyond that of the aerospace community Because the idea of colonizing space has awakened strong public interest the report is written to be understood by the educated public and specialists in other fields It also includes considerable background material The technical director Gerard K O Neill of Princeton University made essential contributions by providing information based on his notes and calculations from six years of prior work on space colonization and by carefully reviewing the technical aspects of the study Space Settlements Richard D. Johnson, Charles H. Holbrow, 1977 Space Settlements Richard D. Johnson, 1977 Space Resources and Space Settlements, 1979 Space Resources and Space Settlements John Billingham, 1979 Designing & Building Space Colonies Martin K. Ettington, 2022-07-22 Designing Building Space Colonies A Blueprint for the Future One of the greatest adventures in the future of humanity will be to construct work and live in space based structures In this book we look at the history of ideas for living in space proposed space colony designs and technology The details of current life support technology on the International Space Station is reviewed and what technologies will be required for development of large scale space colonies What other things in terms of financing and materials availability will be needed also Finally we conclude with some recommendations to get us ready to build these colonies NASA Activities, 1979 NASA EP. United States. National Aeronautics and Space Administration, 1968 N A S A Activities U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration, 1977 Realizing Tomorrow Chris Dubbs, Emeline Paat-Dahlstrom, 2011 Nearly forty years passed between the Apollo moon landings the grandest accomplishment of a government run space program and the Ansari X PRIZE winning flights of SpaceShipOne the greatest achievement of a private space program Now as we hover on the threshold of commercial spaceflight authors Chris Dubbs and Emeline Paat Dahlstrom look back at how we got to this point Their book traces the lives of the individuals who shared the dream that private individuals and private enterprise belong in space Realizing Tomorrow provides a behind the scenes look at the visionaries the crackpots the financial schemes the legal wrangling the turf battles and underpinning the entire drama the overwhelming desire of ordinary people to visit outer space A compelling story of the pioneers of commercial spaceflight both American and Soviet Russian and their efforts to open the final frontier to everyone this book traces the path to private spaceflight even as it offers an instructive entertaining and cautionary note about its future
