Teaching and Learning Through the Holocaust Anthony Pellegrino,Jeffrey Parker,2022-12-16 This book serves as a critical resource for educators across various roles and contexts who are interested in Holocaust education that is both historically sound and practically relevant As a collection it pulls together a diverse group of scholars to share their research and experiences The volume endeavors to address topics including the nature and purpose of Holocaust education how our understanding of the Holocaust has changed and resources we can use with learners These themes are consistent across the chapters making for a comprehensive exploration of learning through the Holocaust today and in the future

Becoming a Holocaust Educator Jennifer Lemberg, Alexander Pope, 2021 Experienced educators share how they conceive of Holocaust education as based in writing and inquiry This book offers reflections on how professional development helps guide teacher growth and success and examinations of the ways professional organizations and networks can support teachers trying to teach challenging content

Holocaust education in a global context Fracapane, Karel, Haß, Matthias, Topography of Terror Foundation (Germany), 2014-01-24 International interest in Holocaust education has reached new heights in recent years This historic event has long been central to cultures of remembrance in those countries where the genocide of the Jewish people occurred But other parts of the world have now begun to recognize the history of the Holocaust as an effective means to teach about mass violence and to promote human rights and civic duty testifying to the emergence of this pivotal historical event as a universal frame of reference In this new globalized context how is the Holocaust represented and taught How do teachers handle this excessively complex and emotionally loaded subject in fast changing multicultural European societies still haunted by the crimes perpetrated by the Nazis and their collaborators Why and how is it taught in other areas of the world that have only little if any connection with the history of the Jewish people Holocaust Education in a Global Context will explore these questions page 10

Essentials of Holocaust Education Samuel Totten, Stephen Feinberg, 2016-03-17 Essentials of Holocaust Education Fundamental Issues and Approaches is a comprehensive guide for pre and in service educators preparing to teach about this watershed event in human history An original collection of essays by Holocaust scholars teacher educators and classroom teachers it covers a full range of issues relating to Holocaust education with the goal of helping teachers to help students gain a deep and thorough understanding of why and how the Holocaust was perpetrated Both conceptual and pragmatic it delineates key rationales for teaching the Holocaust provides useful historical background information for teachers and offers a wide array of practical approaches for teaching about the Holocaust Various chapters address teaching with film and literature incorporating the use of primary accounts into a study of the Holocaust using technology to teach the Holocaust and gearing the content and instructional approaches and strategies to age appropriate audiences A ground breaking and highly original book Essentials of Holocaust Education will help teachers engage students in a study of the Holocaust that is compelling thought provoking and reflective

Think Higher Feel Deeper Mark Gudgel, 2021 Approaching the Holocaust in your classroom can be a difficult often daunting task This practical guide for English and social studies teachers features lessons learned from the author's 17 years of experience teaching the subject in public schools as well as his work with the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum Using anecdotes and empirical data Gudgel offers advice for teaching the Holocaust in a way that is nuanced socially responsible and historically accurate He provides guidance on common challenges and questions teachers will encounter such as correcting misconceptions using films and discussing genocide with secondary students While World War II grows ever more distant in the past the lessons of the Holocaust are perhaps more relevant today than ever before It may never be easy to teach about the Holocaust but it can be done in ways that make it edifying and empowering rather than causing despair This approach is as important for educators as it is for their students Book Features Uses a conversational tone with classroom examples and actionable teaching advice Designed to make a difficult topic more accessible for teachers at all levels of experience Helps teachers think about best practices through a lens of inquiry pedagogy and personal experience Focuses on what the author believes would have been most helpful when he began teaching about the Holocaust Holocaust Education 25 Years On

Andy Pearce, Arthur Chapman, 2018-08-07 The year 2016 marked the twenty fifth anniversary of statutory teaching and learning about the Holocaust in English state maintained schools which was introduced with the first English National Curriculum in 1991 The year 2016 also saw the publication of the largest empirical research study on Holocaust education outcomes the UCL Centre for Holocaust Education's What Do Students Know and Understand About the Holocaust This book presents a systematic reflection on the outcomes of this quarter century of Holocaust education in England and the Centre's wider work to reflect on the forms and the limitations of children's knowledge about the Holocaust and of English Holocaust education resources These papers are then contextualised in two ways through papers that situate English Holocaust education historiographically and in England's wider Holocaust culture and through papers from America Switzerland and Germany that place the UCL Centre for Holocaust Education's findings in a wider and comparative perspective Overall the book presents unique empirical insights into teaching and learning processes and outcomes in Holocaust education and enables these to be theorised and explored systematically The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Holocaust Studies A Journal of Culture and History Teaching the Holocaust in School History Lucy

Russell, 2006-08-17 If we expose students to a study of human suffering we have a responsibility to guide them through it But is this the role of school history This issue is the rationale behind teaching the Holocaust primarily historical moral or social Is the Holocaust to be taught as a historical event with a view to developing students' critical historical skills or as a tool to combat continuing prejudice and discrimination These profound questions lie at the heart of Lucy Russell's fascinating analysis of teaching the Holocaust in school history She considers how the topic of the Holocaust is currently being taught in schools in the UK and overseas Drawing on interviews with educationalists academics and teachers she discovers that there is in fact a surprising lack of consensus regarding the purpose of and approaches to teaching the Holocaust in history Indeed the majority view is distinctly non historical there is a tendency to teach the Holocaust from a social and moral perspective and not as history This book attempts to explain and debate this phenomenon Holocaust Education in Primary Schools in the Twenty-First Century Claus-Christian W. Szejnmann, Paula Cowan, James Griffiths, 2018-07-09 This collection is the first of its kind bringing together Holocaust educational researchers as well as school and museum educators from across the globe to discuss the potentials of Holocaust education in relation to primary school children. Its contributors are from countries that have a unique relationship with the Holocaust such as Germany, Israel, neutral Switzerland, and Allied countries outside the UK. Their research provides new insight into the diverse ways in which primary aged students engage with Holocaust education. Chapters explore the impact of teaching the Holocaust to this age group, school and museum teaching pedagogies, and primary students' perspectives of the Holocaust. This book will appeal to school and museum educators of primary aged students whose work requires them to teach the Holocaust, Citizenship or Civics or Human Rights Education. Since the turn of the twenty first century, there has been a transformation in school and museum based Holocaust education. This book clearly demonstrates that primary education has been included in this transformation.

Enacting History Mira Hirsch, Janet E. Rubin, Arnold Mittelman, 2020-06-15. Enacting History is a practical guide for educators that provides methodologies and resources for teaching the Holocaust through a variety of theatrical means including scripted texts, verbatim testimony, devised theater techniques, and process oriented creative exercises. A close collaboration with the USC Shoah Foundation I Witness program and the National Jewish Theater Foundation Holocaust Theater International Initiative at the University of Miami Miller Center for Contemporary Judaic Studies resulted in the ground breaking work within this volume. The material facilitates teaching the Holocaust in a way that directly connects students to individual people and historical events through the art of theater. Each section is designed to help middle and high school educators meet curricular goals, objectives, and standards and to integrate other educational disciplines based upon best practices. Students will gain both intellectual and emotional understanding by speaking the words of survivors as well as young characters in scripted scenes and developing their own performances based on historical primary sources. This book is an innovative and invaluable resource for teachers and students of the Holocaust; it is an exemplary account of how the power of theater can be harnessed within the classroom setting to encourage a deeper understanding of this defining event in history.

Teaching about the Holocaust Council of Europe, 2003-01-01. This publication reports on a European seminar held in Lithuania in April 2000 to discuss approaches to teaching about the Holocaust in schools and to identify good practice. Topics discussed include historical consciousness, the educator's attitude and approach, the importance of motivation, teaching about the Holocaust within a specific context or environment, and teaching constraints. The seminar included four presentations on Jewish experiences in Lithuania, the Warsaw Ghetto, and the Breendonk concentration camp in Belgium, as well as a discussion of Holocaust denial using the internet.

Testimony, Tensions, and Tikkun Myrna Goldenberg, Rochelle L. Millen, 2011-10-01. The Holocaust was a cataclysmic upheaval in politics, culture, society, ethics, and theology. The very fact of its occurrence has been forcing scholars for more than sixty years to assess its impact on their disciplines. Educators whose work is represented in this volume ask their students to grapple with one of the grand horrors of the twentieth century and to accept the responsibility of building a more just, peaceful world, tikkun olam. They acknowledge that their task as teachers of the Holocaust is both imperative and impossible they must teach something that cannot be taught as one contributor puts it and they recognize the formidable limits of language thought imagination and comprehension that thwart and obscure the story they seek to tell Yet they are united in their keen sense of pursuing an effort that is pivotal to our understanding of the past and to whatever prospects we may have for a more decent and humane future A Holocaust course refers to an instructional offering that may focus entirely on the Holocaust may serve as a touchstone in a larger program devoted to genocide studies or may constitute a unit within a wider curriculum including art literature ethics history religious studies jurisprudence philosophy theology film studies Jewish studies German studies composition urban studies or architecture It may also constitute a main thread that runs through an interdisciplinary course The first section of Testimony Tensions and Tikkun can be read as an injunction to teach and act in a manner consistent with a profound cautionary message that there can be no tolerance for moral neutrality about the Holocaust and that there is no subject in the humanities or social sciences where its shadow has not reached The second section is devoted to the process and nature of students learning These chapters describe efforts to guide students through terrain that hides cognitive and emotional land mines The authors examine their responsibility to foster students personal connection with the events of the Holocaust but in such a way that they not instill hopelessness about the future The third and final section moves the subject of the Holocaust out of the classroom and into broader institutional settings universities and community colleges and their surrounding communities along with museums and memorial sites For the educators represented here teaching itself is testimony The story of the Holocaust is one that the world will fail to master at its own peril The editors of this volume and many of its contributors are members of the Pastora Goldner Holocaust Symposium Led since its founding in 1996 by Leonard Grob and Henry F Knight the symposium s scholars a group that is interfaith international interdisciplinary and intergenerational meet biennially in Oxfordshire England

Teaching the Shoah Zev Garber, Kenneth L. Hanson, 2022-11-16 Today more than 80 years after the Holocaust Shoah the events surrounding Hitler s campaign of murder have not receded into the distance but remain memorialized in multiple venues both scholarly and popular This volume is an anthological collection of essays and creative pieces showcasing the pedagogical issues related to the Nazi genocide It addresses the field of Shoah education featuring new and novel ways to promote awareness of the reality of the genocide as well as an understanding of the instrumentalities both philosophical and physical which drove and concretized it In addition to serious academic contributions this volume features a play a short story and a discussion of the use of educational video in an online environment It provides insight into the overarching question how can and should the Shoah be taught and what approaches can be utilized in sharing the most important lessons of this most unspeakable example of ethnic cleansing in human history
