Women, Gender, and History Education Marie-Hélène Brunet, Kristina R. Llewellyn, Rose Fine-Meyer, 2024-11-07 This is the first edited collection to focus on women gender and history education in Canada The aim of this edited collection is threefold to offer a historical analysis of women and gender in K 12 teaching and learning of history to provide an examination of women and gender in relation to contemporary pedagogy curriculum and resources in K 12 history education and teacher education and to explore the future of history education when informed by intersectional feminism and gender theory Readers are introduced to the ways in which women s historical narratives have been repeatedly marginalized despite the efforts of feminist activists and educators This collection is the beginning of a long overdue conversation about women and gender in how we teach and learn about the past

Country Schoolwomen Kathleen Weiler, 1998 Focusing on the lives and work of women teachers in two rural California counties from 1850 to 1950 Country Schoolwomen explores the social context of teaching seeking to understand what teaching meant to women teachers what it provided them and how it shaped their categories of experience The women we meet in this study taught in isolated one and two room schoolhouses and in the migrant schools of the Depression years many of them witnessed the profound upheavals brought about by the two world wars Through the lens of their lives the author examines the growth of state control over schools the irrevocable impact of powerful economic and political changes on small town life and the patterns of racism that have divided California from the time of the earliest European settlement This study challenges a number of assumptions about the lives and work of women teachers It is often assumed for example that the work of women in schools has always been controlled by men that education has with rare exceptions remained a patriarchal space in which women care for children in classrooms while men hold positions of authority define issues and set policy Country Schoolwomen introduces us to a network of women educators who occupied positions of power at the state level who supported one another and who defined an alternative far more positive image of the woman teacher The work of these women put forth a vision of classroom teaching as a serious and stimulating profession And for many of the women in this study teaching clearly did provide material resources and intellectual satisfaction The historical record thus suggests that rather than signaling their subjugation teaching has afforded women a potential source of power it has offered them respect autonomy and financial independence But women have had to struggle not always successfully to claim this potential which male educators have often sought to deny or disregard In addition both university experts and local communities have persisted in viewing classroom teaching as women s work and have consequently been slow to acknowledge competing perspectives on the profession This study ultimately reveals then not a homogeneous tradition but a dense ideological landscape one in which representations of the woman teacher were often caught among contradictory and contested visions

Teaching 20th-century European History Robert Stradling,2001-01-01 Produced for the Council of Europe project Learning and teaching about the history of Europe in the 20th century this book concentrates on the how rather than the what of teaching Besides a study of selected themes and topics it covers the teaching of sensitive issues the reading of visual archives analysing history on television and the Internet and assessing new technologies Some of these new sources have not been made part of standard teacher training yet they have a powerful role in the way young people perceive the past The author is a Senior Research Fellow at Leirsinn Research Centre University of Highlands and Islands Millennium Institute

Discovering Women's History Deirdre Beddoe,2018-10-08 The highly practical guide introduces the reader to the main areas of British women s history education work family life sexuality and politics After an introduction to each topic detailed commentary is provided on a range of primary source material together with advice on further reading For the new edition the author has written a brand new chapter on how to choose a dissertation subject and the pitfalls to avoid Baby and Her Long Way Evelyn Eisenhardt,Connecticut Historical Society,1986 Writing Women's History Karen M. Offen,Ruth Roach Pierson,Jane Rendall,1991-08-23 Five essays address such themes as the relationship between feminist history and women s history the use of the concept of experience the development of the history of gender demographic history and women s history and the importance of post structuralism to women s history
