Understanding and Teaching Reading Emerald Dechant, 2013-09-13 In the words of Aldous Huxley Every man who knows how to read has it in his power to magnify himself to multiply the ways in which he exists to make his life full significant and interesting Few people question the value of reading in fact most extol its virtues As our culture becomes more complex reading plays an increasingly greater role in satisfying personal needs and in promoting social awareness and growth In the last 20 years the teaching of this invaluable skill has focused so intensely on comprehension and prediction from context that it has lost sight of the significance of automaticity and fluency in the word identification process Reading is a synthesis of word recognition and comprehension thus this text is about these basic processes and their integration A common plea from teachers today is that research and psychology be translated into teaching behavior Therefore the aim of this book is twofold one to identify report organize and discuss those bits of data research and theory that are most relevant to the teacher's understanding of the reading process and two to help educators to interpret and apply theory and research data to everyday classroom teaching as well as to the problems encountered frequently in developmental and remedial teaching The Nature of Vocabulary Acquisition M. G. McKeown, M. E. Curtis, 2014-04-04 First published in 1987 The purpose of this volume has been to move beyond a collection of the most recent studies in the area of vocabulary learning The contributors and researchers who although they may differ in their views on vocabulary acquisition and instruction acknowledge that many of the same questions motivate their work These questions and the way they have addressed have been included in order to emphasize these underlying commonalities with the hope the relationships among contrasting perspectives will become more apparent

Reading for Meaning Barbara M. Taylor, Michael F. Graves, Paulus Willem van den Broek, 2000 Reading comprehension is of great concern to many Americans as evidenced by the mandate in most states today for graduation standards in reading and for assessments aligned to those standards This book focuses on what has been learned from research about fostering reading comprehension in the middle grades providing a broad overview of current educational and psychological research about effective strategies for teaching reading to middle grade students Following an introduction by the editors essays in the book are as follows 1 The Mind in Action What It Means to Comprehend during Reading Paul van den Broeck and Kathleen E Kremer 2 Comprehension Instruction in Elementary School A Quarter Century of Research Progress Michael Pressley 3 Explicit and Implicit Instruction in Comprehension Janice A Dole 4 Balancing Literature and Instruction Lessons from the Book Club Project Taffy E Raphael 5 Building Student Capacity to Work Productively during Peer Assisted Reading Activities Lynn S Fuchs and Douglas Fuchs 6 A Vocabulary Program to Complement and Bolster a Middle Grade Comprehension Program Michael F Graves 7 Classroom Talk about Texts Is It Dear Cheap or a Bargain at Any Price Donna E Alvermann 8 Literacy Lessons Derived from the Instruction of Six Latina Latino Teachers Robert T Jimenez and 9 Beyond Balance Goal Awareness Developmental Progressions Tailoring to the Context and Supports for Teachers in Ideal Reading and Literacy Programs Jere Brophy NKA

Handbook of Reading Disability Research Anne McGill-Franzen, Richard L. Allington, 2010-09-17 Bringing together a wide range of research on reading disabilities this comprehensive Handbook extends current discussion and thinking beyond a narrowly defined psychometric perspective Emphasizing that learning to read proficiently is a long term developmental process involving many interventions of various kinds all keyed to individual developmental needs it addresses traditional questions What is the nature or causes of reading disabilities How are reading disabilities assessed How should reading disabilities be remediated To what extent is remediation possible but from multiple or alternative perspectives Taking incursions into the broader research literature represented by linguistic and anthropological paradigms as well as psychological and educational research the volume is on the front line in exploring the relation of reading disability to learning and language to poverty and prejudice and to instruction and schooling The editors and authors are distinguished scholars with extensive research experience and publication records and numerous honors and awards from professional organizations representing the range of disciplines in the field of reading disabilities Throughout their contributions are contextualized within the framework of educators struggling to develop concrete instructional practices that meet the learning needs of the lowest achieving readers

Learning From Text Across Conceptual Domains Cynthia R. Hynd, 2013-12-16 This volume is an attempt to synthesize the understandings we have about reading to learn Although learning at all ages is discussed in this volume the main focus is on middle and high school classrooms critical spaces of learning and thinking The amount of knowledge presented in written form is increasing and the information we get from texts is often conflicting We are in a knowledge explosion that leaves us reeling and may effectively disenfranchise those who are not keeping up There has never been a more crucial time for students to understand learn from and think critically about the information in various forms of text Thus understanding what it means to learn is vital for all educators Learning from text is a complex matter that includes student factors social ethnic and cultural differences as well as varying motivations self perceptions goals and needs instructional and teacher factors and disciplinary and social factors One important goal of the book is to encourage practicing teachers to learn to consider their students in new ways to see them as being influenced by and as influencing not just the classroom but the total fabric of the disciplines they are learning Equally important it is intended to foster further research efforts from local studies of classrooms by teachers to large scale studies that produce generalizable understandings about learning from text This volume a result of the editor s and contributors work with the National Reading Research Center will be of interest to all researchers graduate students practicing teachers and teachers in training who are interested in understanding the issues that are central to improving students learning from text
