Teaching And Learning At A Distance Foundation Of Distance Education:

Teaching and Learning at a Distance Michael Simonson, Susan M. Zvacek, Sharon Smaldino, 2019-07-01 Teaching and Learning at a Distance is written for introductory distance education courses for preservice or in service teachers and for training programs that discuss teaching distant learners or managing distance education systems This text provides readers with the basic information needed to be knowledgeable distance educators and leaders of distance education programs The teacher or trainer who uses this book will be able to distinguish between appropriate uses of distance education In this text we take the following themes The first theme is the definition of distance education Before we started writing the first edition of Teaching and Learning at a Distance we carefully reviewed the literature to determine the definition that would be at the foundation of our writing This definition is based on the work of Desmond Keegan but is unique to this book This definition of distance education has been adopted by the Association for Educational Communications and Technology and by the Encyclopedia Britannica The second theme of the book was the importance of research to the development of the contents of the book The best practices presented in Teaching and Learning at a Distance are validated by scientific evidence Certainly there are rules of thumb but we have always attempted to only include recommendations that can be supported by research The third theme of Teaching and Learning at a Distance is derived from Richard Clark s famous quote published in the Review of Educational Research that states that media are mere vehicles that do not directly influence achievement Clark s controversial work is discussed in the book but is also fundamental to the book s advocacy for distance education in other words we authors did not make the claim that education delivered at a distance was inherently better than other ways people learn Distance delivered instruction is not a magical approach that makes learners achieve more The fourth theme of the book is equivalency theory Here we presented the concept that instruction should be provided to learners that is equivalent rather than identical to what might be delivered in a traditional environment Equivalency theory helps the instructional designer approach the development of instruction for each learner without attempting to duplicate what happens in a face to face classroom The final theme for Teaching and Learning at a Distance is the idea that the book should be comprehensive that it should cover as much of the various ways instruction is made available to distant learners as is possible It should be a single source of information about the field

University Sprache Deutsch Abstract This text presents the long journey of Distance Education a journey that started from the creation and development of postal services in Europe the Era of correspondence learning Then the introduction of multi media in the 1920s as the second generation of distance learning The third Generation of E Learning appeared with the wide spreads of the computer and the internet at the beginning of the twenty first century In order to better serve the clientele of e learning some scholars among whom Charles Graham invented what they called the seven principles for the effective online teaching and the evaluation of online courses We confronted those principles with the instruction method in use at AIU a non traditional university and we discovered that two of the seven principles that work with traditional online universities are not applicable to AIU a non traditional university We recommended the authors of the seven principles to re examine their study taking into account the specific learning needs of self regulated learners as well as the innovations in use at AIU We ended with some suggestions to other online universities to better serve their clientele by adapting if not adopting the system in use at AIU for the predicted glorious victory of e learning over traditional campus learning is dependent on the constant improvement of e learning

Otto Peters on Distance Education Desmond Keegan, 2013-10-28 Otto Peters is widely recognised as one of the world's leading authorities on distance education His theory of distance education as the most industrialized form of education is the most original and far reaching analysis of distance education yet produced This book brings together the best of Peters work most of which has not been previously available in the English language Drawing on German sociologists and philosophers of education from Weber and Tonnies to Heimann and Schultz Peters builds up an impressive analysis of the advantages and defects of the industrialization of education The essays in this collection cover the historical development of teaching and learning at a distance from the correspondence schools of the 1950s through to distance education in the post industrial societies of today The book also includes a fascinating account of Peters central role in the foundation and running of the FernUniversität the German Open University
