Knowledge, Control and Critical Thinking in Singapore Leonel Lim, 2015-09-07 This book examines how critical thinking is regulated in Singapore through the process of what the influential sociologist of education Basil Bernstein termed pedagogic recontextualization. The ability of critical thinking to speak to alternative possibilities and individual autonomy as well as its assumptions of a liberal arrangement of society is problematized in Singapore's socio-political climate. By examining how such curricular discourses are taken up and enacted in the classrooms of two schools that cater to very different groups in society, the book foregrounds the role of traditional high status knowledge in the elaboration of class formation and develops a critical understanding of post-developmental state initiatives linked to the parable of modernization in Singapore. Knowledge Control and Critical Thinking in Singapore offers chapters on Critical Thinking and the Singapore State, Meritocracy, Illiberalism and Neoliberalism, Sacred Knowledge and Elite Dispositions, Recontextualizing Critical Thinking in an Elite School, Power, Knowledge and Symbolic Control, Official Pedagogic Identities and the Politics of Recontextualization. This book will appeal to scholars in comparative education studies, curriculum studies and education reform. It will also interest scholars engaged in Asian studies who are struggling to understand issues of education policy formation and implementation, particularly in the areas of critical thinking and other knowledge skills.

Chapter authors bring diverse professional experiences to the questions at hand, offering readers multiple perspectives from which to delve into well-informed discussions about social studies education in past, present and future policy contexts. Collectively, their commentaries aim to inspire challenge and ultimately strengthen readers' beliefs about the place of social studies in present and future education policy environments.

Grassroots Organizing for K-12 Asian American Studies Sohyun An, Theresa Alviar-Martin, 2024-07-10. This edited book captures Asian American grassroots organizing in Georgia through counterstorytelling. Rooted in Critical Race Theory and traditions of narrative inquiry, counterstorytelling in educational research seeks to challenge dominant narratives by centering marginalized communities' experiences and perspectives as sources of valuable knowledge. By employing Asian-Crit, global citizenship education, human rights and liberatory postcolonial education as theoretical lenses, the editors of this book interrupt essentialized portrayals of Asian Americans by featuring stories of Asian American students, parents and educators who are fighting for Asian American Studies and Ethnic Studies in K-12 schools in Georgia. Their stories capture common as well as divergent experiences of being Asian American in the South and illuminate possibilities, challenges and complexity of grassroots organizing for Asian American studies and ethnic studies in the South.
