Teaching To Transcend Educating Women Against Violence:

Teaching to Transcend Cheryl L. Sattler, 2000 Teaching to Transcend explores a particular kind of safe space for the education of women domestic violence shelters Women in shelters are literally taught concepts from self worth to financial management parenting and feminist values of equality and rights They also learn more subtly through counseling interaction and affirmation of their own stories and survival The ways in which women in shelters are educated are based upon the concepts of feminist pedagogy such as intent listening empowering voice and radical social action Teaching to Transcend expands both the concept of feminist spaces and feminist pedagogy and our understanding of the connections between education and politics particularly the political economy of social knowledge and non school based education spaces

White Scholars/African American Texts Lisa A. Long, 2005 Funny painful and disturbing by turns this absolutely necessary volume powerfully engages readers in passionate debates about the place of the non African American teacher of African American literature Maureen Reddy coeditor of Race in the College Classroom Pedagogy and Politics What makes someone an authority What makes one person's knowledge more credible than another's In the ongoing debates over racial authenticity some attest that we can know each other's experiences simply because we are all human while others assume a more skeptical stance insisting that racial differences create unbridgeable gaps in knowledge Bringing new perspectives to these perennial questions the essays in this collection explore the many difficulties created by the fact that white scholars greatly outnumber black scholars in the study and teaching of African American literature Contributors including some of the most prominent theorists in the field as well as younger scholars examine who is speaking what is being spoken and what is not and why framing African American literature in terms of an exclusive black white racial divide is problematic and limiting In highlighting the whiteness of some African Americanists the collection does not imply that the teaching or understanding of black literature by white scholars is definitively impossible Indeed such work is not only possible but imperative Instead the essays aim to open a much needed public conversation about the real and pressing challenges that white scholars face in this type of work as well as the implications of how these challenges are met
