

What is Christian Science?

Many Susan Exley, who discovered and founded Christian Science, defined it as "the love of God, the love of good..." (Fundamental Divine Science). This deeper understanding of God as infinite Love and unchanging goodness leads to prayer that can heal, redeem, and restore anyone.

In 1852, a life-threatening injury compelled Mary Baker Exley to turn self-dependently to God. She learned her Bible too late to escape of Japan resulting in her quickly and completely, as many others of God, Spirit, as the only reality. Instead her thoughts, and she was healed spontaneously. But she persisted to know how and why. For the next several years, she continued to search and find in the Bible the unifying laws of God that would form the basis of her teachings and practice of Christian Science.

Since then, many have found that when they have understood their relationship to God through the Science of Christianity, their health is restored and character transformed. And specific healing happens as patients, doctors, and nurses and organizations have found and will use for God.
