Technical Transformation Of Agriculture In Communist China:

Technical Transformation of Agriculture in Communist China Leslie Tse-chiu Kuo, 1967 Leslie T.C. Kuo. The technical transformation of agriculture in Communist China Leslie Tse-ch'iu Kuo, 1972 China's Agricultural Modernization On Kit Tam, 2023-08-01 Originally published in 1985 this study investigates the actual experience in mechanization during the Fourth Five Year Plan period a period which represented in many ways a new stage in China's rural development It examines the historical perspective and the development approach under which mechanization efforts were exerted during this 5 year period and the mechanism outcomes and problems these entailed The book addresses the issues involved in agricultural development and mechanization through a more integral analysis of the way technological transformation has been linked to China's quest for social and economic development Agricultural Transition in China Jun Du, 2018-05-07 This book extends current research on the political economy of modern China with particular regard to agricultural development and its role in economic transition It uses Neoclassical principles to re-interpret agricultural growth and technological change under complex market institutions with empirical studies on China and selected East Asian economies The text also questions how technological advances in China contribute to the Great Divergence debate Through a comparative analysis of agricultural technical changes in the planting of rice paddies in Japan Taiwan and China Du finds that different market institutions and structures have given rise to considerable diversity of agricultural change between different economies in terms of the nature timing and duration of technological transition Such diversification has in turn affected the trajectories of agricultural and wider economic growth Here Du reflects on the nature of contemporary Chinese economic development and extends observations on agricultural transition to the entirety of Asia finding that the nature timing and time span of agriculture technology transitions have varied considerably across different economies Technology, Politics, And Society In China Rudi Volti, 2019-07-11 This study is the first to summarize the major technological policies implemented in China since 1949 and to place them in their social and historical context Dr Volti looks at technological change in China as part of a broader process of economic political cultural and organizational change focusing primarily on four key areas agriculture energy ground transportation and medicine and public health He emphasizes how technological change has been shaped by political and ideological structures notes how China's unique cultural heritage has affected adoption of technologies developed outside China and assesses China's success in developing technologies appropriate to its specific needs as an economically and politically developing nation He draws on interviews with technicians engaged in the transfer of technology to China as well as extensive primary source materials Economic Information on Communist China, 1961 Food Production in the People's Republic of China Anthony M. Tang, Bruce Stone, 1980 Abstract A population of one billion people has the potential for enormous impact on the world food supply but demographic and food production data for the People's Republic of China have been difficult to obtain In an effort to fill this gap two papers are presented which attempt to synthesize and analyze as much information as is available and make predictions of probable trends in agriculture and related fields in the year 2000 and for the 1985 grain program Records from 1952-77 are used to estimate cultivated land animals energy consumption farm machinery fertilizer and output of grains soybeans and cotton The effects of industrialization and resources are considered Trends are toward population control although total demand will continue to grow emphasis on agriculture seems to indicate that production will be capable of keeping up with demand may result in some dietary improvement but will not provide for emergency supplies Translations on Communist China's Food and Agriculture United States. Joint Publications Research Service,1964 Translations on Communist China's Agriculture, Animal Husbandry and Materials United States. Joint Publications Research Service,1963 Agricultural Instability in China, 1931-1990 Y. Y. Kueh,1995-05-18 China is particularly dependent upon her agricultural surplus for financing her ambitious industrialization programme but the performance of the agricultural sector of the economy has been extremely unstable throughout the twentieth century Professor Kueh provides a scholarly and authoritative account of this vital part of the Chinese economy during the period 1931-1990 based upon detailed statistical data and other sources of material Professor Kueh has achieved a unique analysis of the interrelationships between natural economic and institutional factors which lie at the heart of China's agricultural performance He describes policy changes technological advances and natural factors such as climactic conditions and distinguishes the effect of each factor in the varying level of agricultural production The strength of this book lies not only in its collection and analysis of data but in the innovative methodological process used including the construction of a weather index which will be invaluable not only for Chinese studies scholars but also for those wishing to undertake similar work for other countries Farmland, Farming and Food in the National Economy of China, 1947 - 2020 Jane Du,2024-11-29 This book presents a concise yet detailed analysis of China's agricultural economy and food security in historical perspective The book begins with an overview of China's socialist economic transition and Deng Xiaoping's reforms with an emphasis on agricultural economy and food production before discussing China's food industry and security in more recent years Combining accessible qualitative interpretations with a rich data set the author analyses the transitions and evolving policies in China's agricultural production and shows how these are essential for understanding contemporary food security challenges in the country Covering topics including food imports and supply dietary changes international trade policies and other geopolitical factors impacting food security the book presents new insights into the interplay between domestic and international systems Bridging gaps between historical understanding and contemporary policy relevance this book will be useful reading for researchers in varied disciplines including economic history agricultural economics China's economy and economic development Dr. Kuo's Publication of "the Technical Transformation of Agriculture in Communist China" National Agricultural Library (U.S.),1972 External Research. ER List United States. Department of State. External Research Division,1965 Foreign Agricultural Economic Report

,1974 The Political Economy of Chinese Development Mark Selden,1993 An assessment of the economic performance and social consequences of China s political economy over four decades with a focus on China s countryside and city countryside relations This second edition includes a new chapter The Social Origins and Limits of the Chinese Democratic Movement Asia ... United States. Department of State. External Research Division,1964 External Research ,1964 China, a Reassessment of the Economy United States. Congress. Joint Economic Committee,1975

Agricultural Libraries Information Notes ,1977 Land Reform Russell King,2019-03-13 This book lays down some general themes and principles in the study of land reform and traces the historical evolution of the concept of land reform It constitutes a continent based country by country survey of the significant recent reforms in the less developed countries
