Techniques Et Ressources En Iran Du 7e Au 19e Sicle:

Techniques et ressources en Iran Parviz Mohebbi, 1996 Peeters 1996 History of Paper in Iran, 1501-1925 Willem Floor, Amélie Courvat Desvergnés, 2022-10-04 The Chinese invented papermaking which by the 8th century had reached the Muslim world in Samarkand and Baghdad and Spain by the 11th century Much later at the end of the 18th century onwards modern industrial papermaking was developed by the Europeans The History of Paper in Iran 1501 to 1925 sets out for the reader the types of paper made in Iran during the Safavid and Qajar periods and the crucial role imported paper played in the country The Iranian government attempted to introduce modern European paper production technology first by sending students abroad to learn about this technology and then by purchasing equipment to set up a paper industry However during the 19th century domestic Iranian paper production came under increasing pressure from paper imports and the government abandoned its efforts to modernize the domestic paper industry The authors renowned scholar Willem Floor in collaboration with Amélie Courvat Desvergnés a museum conservator of artworks on paper and books identify and illustrate the watermarks and or countermarks of the various paper producers and provide examples of the diversity of quality composition and nature of the different types of paper used by various strata of the Iranian society Also provided are detailed import data showing which country exported paper to Iran via which routes as well as their changing market position over time Finally the various end uses of paper from books and farmans to paintings and diverse packing and utilitarian paper are examined and where possible quantified data are presented This book will reward scholars and general readers alike History of Glass and Ceramics in Iran, 1500-1925 Willem Floor, This comprehensive and richly detailed study by renowned scholar Willem Floor is the culmination of what is known about domestic glass and ceramic production location quality craftsmen in Iran from 1500 until the end of the Qajar period in 1925 Because of increasing imports the Qajar government tried to improve domestic glass and ceramic techniques through transfer of technology once through direct foreign investment The reasons for these failed attempts are discussed as well as the development of the import of glass and ceramic products Over time there was not only a change in the places of origin of glass and ceramic imports but also in their volume and composition which during the Qajar period included a large variety of cheap articles for mass consumption There is an appendix for each chapter giving a market assessment for glass and ceramic production in Iran written in French by Belgian consultants in 1891 The Belgian assessments offer a detailed chemical analysis of glass and ceramics made in Iran as well as an inventory of the types of glassware and ceramics made by domestic craftsmen It concludes with proposals for the establishment of a modern glass and ceramic factory in Iran This superb body of research will not only be of great interest to Iranian scholars inside and outside the country but also to everyone interested in the story of glass and ceramics throughout the world Piety and Politics in Qajar Iran Nahid Massoumeh Assemi, 2024-03-21 The Takkiyya Muavin al Mulk is a building complex in the city of Kermanshah in western Iran dedicated to the annual commemoration of the martyrdom of

Husayn ibn Ali at the Battle of Karbala in 680 an event of seminal significance to Shi'i Islam Private takkiyyas built by social elites were a phenomenon of the Qajar period with their construction motivated by a political quest for legitimacy This book examines the intersection of art and architecture popular piety and the politics of legitimation Through an examination of the building and its decorative programme it addresses issues of patronage Shi'i iconography and popular religious practices during the early 20th century in Iran It further argues for the role of takkiyyas in creation of a sense of community and group identity the formative stage of the emergent idea of nationhood at the time amongst those who frequented them Studies in Medieval Islamic Technology Donald R. Hill, 2020-10-07 These studies represent the major contributions to the history of Islamic technology during the second half of the 20th century beside Donald Hill's separate publications on the mechanical devices of Pseudo Apollonios the Banu Musa and al Jazari A gifted linguist who was trained as a historian of Islamic civilisation and also a professional engineer Hill achieved his goal of setting his subject on a solid basis The papers reprinted here include his early studies of the trebuchet and the camel and horse several overviews of different aspects of Islamic technology articles on specific topics such as the Cairo Nilometer and al Biruni's geared luni solar device and the first notice of an extremely important Andalusian treatise on mechanical devices discovered in 1975 The Archaeology of Elam D.

T. Potts, 2016 This book examines the formation and transformation of Elam's many identities through both archaeological and written evidence It brings to life one of the most important regions of ancient Western Asia re-evaluates its significance and places it in the context of the most recent archaeological and historical scholarship The Safavid World Rudi Matthee, 2021-07-21 The Safavid World brings together thirty chapters on many aspects of the complex Safavid state 1501-1722 With the latest insights and arguments some offer overviews of the period or topic at hand and others present new interpretations of old questions based on newly found sources In addition to political history and religious life the chapters in this volume cover economic conditions commercial links and activities social relations and artistic expressions They do so in ways that stretch both the temporal and geographical perimeters of the subject and contributors also examine Safavid Iran with an eye to both its Mongol and Timurid antecedents and its long afterlife following the fall of the dynasty Unlike traditional scholarship which tended to view the country as unique sui generis and barely affected by the outside world The Safavid World situates Iran in a wider regional or global context Examining the Safavids from their foundations in the fourteenth century to their relations with the rest of the world in the eighteenth century this study is essential reading for undergraduates postgraduates and scholars of the Safavid world and the history and culture of Iran and the Middle East

Timurids in Transition Maria Subtelny, 2007-08-30 How did the descendants of Tamerlane collectively known as the Timurids make the transition from a nomadic empire to a sedentary polity based on the Perso-Islamic model and what effect did the process of transition have on their Turko-Mongolian customs and identity This volume seeks to answer these questions by utilizing the Weberian concepts of the routinization of charismatic authority and the patrimonial household state

Focusing on the period of the last Timurid ruler Sulayman Bayqara 1469-1506 the author examines the impact of the introduction of Persian modes of bureaucratic administration on the evolution of Timurid government and describes the development of the agrarian economy of the eastern Iranian province of Khorasan through the Islamic institution of the pious endowment. Based on an exceptionally broad range of sources in Persian, Arabic and Turkic languages the book provides a new paradigm for understanding the Timurids within the framework of post-Mongol history and offers fresh insights into Turko-Persian relations and the problem of acculturation in medieval Iran. Robbing Yadullah's water to irrigate Saeid's garden: Hydrology and water rights in a village of Central Iran Molle, François, Mamanpoush, A., Miranzadeh, M., 2004. This report provides a case study from the province of Esfahan in central Iran describing the struggle of a village to secure the water resources without which local agriculture and altogether life in the village would be impossible. It illustrates the endless ingenuity of farmers in their quest for water how land and water rights have developed how various legal repertoires may conflict with one another and how the intervention of the state transformed the wider hydrological cycle of the valley and affected the delicate equilibrium between population and resources that had prevailed until then. The report estimates the costs of accessing one cubic meter from each of these different sources and shows how political interventions or drought mitigation policies elicit solutions that are extremely costly. Traditional Crafts in Qajar Iran (1800-1925) Willem M.

Floor, 2003. Capitalisms Kaveh Yazdani, Dilip M. Menon, 2020-01-02. Conventional accounts often conceive the genesis of capitalism in Europe within the conjunctures of agricultural, commercial and industrial revolutions. Challenging this widely believed cliché this volume traces the history of capitalism across civilizations tenth century onwards and argues that capitalism was neither a monolithic entity nor exclusively an economic phenomenon confined to the West. Looking at regions as diverse as England, South America, Russia, North Africa and East, South West and Southeast Asia the book explores the plurality of developments across time and space. The chapters analyse aspects such as historical conjunctures, commodity production and distribution, circulation of knowledge and personnel and the role of mercantile capital, small producers and force all the while stressing the necessity to think beyond present day national boundaries. The book argues that the multiple histories of capitalism can be better understood from a trans-regional, intercontinental and interconnected perspective.

Time in Early Modern Islam Stephen P. Blake, 2013-02-11. The prophet Muhammad and the early Islamic community radically redefined the concept of time that they had inherited from earlier religions, beliefs and practices. This new temporal system based on a lunar calendar and era was complex and required sophistication and accuracy. From the ninth to the sixteenth centuries it was the Muslim astronomers of the Ottoman, Safavid and Mughal empires who were responsible for the major advances in mathematics, astronomy and astrology. This fascinating study compares the Islamic concept of time and its historical and cultural significance across these three great empires. Each empire while mindful of earlier models created a new temporal system fashioning a new solar calendar and era and a new round of rituals and ceremonies from the cultural resources at hand This book contributes to our understanding of the Muslim temporal system and our appreciation of the influence of Islamic science on the Western world World-maps for Finding the Direction and Distance to Mecca David King, 2021-09-06 Two remarkable Iranian world maps were discovered in 1989 and 1995 Both are made of brass and date from 17th century Iran Mecca is at the centre and a highly sophisticated longitude and latitude grid enables the user to determine the direction and distance to Mecca for anywhere in the world between Andalusia and China Prior to the discovery of these maps it was thought that such cartographic grids were conceived in Europe ca 1910 This richly illustrated book presents an overview of the ways in which Muslims over the centuries have determined the sacred direction towards Mecca qibla and then describes the two world maps in detail The author shows that the geographical data derives from a 15th century Central Asian source and that the mathematics underlying the grid was developed in 9th century Baghdad

Persian Prose Bo Utas, 2021-07-01 Volume V of A History of Persian Literature presents a broad survey of Persian prose from biographical historiographical and didactic prose to scientific manuals and works of popular prose fiction It analyzes the rhetorical devices employed by writers in different periods in their philosophical and political discourse or when their aim is primarily to entertain rather than to instruct the chapters describe different techniques used to transform old stories and familiar tales into novel versions to entice their audience Many of the texts in prose cited in the volume share a wealth of common lore and literary allusions with Persian poetry Prose and poetry frequently appear on the same page in tandem In different ways therefore this creative interplay demonstrates the perennial significance of intertextuality from the earliest times to the present and help us in the process to further our understanding and enhance our enjoyment of Persian literature in its different manifestations throughout history

Colonialism, Institutional Change, and Shifts in Global Labour Relations Karin Hofmeester, Pim Zwart, 2025-10-01 This book offers a view of shifts in labour relations in various parts of the world over a breathtaking span from 1500 to 2000 with a particular emphasis on colonial institutions How did growing demand for colonial commodities affect labour in the Global South How did colonial interference with land and labour markets affect developments in labour relations And what were the effects of the introduction of colonial currencies The contributors to this volume answer those questions and more combining global perspectives with impressively detailed case studies

Agriculture in Qajar Iran Willem M. Floor, 2003 Agriculture was the mainstay of Iran's economy in the nineteenth century yet little is known about it Historians have rarely taken that important reality into account when writing on the economic or social history of that period and until now there have been no comprehensive studies of Iranian agriculture Now in Agriculture in Qajar Iran renowned scholar Willem Floor has compiled an all encompassing analysis of nineteenth century Iranian agriculture based on extensive research into previously untapped Persian and European archives Floor presents farming in Iran from the ground up and in its every dimension His investigation covers farming methods like irrigation and seeding the raising of livestock and the range of crops cultivated from wheat barley and rice to the more notorious cash crops of tobacco and opium Floor also delves into methods of forestry and fishing subjects about which very little is known and even less has been written until now Agriculture in Qajar Iran traces the commercialisation of Iranian farming and explains how this process altered the structure of Iran's economy The change included the rise in cash crops the growth of wage labor the rise in off farm employment and the market economy's growing influence in the countryside Floor also highlights the importance of trade within this burgeoning system and gauges the impact of the commercialisation of agriculture on the rural population's socioeconomic status
