The Birds Of Moray Nairn:

The Birds of Moray and Nairn Martin Cook, 1992 THE BIRDS OF MORAY & NAIRN THEIR STATUS AND WHERE TO FIND THEM. , 2023 Birds In Counties: An Ornithological Bibliography Of The Counties Of England, Wales, Scotland And The Isle Of Man David K Ballance, 2000-05-05 This is an ornithological bibliography for the counties of England Wales and Scotland and for the Isle of Man It includes all known books pamphlets and papers which contain substantial studies of the birds of local areas from a county down to a back garden or a gravel pit Each county has an introduction on its boundaries and the history of its ornithology There has been no comprehensive national publication of this kind since Mullens Swann and Jourdain s Geographical Bibliography in 1920 The volume also provides a detailed record of the many county and local bird reports and of the ever increasing number of area surveys produced by statutory and voluntary bodies The material is arranged by the pre 1974 counties and takes the record up to 1995 There are maps to show the many changes in county boundaries since 1800 The book will be a standard reference work for libraries and collectors and for anyone interested in the rich and diverse development of local ornithology in its homeland The Birds of Scotland Evelyn Vida Baxter, Leonora Jeffrey Rintoul, 1953 The Raven Derek Ratcliffe, 2010-01-31 The Raven presents a summary of knowledge of its natural history describing its distribution feeding habits association with other animals and breeding The Raven is one of the most spectacular and romantic of British birds but relatively neglected in the modern literature of ornithology Derek Ratcliffe here presents a thorough summary of our knowledge of its natural history emphasizing the long association of the bird with humankind The place of the Raven in myth legend and history is long established and this book describes the bird s fall from grace as a valued scavenger in medieval cities to a persecuted outcast in the modern wilds The previous wide occurrence of Ravens is reviewed against the relationships between their present distribution status and habitat requirements as both a nesting and a non breeding resident The dependence of Ravens on carrion especially sheep within an omnivorous diet is the key to the species ecology and its social behaviour has evolved in close relation to this lifestyle The flocking and communal roosting of non breeders are major features of Raven behaviour while their nesting habits emphasise the territorial nature of breeding birds and their adaptation to secure but harsh environments Raven numbers vary in relation to their food supply local populations adjusting accordingly although the precise mechanism involved is still obscure Ravens have a considerable capacity for recolonising old haunts when suitable conditions are restored as well as exploiting new areas where the habitat becomes favourable and there are local success stories to tell Nationwide however the species position is delicately balanced and depends on both sympathetic land management practices and improving attitudes to Ravens as friends not foe Worldwide Ravens are one of the most successful of all bird groups occurring over a large part of the northern hemisphere and replaced in some southern and tropical regions by other raven species which exploit the familiar raven niche in their own environments The discussion of the northern hemisphere species is enlivened by reference to other species where useful

Finally the Raven's age old reputation for high intelligence is weighed critically against the available evidence. Today Ravens carry a new omen in the modern world as a barometer of goodwill to wildlife. Like those in the Tower of London the continued existence of Ravens in our wild countryside will reveal something about both our current situation and our prospects for the future. The text is brought to life through wonderful illustrations by Chris Rose. The Birds of the British Isles David Armitage Bannerman, 1953. Birds in Scotland Valerie M. Thom, 2010-11-30. The most important work on the birds of Scotland ever published. British Birds. This comprehensive study and review of the birds in Scotland follows on from where the celebrated two volumes of The Birds of Scotland 1953 by Dr Baxter and Miss Rintoul left off. It does more than that however since not only has there been a profound increase in ornithological coverage and data as reflected in the species accounts there have also been great changes in habitat and environment since the days of Baxter there are also brief summaries of earlier data based on the researches of Baxter Rintoul. In all 497 species are dealt with. The texts of major species accounts are complemented by 173 distribution maps and many tables of relevant data and there are 129 species drawings by a team of artists under the editorship of Donald Watson who also contributes chapter head pieces and other drawings. A section of photographs illustrates the varied habitats typical of Scotland today. There are further appendices and an extensive bibliography. The book will be of great interest to all birdwatchers in Scotland but of special value too to the many thousands of birdwatching visitors from elsewhere in these islands and from countries abroad. The Scottish Ornithologists Club for whom the book is published and all whose records and researches made the author's work possible have reason to be proud of Valerie Thom's achievement. The Birds of the British Isles: Ciconiidae, phoenicopteridae, ardeidae, anatidae (part) David Armitage Bannerman, 1953. The Annals of Scottish Natural History John Alexander Harvie-Brown, James William Helenus Trail, William Eagle Clarke, 1901. The Annals of Scottish Natural History, 1892. Birds in North-East Scotland Then and Now Adam Watson, Ian Francis, 2012. Field observations mainly in the 1940s and comparison with recent records. Adam Watson as a schoolboy made field observations on birds in north east Scotland during the 1940s and early 1950s. These are of special interest because hardly any local ornithologists lived there and his main set of observations is published here for the first time. As well as accounts for all species seen there is detailed information on several species whose status has changed greatly since declines of breeding greenshanks and ring ouzels and rapid increases in the proportions of feral doves and carrion crows. These and other observations form a useful baseline for comparison with what is now being seen and recorded by hundreds of ornithologists living in and visiting the area. Ian Francis came to north east Scotland in the early 1990s and has taken part in many aspects of local ornithology. He was first editor of a major book The Breeding Birds of North East Scotland published in 2011 which documents the current breeding distributions of birds and assesses changes over 40 years allowing a modern perspective on Adam Watson's observations from the mid 1900s. The current book by Adam Watson and Ian Francis Birds in north east Scotland then and now also includes a previously unpublished account of long term research by Adam Watson Rik Smith and Mick Marquiss on summering snow buntings one of the UK s rarest regularly breeding birds

Estuary Birds of Britain and Ireland A.J Prater, 2010-11-30 Estuaries are rightly of great interest and concern to the birdwatcher Most teem with thousands of waders geese ducks gulls and other species that use them at times throughout the year they are also among the last of the wild places left in Britain and Europe The Birds of Estuaries Enquiry sponsored by the Nature Conservancy Council and organised by the BTO RSPB and the Wildfowl Trust spanned six years and Tony Prater s report now provides a detailed insight into the birds which use and in many cases depend on this special habitat Of great interest to birdwatchers the book also will be essential reading for professional conservationists and all involved in the planning and use of estuaries It assesses the importance of each estuary and the distribution and numbers of all species generally present and by setting this in an international framework demonstrates the remarkable importance of the estuaries around these islands Threats to the fabric of the landscape and its wildlife abound and estuaries are not exempt Barrage schemes industrial and agricultural reclamations and many other pressures exist and are the subject of chapters which survey the situation now and in the future The text is graced by John Busby s accomplished and evocative drawings and there are numerous maps and diagrams as well as photographs of typical estuaries Jacket illustration by John Busby
