Theodorakopoulos,2019-10-03 This collection of essays examines the various ways in which the Homeric epics have been responded to reworked and rewritten by women writers of the twentieth and early twenty first centuries Beginning in 1914 with the First World War it charts this understudied strand of the history of Homeric reception over the subsequent century up to the present day analysing the extraordinary responses both to the Odyssey and to the Iliad by women from around the world The backgrounds of these authors and the genres they employ memoir poetry children s literature rap novels testify not only to the plasticity of Homeric epic but also to the widening social classes to whom Homer appeals and it is unsurprising to see the myriad ways in which women writers across the globe have played their part in the story of Homer s afterlife From surrealism to successive waves of feminism to creative futures Homer s footprint can be seen in a multitude of different literary and political movements and the essays in this volume bring an array of critical approaches to bear on the work of authors ranging from H D and Simone Weil to Christa Wolf Margaret Atwood and Kate Tempest Students and scholars of not only classics but also translation studies comparative literature and women s writing will find much to interest them while the volume s concluding reflections by Emily Wilson on her new translation of the Odyssey are an apt reminder to all of just how open a text can be and of how great a difference can be made by a woman s voice Poetry Harriet

Poetry and Revelation Kevin Hart,2017-04-20 Religious poetry has often been regarded as minor poetry and dismissed in large part because poetry is taken to require direct experience whereas religious poetry is taken to be based on faith that is on second or third hand experience The best methods of thinking about experience are given to us by phenomenology Poetry and Revelation is the first study of religious poetry through a phenomenological lens one that works with the distinction between manifestation in which everything is made manifest and revelation in which the mystery is re veiled as well as revealed Providing a phenomenological investigation of a wide range of religious poems some medieval some modern some written in English others written in European languages some from America some from Britain and some from Australia Kevin Hart provides a unique new way of thinking about religious poetry and the nature of revelation itself
