The Bojabi Tree ,1994 In this story from Gabon in big book format for shared reading the animals of the Land of Beasts must remember the name of an enchanted tree in order to end a famine The Bojabi Tree ,1994 In this story from Gabon in big book format for shared reading the animals of the Land of Beasts must remember the name of an enchanted tree in order to end a famine The "Lives" and Writings of Edith Rickert (1871-1938) Christina von Nolcken,2024-06-27 This biography represents a nuanced account of Edith Rickert's life and inner life It follows Rickert's own writing and draws attention to her life as a writer Rickert has been long remembered as a medievalist but she also contributed to American scholarship pedagogy and codicology Born into a family of very modest means in Canal Dover Ohio she numbered among the University of Chicago's earliest doctoral students 1895 1899 and was among the first eight women to reach the top of that University's professorial ladder She prepared what remains the definitive edition of the medieval romance Emar She documented aspects of the medieval as well as Chaucer's life with a historian's accuracy and a novelist's insight In the Ladies Home Journal she wrote on women's issues that remain pressing today With University of Chicago professor John Matthews Manly 1865 1940 she prepared numerous readers and textbooks including several that helped put contemporary British and American literature on the academic map Again in collaboration with Manly she was responsible for what has been described as perhaps the most important of the MI 8 solutions during World War I as well as the eight volume edition of Chaucer's Canterbury Tales 1940 Rickert also published short stories novels poems and essays As this biography shows Rickert's achievement as a writer was equal to her work as a literary critic Language Use in the Two-way Classroom Renée DePalma,2010 Based on an extended ethnographic study of a dual language Spanish English kindergarten this book takes a critical look at children's linguistic and non linguistic interactions and the ways that teaching design can help or hinder language development With a focus on official Spanish time it explores the particular challenges of supporting the minority language use as well as the teacher's strategies for doing so In bilingual classrooms teachers goals include bilingualism as well as academic achievement for all The children may share these interests but have their own agendas as well This book explores the linguistic and social interactions that may help or hinder these multiple and sometimes conflicting agendas How can teachers design educational practice that takes into consideration broader forces of language hegemony as well as children's immediate interests The numerous rich examples of the effectiveness of different strategies and practices within a variety of instructional contexts make this book essential reading for educators parents students and researchers interested in second language education DePalma's findings will have important implications for program design interventions curriculum and instructional practices in second language learning programs Kathryn Lindholm Leary San Jose State University USA THE BOJABI TREE - An African Children's Folktale Edith Rickert,2020-03-12 In the jungles of deepest darkest Africa the animals were hungry for there was nothing to eat They fought for scraps and tit bits until they came across a tree the Bojabi tree the mango melon pomegranate tree which they smelled of apple orange plum pear banana They wanted to eat the rich red fruit but found they could not because they did not know the fruit's name The animals took it in turns to leave and cross the dry and dusty African plains to ask the king of the jungle the Lion for the answer But somehow on the return journey they keep forgetting what they have been told Until all that is left is the slow Tortoise Will he manage to make the trip and remember the all important name This retelling of a traditional tale from Gabon is told using rhyme and repetition giving it a rhythmic quality which begs to be read aloud Edith Rickert's text is perfectly matched by Gleb Botkin's illustrations bringing the African animals and scenery to life
