Material Culture from Prehistoric Virginia William Hranicky,2009-04 Material Culture from Prehistoric Virginia Volume 1 is one volume of a two volume set This two volume set is available in black and white and in color Volume 1 contains artifact listings from A through L Volume 2 contains the remainder of the alphabetical listings These publications contain over 10 000 prehistoric artifacts mainly from Virginia but the publication covers the eastern U S The set starts with Pre Clovis and goes through Woodland times with some Indian ethnography and rockart Each volume is indexed contains references has charts and graphs drawings photographs artifact dates and artifact descriptions These volumes contain artifacts that have never appeared in the archaeological literature From beginners to experienced archaeologists they offer a complete library for the American Indian culture and experience If the prehistoric Indian made it an example is probably shown The London Lancet ,1852 Annual Report of the Board of Regents of the Smithsonian Institution Smithsonian Institution. Board of Regents,1885 Analysis of Artifacts from Four Duke Point Area Sites, Near Nanaimo, B.C. Rebecca Anne Wukasch Murray,1982-01-01 Using artifact data collected and analyzed in 1978 from 4 sites in the Duke Point area and comparable data from other sites in the southern Gulf of Georgia region it is demonstrated that perceived differences in artifact assemblages particularly on a presence absence basis are not as clear cut as they were once considered to be Rather the significant differences lie in the relative frequencies and percentages of certain artifact types The utility of the current three part framework for archaeological analysis which has encouraged the interpretation of migration diffusion and independent invention to explain the origins and temporal variation of culture in the southern Gulf of Georgia region is critically examined Published in English Johnson's Universal Cyclopædia ,1887 Indianapolis Medical Journal ,1927 Ayioryitika Susan L. Petrakis,2002-08-01 Ayioryitika a large open air settlement in Arcadia in central Greece was inhabited during the Neolithic and Early Bronze Age It was excavated in 1928 by Carl Blegen under the auspices of the American School of Classical Studies at Athens but the research was never published The site is particularly important for its beautifully decorated Middle Neolithic pottery and for its figurines of human figures and animals This volume gathers together the scattered and fragmentary evidence for the excavation and its finds For the first time the information from this large and important early town has been made available to scholars and students of prehistoric Greece

Biological Shape Analysis Pete E. Lestrel,2013 This proceedings volume describes the current state of research dealing with biological shape analysis The quantitative analysis of the shape of biological organisms represents a challenge that has now seen breakthroughs with new methodologies such as elliptical Fourier analysis quantitative trait loci analysis QTLs thin plate splines etc The volume also illustrates the diversity of disciplines that are actively involved in the characterization and analysis of the biological shape Some of the papers deal with the need to relate the underlying genome responsible for the actual observed characteristics of form Moreover many of the papers focus on the relationship of the shape to the processes that determine the biological form an issue of major continuing concern in biology This volume brings together for the second time practitioners from a variety of disciplines who have been concerned with the necessity of applying new methods to the analysis of biological shape Previous methodologies based on the conventional metrical approach distances angles and ratios have not been able to adequately capture OCo in quantitative terms OCo the subtleties and complexities of biological form due to its irregularity This volume represents an initial attempt to quantitatively characterize the biological form in both two and three dimensions as it is actually perceived There is no volume available that deals with the subject matter of these Proceedings The papers represent as in the first proceedings a unique look at 1 new methodologies developed and used quantitatively describe the biological form 2 the need to relate the observed biological shape to the underlying processes that determine the shape and 3 the tremendous diversity of disciplines actively involved in the characterization and analysis of biological shapes These range from physical anthropology anatomy genetics botany entomology forensics to applied mathematics etc
