The Boy Child is Dying Judy Boppell Peace, 1986 The South African Quagmire S. Prakash Sethi, 1987 State, 1987 The Joint Acquisitions List of Africana, 1978 Death, Society, and Human Experience Robert Kastenbaum, Christopher M. Moreman, 2018-03-29 Providing an overview of the myriad ways that we are touched by death and dying both as an individual and as a member of society this book will help readers understand our relationship with death Kastenbaum and Moreman show how various ways that individual and societal attitudes influence both how and when we die and how we live and deal with the knowledge of death and loss This landmark text draws on contributions from the social and behavioral sciences as well as the humanities such as history religion philosophy literature and the arts to provide thorough coverage of understanding death and the dying process Death Society and Human Experience was originally written by Robert Kastenbaum a renowned scholar who developed one of the world's first death education courses Christopher Moreman who has worked in the field of death studies for almost two decades specializing in afterlife beliefs and experiences has updated this edition The Bloomsbury Review, 1987 Has also occasional unnumbered supplements Catalog of Copyright Entries, Fourth Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1978-10 South Africa Steven Anzovin, 1987 Geography and the Literary Imagination in Victorian Fictions of Empire Jean Fernandez, 2020-01-20 In this pioneering study Dr Fernandez explores how the rise of institutional geography in Victorian England impacted imperial fiction's emergence as a genre characterized by a preoccupation with space and place This volume argues that the alliance between institutional geography and the British empire which commenced with the founding of the Royal Geographical Society in 1830 shaped the spatial imagination of Victorians with profound consequences for the novel of empire Geography and the Literary Imagination in Victorian Fictions of Empire examines Presidential Addresses and reports of the Royal Geographical Society and demonstrates how geographical studies by explorers cartographers ethnologists medical topographers administrators and missionaries published by the RGS local geographical societies or the colonial state acquired relevance for Victorian fiction's response to the British Empire Through a series of illuminating readings of literary works by R L Stevenson Olive Schreiner Flora Annie Steel Winwood Reade Joseph Conrad and Rudyard Kipling the study demonstrates how nineteenth century fiction published between 1870 and 1901 reflected and interrogated geographical discourses of the time The study makes the case for the significance of physical and human geography for literary studies and the unique historical and aesthetic insights gained through this approach Miracles : 2 Volumes Craig S. Keener, 2011-11-01 Christianity Today 2013 Book Award Winner Winner of The Foundation for Pentecostal Scholarship's 2012 Award of Excellence 2011 Book of the Year Christianbook.com's Academic Blog Most modern prejudice against biblical miracle reports depends on David Hume's argument that uniform human experience precluded miracles Yet current research shows that human experience is far from uniform In fact hundreds of millions of people today claim to have experienced

miracles New Testament scholar Craig Keener argues that it is time to rethink Hume's argument in light of the contemporary evidence available to us This wide ranging and meticulously researched two volume study presents the most thorough current defense of the credibility of the miracle reports in the Gospels and Acts Drawing on claims from a range of global cultures and taking a multidisciplinary approach to the topic Keener suggests that many miracle accounts throughout history and from contemporary times are best explained as genuine divine acts lending credence to the biblical miracle reports
