Redefinitions of Irish Identity Irene Gilsenan Nordin, Carmen Zamorano Llena, 2010 This collection of essays aims to provide new insights into the debate on postnationalism in Ireland from the perspective of narrative writing The Poetics and Ethics of \(Un-\)Grievability in Contemporary Anglophone Fiction Susana Onega, Jean-Michel Ganteau, 2022-12-27 The working hypothesis of the book is that since the 1990s an increasing number of Anglophone fictions are responding to the new ethical and political demands arising out of the facts of war exclusion climate change contagion posthumanism and other central issues of our post trauma age by adapting the conventions of traditional forms of expressing grievability such as elegy testimony or pseudo autobiography Situating themselves in the wake of Judith Butler's work on ungrievability the essays collected in this volume seek to cast new light on these issues by delving into the socio cultural constructions of grievability and other types of vulnerabilities invisibilities and inaudibilities linked with the neglect and or abuse of non normative individuals and submerged groups that have been framed as disposable exploitable and or unmournable by such determinant factors as sex gender ethnic origin health etc thereby refining and displacing the category of subalternity associated with the poetics of postmodernism

Castration Desire Robinson Murphy, 2023-12-14 Theorizes an alternative form of masculinity in global literature that is less egocentric and more sustainable both in terms of gendered and environmental power dynamics Contemporary novelists and filmmakers like Kazuo Ishiguro Japanese British Emma Donoghue Irish Canadian Michael Ondaatje Sri Lankan Canadian Bong Joon ho South Korean and J M Coetzee South African Australian are emblematic of a transnational phenomenon that Robinson Murphy calls castration desire That is these artists present privileged characters who nonetheless pursue their own diminishment In promulgating through their characters a less egocentric mode of thinking and acting these artists offer a blueprint for engendering a more other oriented global relationality Murphy proposes that in addition to being an ethical prerogative castration desire's less is more model of relationality would make life livable where veritable suicide is our species otherwise potential fate Castration desire thus offers an antidote to rapacious extractivism with the ambition of instilling a sustainable model for thinking and acting on an imminently eco apocalyptic earth In providing a fresh optic through which to read a diversity of text types Castration Desire helps define where literary criticism is now and where it is headed Castration Desire additionally extends and develops a zeitgeist currently unfolding in critical theory It brings Leo Bersani's concept psychic utopia together with Judith Butler's radical egalitarianism but transports their shared critique of phallic individualization into the environmental humanities In doing so this book builds a new framework for how gender studies intersects with environmental studies

"Blighted Beginnings" Jonathan Bolton, 2010 This book also looks at how authors have persistently used the bildungsroman to complicate and challenge the idealization of the family exposing the divorce ban as symptomatic of an unrealistic notion of domestic inviolability This study concludes with a discussion of the future of the bildungsroman in a country that has transcended many of its formative crises This chapter considers Doyle's A Star Called Henry as a text that inaugurates a new phase in Irish coming of age narratives in which many of the problems of Irish life formerly treated so earnestly and tragically can be a source of play and humor By looking at a comprehensive range of novels by writers like Sean O Faolain Elizabeth Bowen Edna O'Brien and William Trevor as well as lesser known figures like Eimar O Duffy Francis MacManus and Mary Morrissy Blighted Beginnings traces the evolving concerns of Irish writers as they pushed for a greater accommodation of individual freedoms and aspirations

than we see our own John Updike Revolutionary bodies Michael G. Cronin,2023-02-28 Revolutionary bodies provides a detailed study of the erotics and politics of the male body in Irish fiction Some of the authors discussed in the book include Oscar Wilde Brendan Behan John Broderick Colm T ib n Keith Ridgway Jamie O Neill Miche l Conghaile and Barry McCrea The book critically analyses the emergence of contemporary Irish gay fiction since 1993 especially its most notable genres the coming out romance and the historical romance It assesses the role of the novel in the evolution of Irish LGBT politics mapping a literary and cultural space where the utopian aspirations of sexual liberation have clashed with the reformism and neo liberal political rationality of identity politics Revolutionary bodies offers a unique critical intervention into our understanding of queer Irish cultures in the wake of the 2015 referendum and the Varadkar election The Irish Novel at the End of the Twentieth Century J. Jeffers,2016-04-30 The Irish Novel at the End of the Twentieth Century Gender Bodies and Power interprets a wide variety of the most interesting Irish novels of the last ten years of the century from a perspective that focuses on the regulated sexual and constructed gendered body The demarcating line of identity the perennial Irish problem can be gauged at the basic level of sexual and gender identity in contrast to or in alliance with political social religious or cultural norms All mechanisms that have gone into controlling the body gender regulation violence desire religious taboos can all be reinterpreted through the body in motion Revolutionary Damnation Sheldon Brivic,2017-05-11 In Irish fiction the most famous example of the embrace of damnation in order to gain freedom politically religiously and creatively is Joyce s Stephen Dedalus His non serviam though is not just the profound rebellion of one frustrated young man but as Brivic demonstrates in this sweeping account of twentieth century Irish fiction the emblematic and necessary standpoint for any artist wishing to envision something truly new Revolutionary fervor is what allowed a country with a population lower than that of Connecticut to produce so many of the greatest writers of the twentieth century Because Irish culture was largely dictated by the Catholic Church and its conservatism the most ambitious Irish writers like Joyce Beckett and the ten others Brivic presents here saw the advantages of damnation and seized them rejecting powerful norms of church state and culture as well as of literary form voice and character to produce some of the most radical work of the twentieth century Brivic links the work of writers such as Flann O Brien Patrick McCabe and Anne Enright to the theories of Alain Badiou His mathematical procedure for distinguishing what is truly innovative informs the progressive political and philosophical thrust that these writers at their best carry on from Joyce and Beckett to unfold a fierce tradition that extends into the twenty first century
