The Blue Climate A Novel:

The Blue Climate Burt Cole,1977-01-01 Climate Change and the Contemporary Novel Adeline

Johns-Putra,2019-03-21 Analysing how contemporary fiction explores climate change Johns Putra argues that literature can help us understand our obligations to the future The Blue Period Jesse McCarthy,2024-04-25 To be a Black writer in the early years of the Cold War was to face a stark predicament On the one hand revolutionary Communism promised egalitarianism and lit the sparks of anticolonial struggle but was hostile to conceptions of personal freedom On the other hand the great force opposing the Soviets at midcentury was itself the very fountainhead of racial prejudice represented in the United States by Jim Crow Jesse McCarthy argues that Black writers of this time were equally alienated from the left and the right and channeled that alienation into remarkable experiments in literary form Embracing racial affect and interiority they forged an aesthetic resistance premised on fierce dissent from both US racial liberalism and Soviet Communism Ranging from the end of World War II to the rise of Black Power in the 1960s from Richard Wright and James Baldwin to Gwendolyn Brooks and Paule Marshall and others Jesse McCarthy shows how Black writers defined a distinctive moment in American literary culture that McCarthy calls the Blue Period The Oxford Handbook of Global Realisms

Vaysman,2025-11-04 Realism is an artistic practice that aims to faithfully represent reality Historically it has been practiced across different media from early pictorial art and epic oral narratives through literature and visual arts to film music and digital media However an understanding of what it means to faithfully represent reality is not universal rather it varies from culture to culture The Oxford Handbook of Global Realisms approaches realism as a transnational transhistorical and intermedial global phenomenon It brings the diversity of global realisms to the fore showcasing previously underrepresented and marginalized theories practices forms and media of realist cultural production BOOK OF PROCEEDINGS: TWO

Konrad,2024-09-24 Concentrating on a powerful emerging genre Tatiana Konrad s Climate Change Fiction and Ecocultural Crisis provides a survey of popular narratives that further our understanding of climate change in contemporary fiction Konrad advocates for the expansion and redefinition of the cli fi genre and argues that industrial fiction from the nineteenth century is the first example of climate change fiction Tracing the ways through which cli fi outlines a history of our modern ecocultural crisis this book demonstrates how the genre employs four major thematic clusters to achieve this narrative weather science religion and place Focusing on a diverse range of issues including fossil fuels cheap energy the intricacies of human more than human relationships and postcolonial geographies Konrad illustrates how cli fi transcends mere storytelling The genre ultimately emerges as an important means to forecast imagine and contemplate climatic events The book invites a broadening of the environmental humanities discourse asking readers not only to deepen their understanding of the current climate crisis but also to consider how cli fi culture can be viewed as an effective method to address climate change

Errant Natures and Wayward Bodies in Late-Victorian Speculative Fiction Adrian Tait, 2025-09-04 Adrian Tait argues that late Victorian stories represent an important but still neglected part of a green literary tradition setting up a dialogue with modernity that is no less relevant today Late Victorian literature is full of fascinating examples of what was then called the scientific romance an emerging form of science or speculative fiction whose concern with the liveliness or agentiality of the nonhuman animal and more than human natural world today makes it particularly noteworthy In a succession of short stories and novels many now forgotten writers such as Grant Allen John Davidson George Griffith and Henry Marriott Watson dramatized the possibility that Nature had not been conquered by industrial modernity but might instead be reacting to it with an unexpected dynamism Long before environmental issues such as climate change came to the public s attention they asked whether humankind might one day inadvertently create existential threats to its own survival In so doing these pioneers of sf depicted their world in terms that anticipate the recent new materialist focus on a mutable and dynamic reality responsive and perhaps resistant to human endeavor

Water Stories in the Anthropocene Angelo Monaco, 2024-10-21 Water Stories in the Anthropocene explores how climate change has emerged as a major theme in our daily lives as it poses a myriad of economic scientific political and cultural challenges in the age of the Anthropocene In all its forms and manifestations climate change is primarily a water crisis Water scarcity droughts floods deluge rising sea levels ice melting wetlands loss and sea pollution are among the main threats posed by climate change wreaking havoc on both human and nonhuman forms of life This book engages with instances of extreme events related to water droughts floods deluges and the impact of climate change on some waterbodies seas and wetlands in contemporary Anglophone novels By taking into account a corpus of novels ranging from the various areas of the Anglophone world and thus shuttling between the Global North and the Global South the book reads these novels as water stories This volume pays attention to the pervasive presence of water in all aspects of our lives thus showing how narratives can offer insightful accounts of the present water crisis Alternating between an econarratological perspective reflections on the Anthropocene and the human nonhuman imbrications within the blue humanities the book contributes significantly to the considerations of the imaginative possibilities of these water stories showing how narratives can offer insightful accounts of the present water crisis
