The Body As Mirror Of The World:

The Body as Mirror of the World Janine Chasseguet-Smirgel, 2005 Is today's thinking conditioned by body mind dualism A rebellion against the biological order seems to have silently infiltrated our world view Suicide bombers appear to share a fascination with destruction with writers such as Mishima Pasolini and Foucault A liberation from the body to re-establish a possibly mystical union of soul and cosmos and an assertion of the mind's omnipotence appear to be common features of forms of behavior that seem to be taken for granted in contemporary thought Is the new misogyny which rejects motherhood in the name of feminism contributing in any way to these trends This review of our society by a woman psychoanalyst a non-medical and graduate of the Institut d'études Politiques in Paris presents a sharp and rigorous analysis of the strange and violent mechanisms that are erupting in the world today

The Body as a Mirror of the Soul Lisa Devriese, 2021-10-05 Physiognomy the history of racial classifications and the interplay between natural philosophy medicine and ethics The idea of the body as a mirror of the soul has fascinated mankind throughout history Being able to see through an individual and drawing conclusions on their character solely based on a selection of external features is the subject of physiognomy and has a long tradition running well into recent times However the pre-modern especially medieval background of this discipline has remained underexplored The selected case studies in this volume each contribute to a better understanding of the history of physiognomy from antiquity to the Renaissance and offer discussions on unedited treatises and on the application development and reception of this field of knowledge as well as on visual sources inspired by physiognomic theory Contributors Enikő Békés Hungarian Academy of Sciences József Biard University of Tours Lisa Devriese KU Leuven Maria Fernanda Ferrini University of Macerata Christophe Grellard cole Pratique des Hautes études Luísa Campos Ribeiro University of Lisbon Maria Michela Sassi University of Pisa Oleg Voskoboynikov Higher School of Economics Moscow Steven J Williams New Mexico Highlands University Joseph Ziegler University of Haifa Gabriella Zuccolin University of Pavia

The Body in the Mirror Angela Dalle Vacche, 2014-07-14 This rich wide-ranging book explores Italy's national film style by relating it closely to politics and to the historicist thought of Croce Gentile and Gramsci Here is a new kind of film history a nonlinear intertextual approach that confronts the total story of the growth of a national cinema while challenging the traditional formats of general histories and period studies Examining Italian silent films of the fascist era through neorealism to modernist filmmaking after May 1968 Angela Dalle Vacche reveals opera and the commedia dell'arte to be the strongest influences As she presents the whole history of Italian cinema from the standpoint of a dialectic between these two styles she offers brilliant interpretations of individual films The body in the mirror is the national self-image on the screen which changes shape in response to historical and political context To discover how the nation represents understands and recognizes this fictional body Dalle Vacche discusses changes in the strongest parameters of Italian cinema allegory spectacle body history unity and continuity In her hands these concepts yield a wealth of insights for film scholars art

An Anthropological Guide to the Art and Philosophy of Mirror Gazing Maria Danae Koukouti,Lambros Malafouris,2020-09-03 Looking at one s face in the mirror and finding one s self in the mirror are not the same The former capacity is something we share with other animals the latter is a skill something we have to learn What does it mean and what does it take to find oneself the mirror This book provides a comparative anthropological enquiry into the unity and diversity of mirror gazing The reader is encouraged to reflect upon and experiment with different mirror gazes through a range of case studies Koukouti and Malafouris weave together anthropology with philosophy and draw on examples from literature and experiments from psychopathology in a way that has never been attempted before The master metaphor is that of the mirror as trap Mirror gazing is viewed on a par with hunting Mirroring signifies the hunt for self knowledge In a time

obsessed with the digital self image Koukouti and Malafouris reflect on the structures of consciousness that underpin the different ways of looking at and through the mirror Combining metaphor comparison and estrangement they gesture towards a therapeutic alliance between body and mirroring This allows us to look in the mirror and think of our shared humanity differently The Mirror and the Hammer Ernesto Spinelli,2004-06-16 It is surely worth reading not only by the author's fellow psychiatrists but also by psychologists in general Contemporary Psychology I found this book a joy to read Each chapter sets out the orthodoxy in question then proceeds to explain lucidly the author's difficulties with this orthodoxy and to suggest an alternative way of looking at the issues Self and Society Psychotherapy's influence seems all pervasive today But to what end Is helping people really therapy's main mission This provocative book explores the alternatives to psychotherapeutic orthodoxies on such vital issues as sexuality the self the unconscious creativity and the dilemma of evil Ernesto Spinelli challenges psychotherapy asking if it has retreated from its early promise of being a pivotal agent in our attempts to discover what it means to be human in exchange for its current role as a pacifier of personal and social unease

For the Body Timothy C. Tennent, 2020-11-17 An in depth look at what it means to be created in the image of God and how our bodies serve as icons that illuminate God's purposes instead of ours The human body is an amazing gift yet today many people downplay its importance and fail to understand what Christianity teaches about our bodies and their God given purposes Many people misunderstand how the body was designed its role in relating to others and we lack awareness of the dangers of objectifying the body divorcing it from its intended purpose Timothy Tennent covers topics like marriage family singleness and friendship and he looks at how the human body has been objectified in art and media today For the Body offers a biblical framework for discipling people today in a Christian theology of the body Tennent theologian and president of Asbury Theological Seminary explores the contours of a robust Christian vision of the body human sexuality and the variety of different ways we are called into relationships with others This book will reveal a theological vision that informs our self understanding of our own bodies Examines how we treat others Reevaluates how we engage today's controversial and difficult discussions on human sexuality with grace wisdom and confidence For the Body is a call to a deeper understanding of our bodies and an invitation to recapture the wonder of this amazing gift

THE MIRROR MONTHLY MAGAZINE, 1848 Nobility and Annihilation in Marguerite Porete's Mirror of Simple Souls Joanne Maguire Robinson, 2012-02-01 This first book length study of Marguerite Porete's important mystical text The Mirror of Simple Souls examines Porete's esoteric and optimistic doctrine of annihilation the complete transformative union of the soul into God in its philosophical and historical contexts Porete was burned at the stake as a relapsed heretic in 1310 Her theological treatise survived the flames but it circulated anonymously or under male pseudonyms until 1946 and her message endures as testament to a distinctive form of medieval spirituality Robinson begins by focusing on traditional speculations regarding the origin nature limitations and destiny of humankind She then examines Porete's work in its more immediate historical and literary contexts focusing on the ways in which Porete conceptualizes and expresses her radical doctrine of annihilation through contemporary metaphors of lineage and nobility

The Cracked Mirror Gopal Guru, Sundar Sarukkai, 2018-02-15 Western constructs giving precedence to ideas over experience have for long dominated theorization in Indian social sciences Problematizing their tenuous relationship this book presents a passionate plea to create new frameworks for describing contemporary Indian social experiences Using a dialogic form and placing the reality of untouchability and Dalit life at the centre of analyses Gopal Guru and Sundar Sarukkai examine the ontological and epistemological nature of experience thereby exhibiting the politics of experience By illustrating ways of using alternative frameworks for theorizing The Cracked Mirror argues for a more careful understanding of the ethics of representation interdisciplinary volume interrogates bodily thinking in avant garde texts from Spain and Italy during the early twentieth century and their relevance to larger modernist preoccupations with corporeality. It examines the innovative ways Spanish and Italian avant gardists explored the body as a locus for various aesthetic and sociopolitical considerations and practices. In reimagining the nexus points where the embodied self and world intersect, the texts surveyed in this book not only shed light on issues such as authority, desire, fetishism, gender, patriarchy, politics, religion, sexuality, subjectivity, violence, and war during a period of unprecedented change but also explore the complexities of aesthetic and epistemic rupture and continuity within Spanish and Italian modernisms. Building on contemporary scholarship in Modernist Studies and avant garde criticism, this volume brings to light numerous cross-cultural touch points between Spain and Italy and challenges the center-periphery frameworks of European cultural modernism. In linking disciplines, genres, isms, and geographical spheres, the book provides new lenses through which to explore the narratives of modernist corporeality. Each contribution centers around the question of the body as it was actively being debated through the medium of poetic, literary, and artistic exchange, exploring the body in its materiality and form in its sociopolitical representation, relation to self, cultural formation, spatiality, desires, objectification, commercialization, and aesthetic functions. This comparative approach to Spanish and Italian avant gardism offers readers an expanded view of the intersections of body and text, broadening the conversation in the larger fields of cultural modernism, European Avant garde Studies, and Comparative Literature.

Modernism and the Avant-garde Body in Spain and Italy Nicolas Fernandez-Medina, Maria Truglio, 2016-03-22 This

Heidegger's Neglect of the Body Kevin A. Aho, 2010-07-02

Martin Heidegger's failure to acknowledge the role of the body in his analysis of everyday human existence, Dasein, has generated a cottage industry of criticism from such prominent continental figures as Merleau-Ponty, Sartre, Derrida, and Irigaray. In Heidegger's Neglect of the Body, Kevin A. Aho suggests the critics largely fail to appreciate Heidegger's nuanced understanding of Dasein, which is not to be interpreted in terms of individual existence but in terms of a shared horizon of being that is already there. Aho further argues that Heidegger, while rarely discussing the body itself, nonetheless makes a significant contribution to theories of embodiment by means of his critique of technological existence and his hermeneutic recovery of more original ways of being that reveal our fragile interconnectedness with things.

Messenger in the Mirror Dyan Belonje, 2009

This book explores the challenging and often painful relationships we have with others. By encouraging us to examine some of our early influences, we are able to look within and observe our current patterns of behaviour to give us a better understanding of what our pay-offs are and why we attract the relationships that we do. We are shown that people in our lives serve as a mirror reflecting back to us a unique message about who we are. These messages are the key to our personal growth, and once we recognise them, we have the opportunity to take back our power and to start living with greater joy, wisdom, and authenticity.
