The Bone People:

The Bone People Keri Hulme, 1985 At once a mystery a love story and an ambitious exploration of the zone where Maori and European New Zealand meet Booker Prize winning novel The Bone People is a powerful and unsettling tale saturated with violence and Maori spirituality

Imagination and the Creative Impulse in the New Literatures in English, 2021-11-01 Imagination and the Creative Impulse in the New Literatures in English brings together the proceedings of a symposium organised by the editors at the University of Trento in 1990 At a time when the study of the post colonial literatures is gaining more widespread recognition scholars based mainly at universities in Italy and Germany were invited to address the manner in which writers are giving literary expression to the complexity of contemporary post colonial and multicultural societies and to consider from their differing perspectives on the new literatures central questions of formal experimentation linguistic innovation social and political commitment textual theory and cross culturality Focusing on such major writers such as Achebe Soyinka and Walcott as well as on lesser known figures such as Jack Davis Witi Ihimaera Rohinton Mistry and Manohar Malgonkar the contributors take up many themes characteristic of the new literatures the challenge posed to traditional authority the expression of national identity the role of literature in the liberation struggle modes of literary practice in multicultural societies the relationship of the new literatures in English to that of the former metropolitan centre and the complex intertextuality characterizing much of the literary production of post colonial societies

And the Birds Began to Sing, 2022-06-08 Taking as its starting point the ambiguous heritage left by the British Empire to its former colonies dominions and possessions And the Birds Began to Sing marks a new departure in the interdisciplinary study of religion and literature Gathered under the rubric Christianity and Colonialism essays on Brian Moore Timothy Findley Margaret Atwood and Marian Engel Thomas King Les A Murray David Malouf Mudrooroo and Philip McLaren R A K Mason Maurice Gee Keri Hulme Epeli Hau ofa J M Coetzee Christopher Okigbo Chinua Achebe Amos Tutuola and Ngugi wa Thiong'o explore literary portrayals of the effects of British Christianity upon settler and native cultures in Northern Ireland Canada Australia New Zealand and the South Pacific and the Africas These essays share a sense of the dominant presence of Christianity as an inherited system of religious thought and practice to be adapted to changing post colonial conditions or to be resisted as the lingering ideology of colonial times In the second section of the collection Empire and World Religions essays on Paule Marshall and George Lamming Jean Rhys Olive Senior and Caribbean poetry V S Naipaul Anita Desai Kamala Markandaya and Bharati Mukherjee interrogate literature exploring relations between the scions of British imperialism and religious traditions other than Christianity Expressly concerned with literary embodiments of belief systems in post colonial cultures particularly West African religions in the Caribbean and Hinduism on the Indian subcontinent these essays also share a sense of Christianity as the pervasive presence of an ideological rhetoric among the economic social and political dimensions of imperialism In a polemical Afterword the editor argues that modes of reading religion and literature in post

colonial cultures are characterised by a theodical preoccupation with a praxis of equity A Study Guide for Kei Hulme's The Bone People Gale, Cengage Learning, 2015-09-24 A Study Guide for Kei Hulme's The Bone People excerpted from Gale's acclaimed Novels for Students This concise study guide includes plot summary character analysis author biography study questions historical context suggestions for further reading and much more For any literature project trust Novels for Students for all of your research needs The Circle & the Spiral Eva Rask Knudsen, 2021-11-01 In Aboriginal and M ori literature the circle and the spiral are the symbolic metaphors for a never ending journey of discovery and rediscovery The journey itself with its indigenous perspectives and sense of orientation is the most significant act of cultural recuperation The present study outlines the fields of indigenous writing in Australia and New Zealand in the crucial period between the mid 1980s and the early 1990s particularly eventful years in which postcolonial theory attempted to centre the margins and indigenous writers were keen to escape the particular centering offered in search of other positions more in tune with their creative sensibilities Indigenous writing relinquished its narrative preference for social realism in favour of traversing old territory in new spiritual ways roots converted into routes Standard postcolonial readings of indigenous texts often overwrite the difference they seek to locate because critical orthodoxy predetermines what difference can be Critical evaluations still tend to eclipse the ontological grounds of Aboriginal and M ori traditions and specific ways of moving through and behaving in cultural landscapes and social contexts Hence the corrective applied in Circles and Spirals to look for locally and culturally specific tracks and traces that lead in other directions than those catalogued by postcolonial convention This agenda is pursued by means of searching enquiries into the historical anthropological political and cultural determinants of the present state of Aboriginal and M ori writing principally fiction Independent yet interrelated exemplary analyses of works by Keri Hulme and Patricia Grace and Mudrooroo and Sam Watson Australia provided the thick description that illuminates the author's central theses with comparative side glances at Witi Ihimaera Heretaunga Pat Baker and Alan Duff New Zealand and Archie Weller and Sally Morgan Australia The Booker Prize and the Legacy of Empire Luke Strongman, 2021-12-28 This book is about the Booker Prize the London based literary award made annually to the best novel written in English by a writer from one of those countries belonging to or formerly part of the British Commonwealth The approach to the Prize is thematically historical and spans the award period to 1999 The novels that have won or shared the Prize in this period are examined within a theoretical framework mapping the literary terrain of the fiction Individual chapters explore themes that occur within the larger narrative formed by this body of novels collectively invoked cultures social trends and movements spanning the stages of imperial heyday and decline as perceived over the past three decades Individually and collectively the novels mirror often in terms of more than a single static image British imperial culture after empire contesting and reinterpreting perceptions of the historical moment of the British Empire and its legacy in contemporary culture The body of Booker novels narrates the demise of empire and the emergence of different cultural formations in its aftermath The novels are grouped for discussion according to the way in which they deal with aspects of the transition from empire to a post imperial culture from early imperial expansion through colonization retrenchment decolonization and postcolonial pessimism to the emergence of tribal nationalisms and post imperial nation states The focus throughout is primarily literary and contingently cultural

Reading Pakeha? Christina Stachurski, 2009 Aotearoa New Zealand a tiny Pacific country is of great interest to those engaged in postcolonial and literary studies throughout the world In all former colonies myths of national identity are vested with various interests Shifts in collective Pakeha or New Zealand European identity have been marked by the phenomenal popularity of three novels each at a time of massive social change Late colonialism anti imperialism and the collapse of the idea of a singular nation can be traced through the reception of John Mulgan's Man Alone 1939 Keri Hulme's The Bone People 1983 and Alan Duff's Once Were Warriors 1990 Yet close analysis of these three novels also reveals marginalization and silencing in claims to singular Pakeha identity and a linear development of settler acculturation Such a dynamic resonates with that of other settler cultures the similarities and differences telling in comparison Specifically Reading Pakeha Fiction and Identity in Aotearoa New Zealand explores how concepts of race and ethnicity intersect with those of gender sex and sexuality This book also asks whether Pakeha is still a meaningful term

The Bone People Keri Hulme, 1985 Kerewin a part Maori painter living in self exile is drawn out of her isolation by a mute boy who is cast up on a beach the only survivor of a shipwreck

The Cambridge Guide to Women's Writing in English Lorna Sage, 1999-09-30 This Guide aims to consolidate and epitomise the re reading of women's writing that has gone on in the last twenty five years This is an opportunity for stock taking a timely project when so much writing has been rediscovered reclaimed and republished There are entries on writers on individual texts and on general terms genres and movements all printed in a single alphabetical sequence The earliest written documents in medieval English the visionary writings of Julian of Norwich and Margery Kempe are covered in an historical and geographical sweep that takes us up to the present day The book reflects the spread of literacy the history of colonisation and the development of post colonial cultures using and changing the English language The entries are written by contributors from all the countries covered The result is a work of reference with a unique feeling for the vitality wealth and diversity of women's writing

The Pain of Unbelonging, 2007-01-01 Beyond the obvious and enduring socio economic ravages it unleashed on indigenous cultures white settler colonization in Australasia also inflicted profound damage on the collective psyche of both of the communities that inhabited the contested space of the colonial world The acute sense of alienation that colonization initially provoked in the colonized and colonizing populations of Australia and New Zealand has recent studies indicate developed into an endemic existential pathology Evidence of the psychological fallout from the trauma of geographical deracination cultural disorientation and ontological destabilization can be found not only in the state of anomie and self destructive patterns of behaviour that now characterize the lives of indigenous Australian and Maori peoples but also in the perpetually faltering identity discourse and cultural rootlessness of the present descendants of the countries Anglo Celtic settlers It is with the literary expression of this persistent condition of alienation that the essays gathered in the present volume are concerned Covering a heterogeneous selection of contemporary Australasian literature what these critical studies convincingly demonstrate is that more than two hundred years after the process of colonisation was set in motion the experience that Germaine Greer has dubbed the pain of unbelonging continues unabated constituting a dominant thematic concern in the writing produced today by Australian and New Zealand authors

Indigenous Literature of Oceania Nicholas J. Goetzfridt, 1995-02-28 Oceania has a rich and growing literary tradition The imaginative literature that emerged in the 1960s often reflected the forms and structures of European literature though the ideas expressed were typically anticolonial After three decades the literature of Oceania has become much more complex in terms of style as well as content and authors write in a multiplicity of styles and voices While the written literature of Oceania is continuously gaining more critical attention questions about the imposition of European literary standards and values as a further extension of colonialism in the Pacific have become a central issue This book is a detailed survey of the expanding amount of critical and interpretive material written about the imaginative literature of authors from Oceania It focuses on commentary and scholarship concerned with the poetry fiction and drama written in English by indigenous peoples of the Pacific Islands New Zealand and Australia The criticisms have appeared in academic books and journals since the mid 1960s They have developed to the point at which critical issues related to decolonization and the expression of ideas without having to first satisfy foreign expectations often determine the direction of such discussions Entries are grouped in topical chapters and each entry includes an extensive annotation An introductory essay summarizes the evolution of Pacific literature

World, Class, Women Robin Truth Goodman, 2004-02-16 World Class Women begins the extraordinarily important task of bringing a postcolonial feminist voice to critical pedagogy and by extension explores how current debates about education could make a contribution to feminist thought Robin Truth Goodman deftly weaves together the disciplines of literature postcolonialism feminism and education in order to theorize how the shrinking of the public sphere and the rise of globalization influence access to learning what counts as knowledge and the possibilities of a radical feminism

The Cambridge Companion to the Novel Eric Bulson, 2018-06-28 This Companion focuses on the novel as a global genre and examines its role impact and development

The Postcolonial Cultural Industry S. Ponzanesi, 2014-05-13 The Postcolonial Cultural Industry makes a timely intervention into the field of postcolonial studies by unpacking its relation to the cultural industry It unearths the role of literary prizes the adaptation industry and the marketing of ethnic bestsellers as new globalization strategies that connect postcolonial artworks to the market place

Strange Love Robin Truth Goodman, Kenneth J. Saltman, 2002 Seeks to answer the question of how varied cultural forms in this case curricula multicultural literature and popular films educate the public ideologically Interrogates the relationship between the political economy of globalization and the new human rights imperialism and the cultural politics that educate the public into complicity with it through such narratives as family war politics privatization and innocence Introduction

Modernism, Postcolonialism, and Globalism Richard Begam, Michael Valdez Moses, 2019 As England withdrew from its empire after World War II how did writers living outside the United Kingdom respond to the history of colonialism and the aesthetics of modernism within a global context In fourteen original essays edited by Richard Begam and Michael Valdez Moses a distinguished group of scholars considers these questions in relation to novelists playwrights and poets living in English speaking countries around the world Modernism Postcolonialism and Globalism not only examines how modernism and postcolonialism evolved over several generations but also situates the writers analyzed in terms of canonical realignments inspired by the New Modernist Studies and an array of emerging methodologies and approaches While this volume highlights social and political questions connected with the end of empire it also considers the aesthetics of postcolonialism detailing how writers drew upon responded to and sometimes reacted against the formal innovations of modernism Many of the essays consider the influence modernist artists and movements exercised on postcolonial writers from W B Yeats Joseph Conrad Franz Kafka Marcel Proust James Joyce T S Eliot and Virginia Woolf to Impressionism Expressionism Surrealism and Abstractionism Modernism Postcolonialism and Globalism is organized around six geographic locales and includes essays on Africa Chinua Achebe Ngugi wa Thiong'o Nadine Gordimer J M Coetzee Asia Salman Rushdie Arundhati Roy the Caribbean Jean Rhys Derek Walcott V S Naipaul Ireland Samuel Beckett Seamus Heaney Australia New Zealand David Malouf Keri Hulme and Canada Michael Ondaatje Examining how Anglophone writers engaged with the literary intellectual and cultural heritage of modernism this volume offers a vital and distinctive intervention in ongoing discussions of modern and contemporary literature

Stone Spring Stephen Baxter, 2012-11-06 Praised as one of the most inventive writers that science fiction has ever produced SF Site national bestselling author Stephen Baxter presents a new saga of a world that could have become our own Ten thousand years ago a vast and fertile plain existed that linked the British Isles to Europe Home to a tribe of simple hunter gatherers Northland teems with nature's bounty but is also subject to its whims Fourteen year old Ana calls Northland home but her world is changing The air is warming the ice is melting and the seas are rising One day Ana meets a traveler from a far distant city called Jericho a town that is protected by a wall And she starts to imagine the impossible

The Woman in the Red Dress Minrose Gwin, 2002 Graceful and impassioned The Woman in the Red Dress offers important new approaches to narratives about father daughter incest as well as stories that contaminate the myth of home as a safe space and map a geography of sexual violence victimization and survival Gwin situates her analysis of fiction such as Morrison's The Bluest Eye Alice Walker's The Color Purple Dorothy Allison's Bastard out of Carolina and Jane Smiley's A Thousand Acres within contemporary debates concerning survivor discourse theories of domestic space and issues of race and class She also explores books such as Hulme's The Bone People that enter a murky and liminal queer space in which gender itself travels and the most claustrophobic physical and social spaces can unexpectedly unhinge and open Spiritcarvers Antonella Sarti, 2022-06-08 In a land caught between the sea and cloud where the natural landscape still refuses civilization there are those the composers of words tellers of tales that help shape the minds of the people that live on its shores They are spiritcarvers New Zealand writing today is engaging in an intent struggle to subvert multiple shapes into voices These interviews as a record of biographical orature are shaped into presenting the figure of the storyteller through memory and language explorations of how we imagine and create ourselves with and into words Here we encounter the dichotomy of fiction and non fiction myth and consensual reality imagination and truth do we live within our own selected fictions Identity is shaped by the authors sense of displacement as well as of belonging meeting otherness with dispossession discovering connection through isolation Among the focal points of the interviews are the role of women s writing Maori writing interrelations among different cultures and the influence of literary and oral tradition within New Zealand

Asexualities Karli June Cerankowski, Megan Milks, 2014-03-14 What is so radical about not having sex To answer this question this collection of essays explores the feminist and queer politics of asexuality Asexuality is predominantly understood as an orientation describing people who do not experience sexual attraction In this multidisciplinary volume the authors expand this definition of asexuality to account for the complexities of gender race disability and medical discourse Together these essays challenge the ways in which we imagine gender and sexuality in relation to desire and sexual practice Asexualities provides a critical reevaluation of even the most radical queer theorizations of sexuality Going beyond a call for acceptance of asexuality as a legitimate and valid sexual orientation the authors offer a critical examination of many of the most fundamental ways in which we categorize and index sexualities desires bodies and practices As the first book length collection of critical essays ever produced on the topic of asexuality this book serves as a foundational text in a growing field of study It also aims to reshape the directions of feminist and queer studies and to radically alter popular conceptions of sex and desire Including units addressing theories of asexual orientation the politics of asexuality asexuality in media culture masculinity and asexuality health disability and medicalization and asexual literary theory Asexualities will be of interest to scholars and students in sexuality gender sociology cultural studies disability studies and media culture
