The Big House:

The Big House Carolyn Coman, 2016-11-04 When their parents are sent up the river for embezzlement Ray and Ivy are left to live in the lap of luxury with Marietta Noland and her ancient husband Lionel But life at the big house is not all it s cracked up to be First there is the shrouded portrait then there is the spider in the decaying wedding cake And what about the vicious instrument Marietta uses to decapitate her egg When the rain in Spain begins to fall in other words Ray wets his bed things go from bad to worse and Ivy knows it is time to take matters into her own hands What follows is a hilarious lark as Ray and Ivy case the joint get the skinny and show Marietta she has met her match

The Big House George Howe Colt, 2012-08-07 Faced with the sale of the century old family summer house on Cape Cod where he had spent forty two summers George Howe Colt recounts returning for one last stay with his wife and children in this stunning memoir that was a National Book Award Finalist and a New York Times Notable Book of the Year This poignant tribute to the eleven bedroom jumble of gables bays and dormers that watched over weddings divorces deaths anniversaries birthdays breakdowns and love affairs for five generations interweaves Colt s final visit with memories of a lifetime of summers Run down yet romantic The Big House stands not only as a cherished reminder of summer s ephemeral pleasures but also as a powerful symbol of a vanishing way of life

The Big House on Adams Street Alberta Sparks, 2012-12-05 Fritz a young wealthy German immigrates to America and experiences a shipboard romance on the way His dream is to use his riches to help needy people providing housing and hopefully developing a community of one accord His family joins him after a big house has been built in Cincinnati Ohio In a variety of totally unexpected episodes the beautiful spacious house begins to bring together many unlikely people into a community The transformation of lives is assisted by an elderly chaplain who is bilingual and has a great store of wisdom

Masters of the Big House William Kauffman Scarborough, 2006-04-01 William Kauffman Scarborough has produced a work of incomparable scope and depth offering the challenge to see afresh one of the most powerful groups in American history the wealthiest southern planters who owned 250 or more slaves in the census years of 1850 and 1860 The identification and tabulation in every slaveholding state of these lords of economic social and political influence reveals a highly learned class of men who set the tone for southern society while also involving themselves in the wider world of capitalism Scarborough examines the demographics of elite families the educational philosophy and religiosity of the nabobs gender relations in the Big House slave management methods responses to secession and adjustment to the travails of Reconstruction and an alien postwar world

The Big House of Inver Edith CEnone Somerville, Martin Ross, 1999 Pembrokeshire occupies the far south western extremity of Wales with the ocean on three sides Its coastline is complex and convoluted a succession of cliffs and coves inlets and islands stacks and skerries and the great drowned estuary of Milford Haven Many justly claim this coastal scenery to be among the finest in the World The Pembrokeshire Coast Path an official National Trail designated in 1970 closely follows this coast from Amroth in the south to St Dogmael s in the north a distance of 186 miles almost entirely within a National Park As the meeting place of Celts Irish Vikings Welsh Normans English and Flemings Pembrokeshire is steeped in history and thanks in part to its fascinating geology its shores are especially rich in distinctive flora and fauna Nowhere is the Coast Path far from historic sites and charming villages or the fascinating small towns of St David s Pembroke and Tenby Flavoured by the moods of the ocean this book captures the atmosphere of the Coast Path and the ever changing landscapes seascapes and the settlements through which it passes It will evoke treasured memories for those who already know Pembrokeshire and enthuse those for whom that pleasure is yet to come

Technology and the Big House in Ireland, C. 1800-c. 1930 Charles John Thomas Carson, 2009 By the beginning of the nineteenth century over ninety five percent of all the productive land in Ireland was in the hands of Anglo Irish landowners They lived in the big houses some of which still exist today resplendent within their walled estates Many others are now only gaunt ruins silhouetted against somber Irish skies victims of the troubles in the 1920s There is a continuing fascination with the history of the big house in Ireland Much of this interest stems from the Anglo Irish living in places apart in their estates often in remote areas of an undeveloped and hostile land Part of the appeal is in the characters neither wholly English nor Irish who made up this landowning class in Ireland However another part largely ignored until this study is how many of these landowners not only met these challenges but achieved remarkable levels of self sufficiency It was their exploitation of technology that hugely bolstered their status and independence and enabled them to lead an exotic lifestyle in Ireland Although much has been written regarding the social and political history of the Anglo Irish in Ireland little research has been conducted into the practical problems of living there At a time when there were few roads no railways and sailing ships were the unreliable connection with England existence might have been very basic indeed Charles Carson uncovers and explains in simple terms the technologies employed to not only make life bearable but in some case to become a triumph over seemingly impossible odds An appreciation of this background helps to explain the sense of status and independence that emanates from the big house in Ireland until their demise in the late twentieth century Interdisciplinary investigative methods were used in this work These included extensive archival research of estate papers throughout Ireland fieldwork involving examination and photography of still extant big house technology and the use of published fictional and biographical big house material Much additional insight and suggestions for further research resulted from visits to various big house locations Owners often descendants of the original families or managers and ground staff provided important local knowledge Climbing amongst stored artefacts in cellars barns and subterranean tunnels helped to bring the past alive Something of the ambiance of these explorations informs this book thus helping towards an understanding of the fundamental importance of technology in underpinning the status and independence of the big house in Ireland By examining the range costs and changing nature of the technologies employed this book makes an important contribution to a deeper understanding of life in the big house in Ireland circa 1800 to circa 1930 Brief descriptions accompanied by drawings or photographs are employed to explain the operation limitations and improvements of many of the installations and techniques These include water closets pumps cisterns boilers and firefighting equipment open fires hot air stoves and central heating walled gardens hot walls and beds warm air steam and hot water heating of glasshouses the construction location stocking and use of ice houses and ice daylight enhancement candle oil gas and electric lighting an optical telegraph a church spire engine driven equipment on the estate farm as well as mapping of bogs and their reclamation by wooden railways Technology and the Big House in Ireland c 1800 c 1930 is an important reference source for Irish study groups worldwide

Growing up in the Big House Alfred Spevak, 2015-05-07 I have been planning on writing this autobiography for quite some time to leave information on the events that happened during my life for later generations inquiry So these are events that I remember and events that I have learned I Wished that I had asked questions and received answers for the thoughts on my mind now This document is not exactly in chronological order

The Big House After Slavery Amy Feely Morsman, 2010-09-13 Using newspapers periodicals organization records and numerous letters from Virginia plantation families Morsman captures how these frustrated elites made sense of embarrassing postwar changes in the private but also in the public spheres they inhabited Morsman suggests that the planters adaptations may have been carried away from the crumbling plantations by their adult children into the urban house holds of the New South Book Jacket In the Shadows of the Big House Stephen Small, 2023-06-23 In the midst of calls for the removal of Confederate monuments across the South tens of thousands of museums buildings and other historical sites currently comprise a tourist infrastructure of the southern heritage industry Louisiana one of the most prominent and frequently visited states that benefit from this tourism has more than sixty heritage sites housed in former slave plantations These sites contain the remains restorations reconstructions and replicas of antebellum slave cabins and slave quarters In the Shadows of the Big House Twenty First Century Antebellum Slave Cabins and Heritage Tourism in Louisiana is the first book to tackle the role treatment and representation of slave cabins at plantation museum sites in contemporary heritage tourism In this volume author Stephen Small describes and analyzes sixteen twenty first century antebellum slave cabins currently located on three plantation museum sites in Natchitoches Louisiana Oakland Plantation Magnolia Plantation Complex and Melrose Plantation Small traces the historical trajectory of plantations and slave cabins since the Civil War and explores what representations of slavery and slave cabins in these sites convey about the reconfiguration of the past and the rearticulation of history in the present Considering such themes as the role of white ethnic identity in representations of elite whites and the extent and significance of Black voices and Black visions of representations of these plantations Small asks what these sites reveal about social forgetting and social remembering throughout Louisiana and the South He further explores the ways that gender structures the social organization of current sites and the role and influence of the state in the social organization and representations that prevail today

Tales from the Big House: Temple Newsam Steve Ward, 2020-01-31 Situated only 4 miles southeast of the bustling cosmopolitan city of Leeds lies a jewel in the crown of British stately homes Set in 1 200 acres of rolling parkland and woods is Temple Newsam House once described as the Hampton Court of the North The estate has survived almost 900 years of history Although first mentioned in the Domesday Book it was the Knights Templar who gave the name to the land The house that now stands on the site was begun in 1518 and has witnessed many events the execution for treason of one of its owners the birth of Lord Darnley unlucky husband of Mary Queen of Scots the Civil War rivalry of a family the home of a flirtatious mistress of the Prince of Wales later George IV and the suffering of the First World War when it was used as a convalescent home for wounded soldiers The house and estate is now owned by the Leeds City Council and is open as a public park for all to enjoy The house itself is part of Leeds Museums and Galleries and displays many different collections and exhibitions On the estate is a working farm known as Home Farm which is the largest working rare breed center in the UK and is a popular attraction for many visitors

The Little Lady of the Big House Jack London,2021-12-06 Rancher Dick Forrest finds himself in the midst of a horrific and utterly unexpected predicament his wife Paula has fallen in love with another man The man who has become the object of Paula s affections is in fact a close friend of Forrest which makes the affair virtually unbearable Paula can t have her cake and eat it too but can she find a way out of the present dire circumstances without inflicting irrevocable damage or death The Little Lady of the Big House is a tragic novel by Jack London first published in 1916 A world renowned author who took the world by storm following the release of the Call of The Wild London s naturalistic style exerted an enormous influence upon future novelists such as Ernest Hemingway Cormac McCarthy and William Faulkner Jack London 1876 1916 was an American writer and social activist He grew up in the working class but became a worldwide celebrity and one of the highest paid authors of his time He wrote several novels which are considered classics today among these Call of the Wild Sea Wolf and White Fang

The Big House in a Small Town Eric J. Williams,2011-03-03 This work is an in depth on the ground examination of how prisons impact rural communities including a revealing study of two rural communities that have chosen prisons as an economic development strategy A recent study by the Urban Institute estimates that one third of all counties in the United States house a prison and that our prison and jail population is now over 2 1 million Another report indicates that more than 97 percent of all U S prisoners are eventually released and communities are absorbing nearly 650 000 formerly incarcerated individuals each year These figures are particularly alarming considering the fact that rural communities are using prisons as economic development vehicles without fully understanding the effects of these jails on the area This book is the result of author Eric J Williams ground level research about the effects of prisons upon two rural American communities that lobbied to host maximum security prisons Through hundreds of interviews conducted while living in Florence Colorado and Beeville Texas Williams offers the perspective of local residents on all sides of the issue as well as a social history told mainly from the standpoint of those who lobbied for the prisons

Big House, Little House, Back House, Barn Thomas C. Hubka,2004

The twentieth anniversary edition of the classic architectural study of the development of the connected farm buildings made by 19th century New Englanders which offers insight into the people who made them Behind the Big House Jodi Skipper, 2022-03-22 2022 Anthropology of Tourism Interest Group Nelson Graburn Prize winner When residents and tourists visit sites of slavery whose stories are told All too often the lives of slaveowners are centered obscuring the lives of enslaved people Behind the Big House gives readers a candid behind the scenes look at what it really takes to interpret the difficult history of slavery in the U S South The book explores Jodi Skipper's eight year collaboration with the Behind the Big House program a community based model used at local historic sites to address slavery in the collective narrative of U S history and culture In laying out her experiences through an autoethnographic approach Skipper seeks to help other activist scholars of color negotiate the nuances of place the academic public sphere and its ambiguous systems of reward recognition and evaluation Big House Little City Benedict Zucchi, 2023-09-08 Shortlisted for the Architectural Book Awards 2024

Combining architectural and urban thinking in an unusual and engaging way this book presents an integrated approach to architectural theory and design Leon Battista Alberti's assertion in his famous Renaissance treatise that the city is like a big house and the house is in turn like a little city forms the springboard for a series of reflections on architecture's relationship with urbanism and how their once intimate symbiosis unravelled by International Style Modernism can be recovered Explicit references to Alberti's house city phrase have been made by figures as diverse as the architects Louis Kahn Aldo Van Eyck Denys Lasdun and Niels Torp and novelist Italo Calvino But as the book shows thinking of buildings as little cities provides a new lens through which to reappraise the contributions of many other architects including Le Corbusier Frank Lloyd Wright Alvar Aalto Eliel Saarinen Bernard Rudofsky Hans Scharoun Leon Krier Fumihiko Maki Charles Correa and Team 10 In doing so the author identifies common themes that form an unexpected bridgehead between the urban and architectural approaches of Antiquity the Middle Ages Renaissance and 20th century The book explores buildings from across the globe including lesser known projects such as Wright's unbuilt house in Italy or Saarinen's master plan for Cranbrook Academy as well as more recent projects by Niels Torp Behnisch Architekten Sou Fujimoto Peter Barber and WOHA It concludes with practical case studies of residential health education and workplace projects from different countries fulsomely illustrated with many drawings and photographs These show how architectural design viewed through an urban lens provides a conceptual framework for breaking down the scale of large buildings and integrating them with their context And crucially these also show a very accessible way of explaining evolving designs to the intended users and eliciting their participation in the design process The book offers a compelling approach to the design of projects at all scales within an ecological perspective the sense that big and small cities and buildings must be approached holistically if we are to reverse the degradation and depletion of our habitat both natural and man made In Front of The Big House Bobby L Dennis, Ser Seshab Heter -C.-M. Boxley, 2025-05-05 Step Into the Shadows Where Power and History Collide In Front of The Big House

You Cannot Erase History takes readers on a profound journey into the heart of monumental institutions those imposing structures that silently govern our lives and narratives This compelling exploration reveals the layers of meaning behind the facades of power shedding light on the stories often left untold From the grandeur of architecture to the voices echoing from its steps the book unpacks how these iconic Big Houses embody more than just stone and mortar Discover the intersection of justice race and gender as personal accounts breathe life into the imposing walls confronting the legacies of colonialism and social divides that linger within these spaces Each chapter unravels a new dimension from the socio political implications of public protest to the subtle ways power is maintained through surveillance and control In Front of The Big House doesn't simply recount history it challenges readers to reconsider the narratives that have been constructed and who benefits from them Through riveting case studies comparative global perspectives and deeply human stories it pushes the conversation beyond the physical buildings and into the emotional landscapes shaped by fear hope and resistance Whether you are drawn to architecture social justice or the untold stories of those who stand before these monumental institutions this book offers an eye opening perspective that insists history's imprint cannot be erased It calls for reflection understanding and a reimagining of the spaces that define authority in our world
