Maximum Movies—Pulp Fictions Peter Stanfield, 2011-07-15 In the words of Richard Maltby Maximum Movies Pulp Fictions describes two improbably imbricated worlds and the piece of cultural history their intersections provoked One of these worlds comprises a clutch of noisy garish pulp movies Kiss Me Deadly Shock Corridor Fixed Bayonets I Walked with a Zombie The Lineup Terror in a Texas Town Ride Lonesome pumped out for the grind houses at the end of the urban exhibition chain by the studios B divisions and fly by night independents The other is occupied by critics intellectuals cinephiles and filmmakers such as Jean Luc Godard Manny Farber and Lawrence Alloway who championed the cause of these movies and incited the cultural guardians of the day by attacking a rigorously policed canon of tasteful rarified and ossified art objects Against the legitimate and in defense of the illegitimate in an insolent and unruly manner they agitated for the recognition of lurid sensational crime stories war pictures fast paced Westerns thrillers and gangster melodramas were claimed as examples of the true the real and the authentic in contemporary culture the foundation upon which modern film studies sits the early 1830s southern frontier humor also known as the humor of the Old Southwest has had enduring appeal The onset of the new millennium precipitated an impressive rejuvenation of scholarly interest Beyond Southern Frontier Humor Prospects and Possibilities represents the next step in this revival providing a series of essays with fresh perspectives and contexts First the book shows the importance of Henry Junius Nott a writer virtually unknown and forgotten who mined many of the principal subjects themes tropes and character types associated with southern frontier humor followed by an essay addressing how this humor genre and its ideological impact helped to stimulate a national cultural revolution Several essays focus on the genre s legacy to the post Civil War era exploring intersections between southern frontier humor and southern local color writers Joel Chandler Harris Charles W Chesnutt and Sherwood Bonner Mark Twain s African American dialect piece A True Story though employing some of the conventions of southern frontier humor is reexamined as a transitional text showing his shift to broader concerns particularly in race portraiture Essays also examine the evolution of the trickster from the Jack Tales to Hooper s Simon Suggs to similar mountebanks in novels of John Kennedy Toole Mark Childress and Clyde Edgerton and transnational contexts the latter exploring parallels between southern frontier humor and the Jamaican Anansi tales Finally the genre is situated contextually using contemporary critical discourses which are applied to G W Harris s Sut Lovingood and to various frontier hunting stories

The Censor's Library Nicole Moore,2012 An absorbing expos of the books we couldn t read didn t read didn t know about and the reasons why When Nicole Moore discovered the secret censor s library in the National Archives 793 boxes of books prohibited from the 1920s to the 1980s so began a journey that resulted in this the first comprehensive examination of Australian book censorship For much of the twentieth century Australia banned more books and more serious books than most other English speaking or Western countries from the Kama Sutra through to Huxley s Brave New World and Joyce s Ulysses Federal publications censorship was a largely secret affair and deliberately kept from the knowledge of the Australian public until the scandals and protests of late last century Censorship continues to attract heated debate from the Henson affair to the national internet feed Combining rigorous scholarship with the narrative tension of a thriller The Censors Library is a provocative account of this scandalous history Book jacket

Engineering Eden Jordan Fisher Smith,2016-06-07 The fascinating story of a trial that opened a window onto the century long battle to control nature in the national parks When twenty five year old Harry Walker was killed by a bear in Yellowstone Park in 1972 the civil trial prompted by his death became a proxy for bigger questions about American wilderness management that had been boiling for a century At immediate issue was whether the Park Service should have done more to keep bears away from humans but what was revealed as the trial unfolded was just how fruitless our efforts to regulate nature in the parks had always been The proceedings drew to the witness stand some of the most important figures in twentieth century wilderness management including the eminent zoologist A Starker Leopold who had produced a landmark conservationist document in the 1950s and all American twin researchers John and Frank Craighead who ran groundbreaking bear studies at Yellowstone Their testimony would help decide whether the government owed the Walker family restitution for Harry's death but it would also illuminate decades of patchwork efforts to preserve an idea of nature that had never existed in the first place In this remarkable excavation of American environmental history nature writer and former park ranger Jordan Fisher Smith uses Harry Walker's story to tell the larger narrative of the futile sometimes fatal attempts to remake wilderness in the name of preserving it Tracing a course from the founding of the national parks through the tangled twentieth century growth of the conservationist movement Smith gives the lie to the portrayal of national parks as Edenic wonderlands unspoiled until the arrival of Europeans and shows how virtually every attempt to manage nature in the parks has only created cascading effects that require even more management Moving across time and between Yellowstone Yosemite and Glacier national parks Engineering Eden shows how efforts at wilderness management have always been undone by one fundamental problem that the idea of what is wild dissolves as soon as we begin to examine it leaving us with little framework to say what wilderness should look like and which human interventions are acceptable in trying to preserve it In the tradition of John McPhee's The Control of Nature and Alan Burdick's Out of Eden Jordan Fisher Smith has produced a powerful work of popular science and environmental history grappling with critical issues that we have even now yet to resolve

Economic Investigations in Twentieth-Century Detective Fiction Yan Zi-Ling, 2016-03-09 In his study of Golden Age and hard boiled detective fiction from 1890 to 1950 Yan Zi Ling argues that these two subgenres can be distinguished not only by theme and style but by the way they structure knowledge value and productive labour Using the detective as a reference point and enactor of socially based interests Yan shows that Golden Age texts are distinguished by their conservatism and not only by their conservatism with the detectives actions serving to stabilize institutions with specific ideological aims In contrast the criminal investigations of the hard boiled detective who is poorly aligned with institutions and strong interest groups reveal the fragility of the status quo in the face of escalating cycles of violence Key to Yan's discussion are theories of exchange value and the gift the latter of which he suggests is more akin to detective work than is wage labour Analyzing texts by a wide range of authors that includes Arthur Conan Doyle Agatha Christie Dashiell Hammett Raymond Chandler Dorothy Sayers Raoul Whitfield George Harmon Coxe and Mickey Spillane Yan demonstrates that the detective's truth generating function most often characterized as a process of discovery rather than creation is in fact crucial to the institutional and class based interests that he or she serves
