The Black And White Media:

Black and White Media Karen Ross, 1996-01-23 This is a wide ranging account of the complex relations between Black communities and popular media analysing the ways in which Black communities have been portrayed in film and television and considering the contribution made by Black media professionals The Media in Black and White Everette Dennis, 2020-03-24 The media's treatment of and interaction with race like race itself is one of the most sensitive areas in American society Whether in its coverage and treatment of racial matters or racial connections inside media organizations themselves mass communication is deeply involved with race The Media in Black and White brings together twenty journalists and scholars of various racial backgrounds to grapple with a controversial issue the role that media industries from advertising to newspapers to the information superhighway play in helping Americans understand race Contributors include Ellis Cose a contributing editor for Newsweek Manning Marable chairman of Columbia University's African American Research Center William Wong a columnist for the Oakland Tribune Lisa Penalzo a University of Illinois professor and Melita Marie Garza a Chicago Tribune reporter Among the topics discussed are the quality of reporting on immigrant issues how sensationalism may be deepening the chasm of misunderstanding between the races how the coverage of America's drug wars has been marked by racism and whether politically correct language is interfering with coverage of vital issues and problems The contributors of The Media in Black and White hope to broaden the narrow vision of the United States and the world beyond with their contributions to the debate over race and the media The commentary found in this important work will be of interest to sociologists communication specialists and black studies scholars The Black and White Media Book John Twitchin, 1992 Black and White Media Karen Ross, 1995 The Black Image in the White Mind Robert M. Entman, Andrew Rojecki, 2024-05-31 Living in a segregated society white Americans learn about African Americans not through personal relationships but through the images the media show them The Black Image in the White Mind offers the most comprehensive look at the intricate racial patterns in the mass media and how they shape the ambivalent attitudes of Whites toward Blacks Using the media and especially television as barometers of race relations Robert Entman and Andrew Rojecki explore but then go beyond the treatment of African Americans on network and local news to incisively uncover the messages sent about race by the entertainment industry from prime time dramas and sitcoms to commercials and Hollywood movies While the authors find very little in the media that intentionally promotes racism they find even less that advances racial harmony They reveal instead a subtle pattern of images that while making room for Blacks implies a racial hierarchy with Whites on top and promotes a sense of difference and conflict Commercials for example feature plenty of Black characters But unlike Whites they rarely speak to or touch one another In prime time the few Blacks who escape sitcom buffoonery rarely enjoy informal friendly contact with White colleagues perhaps reinforcing social distance in real life Entman and Rojecki interweave such astute observations with candid interviews of White Americans that make clear how these images of racial difference insinuate themselves into Whites thinking Despite its disturbing readings of television and film the book s cogent analyses and proposed policy guidelines offer hope that America s powerful mediated racial separation can be successfully bridged Entman and Rojecki look at how television news focuses on black poverty and crime out of proportion to the material reality of black lives how black experts are only interviewed for black themed issues and how black politics are distorted in the news and conclude that while there are more images of African Americans on television now than there were years ago these images often don t reflect a commitment to racial comity or community building between the races Thoroughly researched and convincingly argued Publishers Weekly Drawing on their own research and that of a wide array of other scholars Entman and Rojecki present a great deal of provocative data showing a general tendency to devalue blacks or force them into stock categories Ben Yagoda New Leader Winner of the Frank Luther Mott Award for best book in Mass Communication and the Robert E Lane Award for best book in political psychology White Lies and Allies in
