Michael R. Botson, 2005 Annotation On July 12 1964 in a momentous decision the National Labor Relations Board decertified the racially segregated Independent Metal Workers Union as the collective bargaining agent at Houston s mammoth Hughes Tool Company The unanimous decision ending nearly fifty years of Jim Crow unionism at the company marked the first ruling in the Labor Board s history that racial discrimination by a union violated the National Labor Relations Act and was therefore illegal This ruling was for black workers the equivalent of the Brown v Board of Education decision by the Supreme Court in the area of education Botson traces the Jim Crow unionism of the company and the efforts of black union activists to bring civil rights issues into the workplace His analysis clearly demonstrates that without federal intervention workers at Hughes Tool would never have been able to overcome management s opposition to unionization and to racial equality Drawing on interviews with many of the principals as well as extensive mining of company and legal archives Botson s study captures a moment in time when a segment of Houston s working class seized the initiative and won economic and racial justice in their work place The Black Flag Tales - Sea
