Passing into the present Sinead Moynihan, 2013-07-19 This book is the first full length study of contemporary American fiction of passing. It takes as its point of departure the return of racial and gender passing in the 1990s in order to make claims about wider trends in contemporary American fiction. The book accounts for the return of tropes of passing in fiction by Phillip Roth Percival Everett Louise Erdrich Danzy Senna Jeffrey Eugenides and Paul Beatty by arguing meta critical and meta fictional tool. These writers are attracted to the trope of passing because passing narratives have always foregrounded the notion of textuality in relation to the illegibility of black subjects passing as white. The central argument of this book then is that contemporary narratives of passing are concerned with articulating and unpacking an analogy between passing and authorship. Aimed at students and researchers it promises to inaugurate dialogue on the relationships between passing postmodernism and authorship in contemporary American fiction.
