The Rhetorical Short Story William M. Purcell, 2009-10-01 In The Rhetorical Short Story Purcell examines over ninety short stories as rhetorical artifacts of nearly a century of American history The words of over seventy-five authors present a pastiche of American voices from the early days of the Great War to the ongoing conflict in Iraq and Afghanistan Each of the stories features a type of rhetorical depiction that enables its audience to connect vicariously with the experience presented by the author This account sees the transformation of the American perspective from an insular one which emphasizes the purpose-driven actions of strong individual agents to ones in which individuals are caught up in the inevitable consequences of an all-determining stream of events

Regendering the School Story Beverly Lyon Clark, 2004-08-02 In 18th through 20th century British and American literature school stories always play out the power relationships between adult and child They also play out gender relationships especially when females are excluded although most histories of the genre ignore the unusual novels that probe the gendering of school stories When the occasional man wrote about girls' schools as Charles Lamb and H G Wells did he sometimes empowered his female characters granting them freedoms that he had experienced at school Women who wrote about boys' schools often gave unusual emphasis to families and at times revealed the contradictions in the schoolyard code against telling tales or presented competing versions of masculinity such as the Christian gentleman versus the self-made man Sometimes these
