The Eco-Self in Early Modern English Literature Elizabeth Gruber, 2025-10-01 The Eco Self in Early Modern English Literature tracks an important shift in early modern conceptions of selfhood arguing that the period hosted the birth of a new subset of the human the eco self which melds a deeply introspective turn with an abiding sense of humans' embedment in the world A confluence of cultural factors produced the relevant changes Of paramount significance was the rapid spread of literacy in England and across Europe reading transformed the relationship between self and world retooled moral reasoning and even altered human anatomy This book pursues the salutary possibilities including the ecological benefits of this redesigned self by advancing fresh readings of texts by William Shakespeare Christopher Marlowe John Webster and Margaret Cavendish The eco self offers certain refinements to ecological theory by renewing appreciation for the rational deliberative functions that distinguish humans from other species

The General Biographical Dictionary Alexander Chalmers, 1815 Rethinking Wilderness and the Wild Robyn Bartel, Marty Branagan, Fiona Utley, Stephen Harris, 2020-10-29 Rethinking Wilderness and the Wild Conflict Conservation and Co existence examines the complexities surrounding the concept of wilderness Contemporary wilderness scholarship has tended to fall into two categories the so called fortress conservation and co existence schools of thought This book contending that this polarisation has led to a silencing and concealment of alternative perspectives and lines of enquiry extends beyond these confines and in particular steers away from the dilemmas of paradise or paradox in order to advance an intellectual and policy agenda of plurality and diversity rather than of prescription and definition Drawing on case studies from Australia Aotearoa New Zealand the United States and Iceland and explorations of embodied experience creative practice philosophy and First Nations land management approaches the assembled chapters examine wilderness ideals conflicts and human nature dualities afresh and examine co existence and conservation in the Anthropocene in diverse ontological and multidisciplinary ways By demonstrating a strong commitment to respecting the knowledge and perspectives of Indigenous peoples this work delivers a more nuanced ethical and decolonising approach to issues arising from relationships with wilderness Such a collection is immediately appropriate given the political challenges and social complexities of our time and the mounting threats to life across the globe The abiding and uniting logic of the book is to offer a unique and innovative contribution to engender transformations of wilderness scholarship activism and conservation policy This text refutes the inherent privileging and exclusionary tactics of dominant modes of enquiry that too often serve to silence non human and contrary positions It reveals a multi faceted and contingent wilderness alive with agency diversity and possibility This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of conservation environmental and natural resource management Indigenous studies and environmental policy and planning It will also be of interest to practitioners policymakers and NGOs involved in conservation protected environments and environmental governance The Lessons of Nature in Mythology Rachel S. McCoppin, 2015-10-29 This examination of myths from around the world focuses on the role nature plays within mythology Creation myths from myriad cultures recognized that life arose from natural elements inextricably connecting human life to the natural world Nature as portrayed in myth is unpredictable and destructive but also redemptive providing solace and wisdom Mythology relates the human life cycle to the seasons with spring summer fall and winter as metaphors for birth adulthood old age and death The author identifies divinities who were direct representations of natural phenomena The transition of mythic representations from the Paleolithic to Neolithic period is discussed

Nineteenth-century Theories of Art Joshua Charles Taylor, 1987 This unique and extraordinarily rich collection of writings offers a thematic approach to understanding the various theories of art that illumined the direction of nineteenth century artists as diverse as Tommaso Minardi and Georges Seurat It is significant that during the nineteenth century most artists felt compelled to found their artistic practice on a consciously established premise Natural Science, 1894 History of the Inductive Sciences William Whewell, 2025-08-29 Reprint of the original first published in 1859 The Antigonos publishing house specialises in the publication of reprints of historical books We make sure that these works are made available to the public in good condition in order to preserve their cultural heritage History of the inductive sciences
