The Suitors in the Odyssey Martin Steinrück, 2008 The suitors in the Odyssey strikingly resemble a very specific audience of iambic poets such as Archilochus or Semonides Justifying these young men's deaths the Odyssey engages in a polemic intertext with Archilochus attacks against the threatening epic discourse This study is concerned with reading both the traces of this often hidden quarrel in the Odyssey and the answers we can find within the iambic texts Although iambus and epos have been connected in earlier studies the direct portrait of the iambic audience within the Odyssey has not been examined This book allows the reader to see these issues in the larger social context

Jesus in lines lifted almost verbatim from Homer's epics Jesus and his relevance to her audience is thus presented within the confines of style and vocabulary offered by the Iliad and Odyssey The lines picked to convey her theology are often clustered around key Homeric motifs or type scenes such as warfare homecoming feast reconciliation hospitality Jesus waging war against all evil and Hades in particular runs throughout this Homeric and simultaneously biblical epic The story starts in the Old Testament which is conceived as a divine counsel on Mt Olympus where a plan to save sinful humanity is presented The narrative then follows the biographic lines of the canonical gospels with John's Gospel holding pride of place in the way she renders and interprets the Jesus story The story told suspends both the geography and time of Jesus Eudocia preaches the story she tells She emerges in this poem as one of the most if not the most prolific female theologian and preacher in the first Christian centuries
