and romance disasters and coincidences Padmarag written in Bengali 1924 and translated here for the first time describes a female founded and female administered community set in contemporary Bengal where women from diverse regions and ethnicities with unhappy histories of patriarchal oppression better their lot by concrete social action Both Sultana s Dream and Padmarag discuss in playful fascinating and intelligent ways the question of women s education The Avant-Garde and the Margin Sanja Bahun-Radunovic, V.G. Julie Rajan, 2009-03-26 The collection of essays The Avant garde and the Margin New Territories of the Modernist Avant garde refigures the critical and historical picture of the modernist avant garde by introducing a variety of less commonly discussed geo artistic sites and dynamics The contributors explore the multifaceted relations established between the avant garde centers France Germany England and others and their counterparts in the cultural periphery Greece India Japan Poland Quebec Romania and the former Yugoslavia as well as the unique artistic and literary dialogues which these encounters engendered The primary concern of the anthology is the set of relations established between the center and the margin the redefinition of which was pivotal for the formulation of the modernist avant garde aesthetic project itself While enriching the kaleidoscopic picture of modernism the essays in this collection also offer new methodological approaches to this polychrome cultural image In this way the collection avoids the pitfalls of both the traditional diffusionist Eurocentric model of the world and the more recent over relativization of the positions of the margin and the center In their stead the anthology proposes a hermeneutics of encounter that is simultaneously spatial and historical aware of its limits but convinced of its own necessity Old Futures Alexis Lothian, 2018-09-25 Finalist 2019 Locus Award for Nonfiction presented by the Locus Science Fiction Foundation Traverses the history of imagined futures from the 1890s to the 2010s interweaving speculative visions of gender race and sexuality from literature film and digital media Old Futures explores the social political and cultural forces feminists queer people and people of color invoke when they dream up alternative futures as a way to imagine transforming the present Lothian shows how queer possibilities emerge when we practice the art of speculation of imagining things otherwise than they are and creating stories from that impulse Queer theory offers creative ways to think about time breaking with straight and narrow paths toward the future laid out for the reproductive family the law abiding citizen and the believer in markets Yet so far it has rarely considered the possibility that instead of a queer present reshaping the ways we relate to past and future the futures imagined in the past can lead us to queer the present Narratives of possible futures provide frameworks through which we understand our present but the discourse of the future has never been a singular one Imagined futures have often been central to the creation and maintenance of imperial domination and technological modernity Old Futures offers a counterhistory of works that have sought with varying degrees of success to speculate otherwise Examining speculative texts from the 1890s to the 2010s from Samuel R Delany to Sense8 Lothian considers the ways in which early feminist utopias and dystopias Afrofuturist fiction and queer science fiction media have insisted that the future can and must deviate from dominant narratives of global annihilation or highly restrictive hopes for redemption Each chapter chronicles some of the means by which the production and destruction of futures both real and imagined takes place through eugenics utopia empire fascism dystopia race capitalism femininity masculinity and many kinds of queerness reproduction and sex Gathering stories of and by populations who have been marked as futureless or left out by dominant imaginaries Lothian offers new insights into what we can learn from efforts to imaginatively redistribute the future Inscribing South Asian Muslim Women Tahera Aftab, 2008 Offers an annotated source for the study of the public and private lives of South Asian Muslim women
