Sundays Dust:

The Black Sunday Dust Blizzard Bruce Berglund, 2025-08-22 The 1930s were a tough time The Great Depression left many people jobless and penniless Dust storms and drought led to failed crops Livestock died People thought things couldn't get much worse Then on April 14 1935 the sky turned black For hours an enormous dust blizzard blanketed the country in darkness Now readers can step back in time to learn about what led up to this terrifying storm how the tragic event unfolded and the ways in which one dark day changed America forever

Russell Lee Mary Jane Appel, 2020-11-17 Russell Lee a contemporary of Walker Evans and Dorothea Lange now emerges from the shadows as one of the most influential documentary photographers in American history The most prolific photographer of the Great Depression Russell Lee has never been canonized for his iconic images With this compulsively readable and definitive biography historian and archivist Mary Jane Appel finally uncovers Lee's rebellious life tracing his journey from blue blood beginnings to intrepid years of activism and pioneering creativity through the incredible body of work he left behind Born in the quintessential turn of the century small town of Ottawa Illinois in 1903 Lee grew up in a wealthy family riddled with tragedy He trained in college to become a chemical engineer but was quickly drawn to Greenwich Village where he developed an interest in social change and the arts In 1935 the charismatic bohemian picked up a camera and a year later walked into the office of Roy Stryker head of the Historical Section of the Resettlement Administration later renamed the Farm Security Administration FSA setting in motion a new life trajectory The Historical Section aimed to capture rural poverty and the New Deal programs designed to abolish it But Stryker imagined a much broader pictorial sourcebook for America and no one on his legendary team including Dorothea Lange Walker Evans and Gordon Parks among others would be more dedicated to reaching this goal than Russell Lee As Appel demonstrates Stryker and Lee developed a fascinating symbiotic relationship that resulted in a massive and complex breadth of work Living out of his car from the fall of 1936 to mid 1942 Lee crisscrossed America's back roads more than any photographer of his era During this time he shot 19 000 negatives that were captioned and printed more than twice that of any other FSA photographer He captured arresting images of sweeping dust storms and devastating floods and chronicled the World War II home front and the last gasp of a small town America that was inexorably vanishing all the while focusing prophetically on issues like segregation and climate change decades before they became national concerns Meticulously weaving previously unseen letters and diaries Appel brilliantly reveals why Lee's profile has remained obscured while his contemporaries became broadly celebrated With more than 100 images spread throughout Russell Lee speaks not only to the complexity of a pioneering documentary photographer's work but to a seminal American moment captured viscerally like never before

This Land that I Love John Shaw, 2013-11-05 February 1940 After a decade of worldwide depression World War II had begun in Europe and Asia With Germany on the march and Japan at war with China the global crisis was in a crescendo America's top songwriter Irving Berlin had captured the nation's mood a little more than a year before with his patriotic hymn God Bless America Woody Guthrie was having none of it Near starving and penniless he was traveling from Texas to New York to make a new start As he eked his way across the country by bus and by thumb he couldn't avoid Berlin's song Some people say that it was when he was freezing by the side of the road in a Pennsylvania snowstorm that he conceived of a rebuttal It would encompass the dark realities of the Dust Bowl and Great Depression and it would begin with the lines This land is your land this land is my land In This Land That I Love John Shaw writes the dual biography of these beloved American songs Examining the lives of their authors he finds that Guthrie and Berlin had more in common than either could have guessed Though Guthrie's image was defined by train hopping Irving Berlin had also risen from homelessness having worked his way up from the streets of New York At the same time This Land That I Love sheds new light on our patriotic musical heritage from Yankee Doodle and The Star Spangled Banner to Martin Luther King's recitation from My Country 'Tis of Thee on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial in August 1963 Delving into the deeper history of war songs minstrelsy ragtime country music folk music and African American spirituals Shaw unearths a rich vein of half forgotten musical traditions With the aid of archival research he uncovers new details about the songs including a never before printed verse for This Land Is Your Land The result is a fascinating narrative that refracts and re-envisions America's tumultuous history through the prism of two unforgettable anthems Good Words and Sunday Magazine, 1860 The Churchman's Monthly Penny
