Building a Better Boat Donald J. Feltmate,2025-09-19 During the first half of the twentieth century economic recession a lack of government support and the incursion of large draggers on coastal fishing grounds meant many inshore fishing communities were facing poverty and starvation The formation of fishers cooperatives started a movement toward recovery and the introduction of the internal combustion engine along with the development of a new medium sized fishing vessel equipped with mechanical haulers meant groundfishers who had previously employed handlines from small boats with a single hook could now haul multiple trawl lines from a single vessel The development of the government approved Cape Island type longliner was perhaps one the most significant achievements in the survival of Nova Scotia s struggling inshore fishery Sadly this important history has gone largely unrecorded With the help of in depth archival research and more than thirty little known historical photographs Building a Better Boat chronicles the history of the recovery of the shore fishery and the development of a new fishing craft known as wooden Cape Island type longliners It is a story that needs to be told if for no other reason than to honour the brave fishing families who persevered through poverty and hunger and who despite all odds developed a vessel that would help them secure their own futures and that of future generations
