In Other Los Angeleses Meiling Cheng, 2002-03-20 Performance art and Los Angeles two subjects spectacularly resistant to definitions illuminate each other in this searching study by Meiling Cheng A marginal artistic pursuit by choice as well as necessity performance art has flourished in and about multicentric Los Angeles for nearly four decades finding its own centers of activity moving and changing as the margins have reconstituted themselves The notion of multicentricity serves somewhat paradoxically as the unifying motif in Cheng's imaginative views of center and periphery self and other and mainstream and marginal cultures She analyzes individual artists and performances in detail bringing her own center gracefully and unmistakably into contact with all those others Without suggesting that her approach is definitive she offers a way of thinking and talking coherently about particularly elusive ephemeral artwork Cheng describes performance art as an intermedia visual art form that uses theatrical elements in presentation Performance art which uses the living body as its central medium occurs only here and only now Because it is intentionally volatile highly adaptable and often site specific with emphasis on audience interaction context is inseparable from the work itself When Cheng writes about Suzanne Lacy or Tim Miller Johanna Went or Oguri and Renzoku Sacred Naked Nature Girls or osseus labyrinth she is conscious of her role in extending their creative expression As members of the virtual audience readers and viewers of other documentation concerning performance art are arrayed outside the center represented by a given artist and the circle represented by the immediate witnesses to a performance but all may entertain what Cheng calls a conceptual ownership of the work A person who reads about a performance she says may feel more affected by this virtual encounter than a person who has seen it live and may reimagine it as a prosthetic performance Cheng's writing draws us into the many centers where a vibrant contemporary art phenomenon and a fascinating urban environment interact Published in association with the Southern California Studies Center at the University of Southern California Los Angeles Reyner Banham, 2009-03-05 Originally published London Allen Lane 1971 The DIY Movement in Art, Music and Publishing Sarah Lowndes, 2016-04-20 This book considers the history of Do It Yourself art music and publishing demonstrating how DIY strategies have transitioned from being marginal to emergent to embedded Through secondary research observation and 30 original interviews each chapter analyses one of 15 creative cities San Francisco Los Angeles Dusseldorf New York London Manchester Cologne Washington DC Detroit Berlin Glasgow Olympia Washington Portland Oregon Moscow and Istanbul and assesses the contemporary situation in each in the post subcultural era of digital and internet technologies The book challenges existing subcultural histories by examining less well known scenes as well as exploring DIY best practices to trace a template of best approaches for sustainable independent locally owned creative enterprises Art Now Gallery Guide, 1998-11 Pop L.A.
