One Place after Another Miwon Kwon, 2004-02-27 A critical history of site specific art since the late 1960s Site specific art emerged in the late 1960s in reaction to the growing commodification of art and the prevailing ideals of art's autonomy and universality Throughout the 1970s and 1980s as site specific art intersected with land art process art performance art conceptual art installation art institutional critique community based art and public art its creators insisted on the inseparability of the work and its context In recent years however the presumption of unrepeatability and immobility encapsulated in Richard Serra's famous dictum to remove the work is to destroy the work is being challenged by new models of site specificity and changes in institutional and market forces One Place after Another offers a critical history of site specific art since the late 1960s and a theoretical framework for examining the rhetoric of aesthetic vanguardism and political progressivism associated with its many permutations Informed by urban theory postmodernist criticism in art and architecture and debates concerning identity politics and the public sphere the book addresses the siting of art as more than an artistic problem It examines site specificity as a complex cipher of the unstable relationship between location and identity in the era of late capitalism The book addresses the work of among others John Ahearn Mark Dion Andrea Fraser Donald Judd Renee Green Suzanne Lacy Inigo Manglano Ovalle Richard Serra Mierle Laderman Ukeles and Fred Wilson

The Perpetuation of Site-Specific Installation Artworks in Museums Tatja Scholte, 2025-10-01 Site specific installations are created for specific locations and are usually intended as temporary artworks The Perpetuation of Site Specific Installation Artworks in Museums Staging Contemporary Art shows that these artworks consist of more than a singular manifestation and that their lifespan is often extended In this book Tatja Scholte offers an in depth account of the artistic production of the last forty years With a wealth of case studies the author illuminates the diversity of site specific art in both form and content as well as in the conservation strategies applied A conceptual framework is provided for scholars and museum professionals to better understand how site specific installations gain new meanings during successive stages of their biographies and may become agents for change in professional routines
