Barry, 2000 Four days before his death on June 5th 1801 Robert Richard Randall signed a remarkable will which provided that his mansion and 21 acre farm be used to maintain and support aged decrepit and worn out sailors However as the 1820 s approached and land values began to soar the legislature was asked to modify the Randall will so that Sailor s Snug Harbor could be built somewhere other than the Randall farm In May 1831 a 130 acre farm overlooking Upper New York Bay and the Kill van Kull was purchased on Staten Island for 10 000 Year by year buildings were added until there were 55 major structures The Harbor produced its own electricity and steam grew its own food and had its own water supply a church cemetery hospital theater library At the start of the twentieth century more than 1 000 old sailors were in residence Beginning in 1950 as part of a modernization and improvement plan two dozen buildings on the Staten Island property were bulldozed Next on the destruction list were the Sailors Snug Harbor dormitories which would be replaced by a 120 room modern infirmary insisted upon by the State Department of Health At this point the city s new Landmarks Preservation Commission stepped in On October 14 1965 at its first designation hearing the Commission landmarked and saved the old dormitories Property for a new institution for the old sailors was found in Sea Level North Carolina down the road from a hospital just taken over by Duke University Medical Center Citing the proximity of Duke s hospital to the new Harbor site New York s surrogate court approved relocation Mayor John Lindsay in June 1973 announced a plan to turn the Sailors Snug Harbor buildings into a national showplace of culture and education Over the years the Sailors Snug Harbor has housed various cultural institutions including the Newhouse Center for Contemporary Arts the Staten Island Botanical Gardens and the Staten Island Children s Museum Today Snug Harbor is the most important cultural asset on Staten Island and one of the fastest growing arts centers in the city Archaeology and Preservation of Gendered Landscapes Sherene Baugher, Suzanne M. Spencer-Wood, 2010-03-11 Historical archaeology of landscapes initially followed the pattern of Classical Archaeology by studying elite men s gardens Over time particularly in North America the field has expanded to cover larger settlement areas but still often with ungendered and elite focus The editors of this volume seek to fill this important gap in the literature by presenting studies of gendered power dynamics and their effect on minority groups in North America Case studies presented include communities of Native Americans African Americans multi ethnic groups religious communities and industrial communities Just as the research focus has previously neglected the groups presented here so too has funding to preserve important archaeological sites As the contributors to this important volume present a new framework for understanding the archaeology of religious and social minority groups they also demonstrate the importance of preserving the cultural landscapes particularly of minority groups from destruction by the modern dominant culture A full and complete picture of cultural preservation has to include all of the groups that interacted form it
