The Speed of Change Jan-Bart Gewald,Sabine Luning,Klaas van Walraven,2009-07-31 In the early 1900s the motor vehicle car bus lorry or motor cycle was introduced in sub Saharan Africa Initially the plaything and symbol of colonial domination the motor vehicle transformed the economic and social life of the continent Indeed the motor vehicle is arguably the single most important factor for change in Africa in the twentieth century A factor for change that thus far has been neglected in research and literature Yet its impact extends across the totality of human existence from ecological devastation to economic advancement from cultural transformation to political change through to a myriad of other themes This edited volume of eleven contributions by historians anthropologists and social and political scientists explores aspects of the social history and anthropology of the motor vehicle in Africa Auto Motor Journal Stanley Spooner,1908 Man and the Social Sciences (Routledge Revivals) William Alexander

Robson,2014-02-04 One of the most significant movements in the world of learning in the twentieth century was the rise and development of the social sciences However few attempts have been made to see how far social scientists have travelled on the road to studying and understanding human society First published in 1972 the lectures reprinted in this book aim to trace the development of the social sciences during the twentieth century and to show the role of the London School of Economics and Political Science in this development since it was founded in 1895 Each of the very distinguished lecturers was asked to take the larger view to be critical where necessary to treat his subject in the context of the world of learning The result is a survey of exceptional interest in which the growth of the social sciences is analysed from a number of contrasting viewpoints each of which ranges widely and often with provocative brilliance over themes that are of general concern The introduction by Professor W A Robson which was not part of the original lecture series is in itself a critical assessment of the field that will be read with close attention The Urban Political Economy and Ecology of

Automobility Alan Walks,2014-07-25 Just how resilient are our urban societies to social energy environmental and or financial shocks and how does this vary among cities and nations Can our cities be made more sustainable and can environmental economic and social collapse be staved off through changes in urban form and travel behaviour How might rising indebtedness and the recent series of financial crises be related to automobile dependence and patterns of urban automobile use To what extent does the system and economy of automobility factor in the production of urban socio spatial inequalities and how might these inequalities in mobility be understood and measured What can we learn from the politics of mobility and social movements within cities What is the role of automobility and auto dependence in differentiating groups both within cities and rural areas and among transnational migrants moving across international borders These are just some of the questions this book addresses This volume provides a holistic and reflexive account of the role played by automobility in producing reproducing and differentiating social economic and political life in the contemporary city as well as the role played by the city in producing and reproducing auto mobile inequalities The first section titled Driving Vulnerability deals with issues of global importance related to economic social financial and environmental sustainability and resilience and socialization The second section Driving Inequality is concerned with understanding the role played by automobility in producing urban socio spatial inequalities including those rooted in accessibility to work migration status and ethnic concentration and new measures of mobility based inequality derived from the concept of effective speed The third section titled Driving Politics explores the politics of mobility in particular places with an eye to demonstrating both the relevance of the politics of mobility for influencing and reinforcing actually existing neoliberalisms and the kinds of politics that might allow for reform or restructuring of the auto mobile city into one that is more socially politically and environmentally just In the conclusion to the book Walks draws on the findings of the other chapters to comment on the relationship between automobility neoliberalism and citizenship and to lay out strategies for dealing with the urban car system
